

AN ADVERTISING MESSENGER--THE WORLD POSTAL CARD.

EXTRA. 21 DEAD

Appalling Result of the Battle at Homestead.

More Than 60 Persons Seriously Injured.

The Captured Pinkertons En Route to This City.

More Trouble Is Expected and Mill Hands Are Prepared.

New York Pinkerton Agency Enlisting Men for Homestead.

Preparing for the Funerals of Slaughtered Mill Hands.

The mill hands locked out of the Carnegie Works at Homestead are resting on their arms today. Since the surrender and removal to Pittsburgh of the Pinkerton detectives, described in the despatches which follow, matters have been comparatively quiet in the town. But it is conceded on all sides that another attempt on the part of the Carnegie people to place Pinkerton guards in their works will be a signal for the renewal of hostilities, and as the mill hands are better armed to-day than they were yesterday such an attempt would be certain to result disastrously to the invading forces.

Killed and seriously injured in yesterday's battle, so far as can be learned to-day, number 30, at least. This is a partial, and at the same time as complete a list as can be obtained:

Two Pinkerton men, shot and fell overboard. Two unknown Hungarians. The Pinkerton men say that at least seven of their men were killed, two more than are accounted for in this list. It is thought likely that the bodies of the two are lying at the bottom of the Monongahela River.

THE WOUNDED. Kearney, Anthony, Homestead. Reister, G. W., Homestead Steel Works, shot in hip. Loughlin, Lawrence, Homestead Steel Works, thigh broken. McCurry, Joseph, watchman on Little Bill, shot in groin. Suttler, Andrew, Homestead iron-worker, shot in leg. Zeid, Joseph, Homestead; laborer. Wallace, William, Homestead; laborer. Murray, Michael, Homestead; laborer; shot in right knee. Johnston, William, Homestead; shot in hip. O'Donnell, Hugh, Homestead; shot in hand. McCarry, John, Homestead; shot in groin. Trev, William, Homestead; laborer. Wells, Russell, Pinkerton, shot in leg. Hughes, Harry, Homestead, shot in chest. Lester, David, Pinkerton. Capt. Haney, Chief of Pinkertons. Helm, Fred H., Chief of Detectives. Schuyler, Andrew, Homestead; shot through ear. Kane, John, Homestead; shot in leg. Hoffman, J. G., detective. Siegler, Daniel, detective, Philadelphia. Gerhardt, Fred, detective, New York. Bilster, Ed, detective, Chicago. Anthony, Fred, detective, Chicago. Murphy, J. A., detective, Chicago. Meffert, J. E., detective, Chicago. Copert, C., detective, Brooklyn. Lutz, John, detective, New York. Cryan, Fred, detective, Philadelphia. Prugh, John, detective, Chicago. Ligler, Louis, detective, Chicago. Steider, William, detective, Philadelphia. Mallory, Joseph, detective, Chicago. Johnson, W. H., detective, Chicago. McGuire, Patrick, detective, New York. Wright, George, detective, New York. Smith, John, detective, Philadelphia. Fay, William, Homestead, Mill hand; wounded in left breast.

Reiter, George, Homestead, mill hand; bullet penetrated thigh. Husak, Henry, Homestead, laborer; shot in shoulder. Cudis, Andrew, Homestead, laborer; bullet in arm and thigh. Doenka, Charles, Homestead, laborer; shot in thigh.

When, shortly after midnight, the volunteer deputy sheriffs of the Amalgamated Association assisted the Pinkertons imprisoned in the Rink Opera-house to depart from there it was the signal for a relapse into quiet, but it was an armed bivouac, and the workmen have not ceased one whit their alertness and determination.

The fight ceased for the time because there was nobody left to fight. The Pinkertons were permitted to return to Pittsburgh, and about thirty of them were taken directly to the hospitals, there to have their wounds dressed.

Palatka, Antonio, Homestead, laborer; shot in leg. Herah, John, Homestead, laborer; shot in leg. Mplanki, Charles, Homestead; shot in arm. Emmett, L., New York, detective; shot in body with buckshot. Howard, Edward, Chicago, detective; shot in nose and right shoulder. May, Joseph, Chicago, detective; shot in right leg. Wall, George, Chicago, detective; shot twice in right arm. Goodrich, Peter, Chicago, detective; shot in right hand. Wendt, William, Chicago, detective; shot in left shoulder. March, Fred, Chicago, detective; shot in head. Tombs, Lewis, Chicago, detective; shot in left leg. Bolstein, Frank, Chicago, detective; shot in right leg. Mangin, Daniel, Brooklyn, detective; shot in right leg. O'Neill, James S., Chicago, detective; shot in head. Bernstein, J. cob, Chicago, detective; shot in head.

quiet at Homestead this morning. The locked-out workmen of the Carnegie mills are resting, but with eyes alert, for the air is full of rumors of the approach of Sheriff's officers, armed posses, or militia.

The millmen wear anxious but determined faces. They offer up a prayer for peace, while their fingers nervously clutch pistol or gun, and their eyes wander furtively, searching, from point to point.

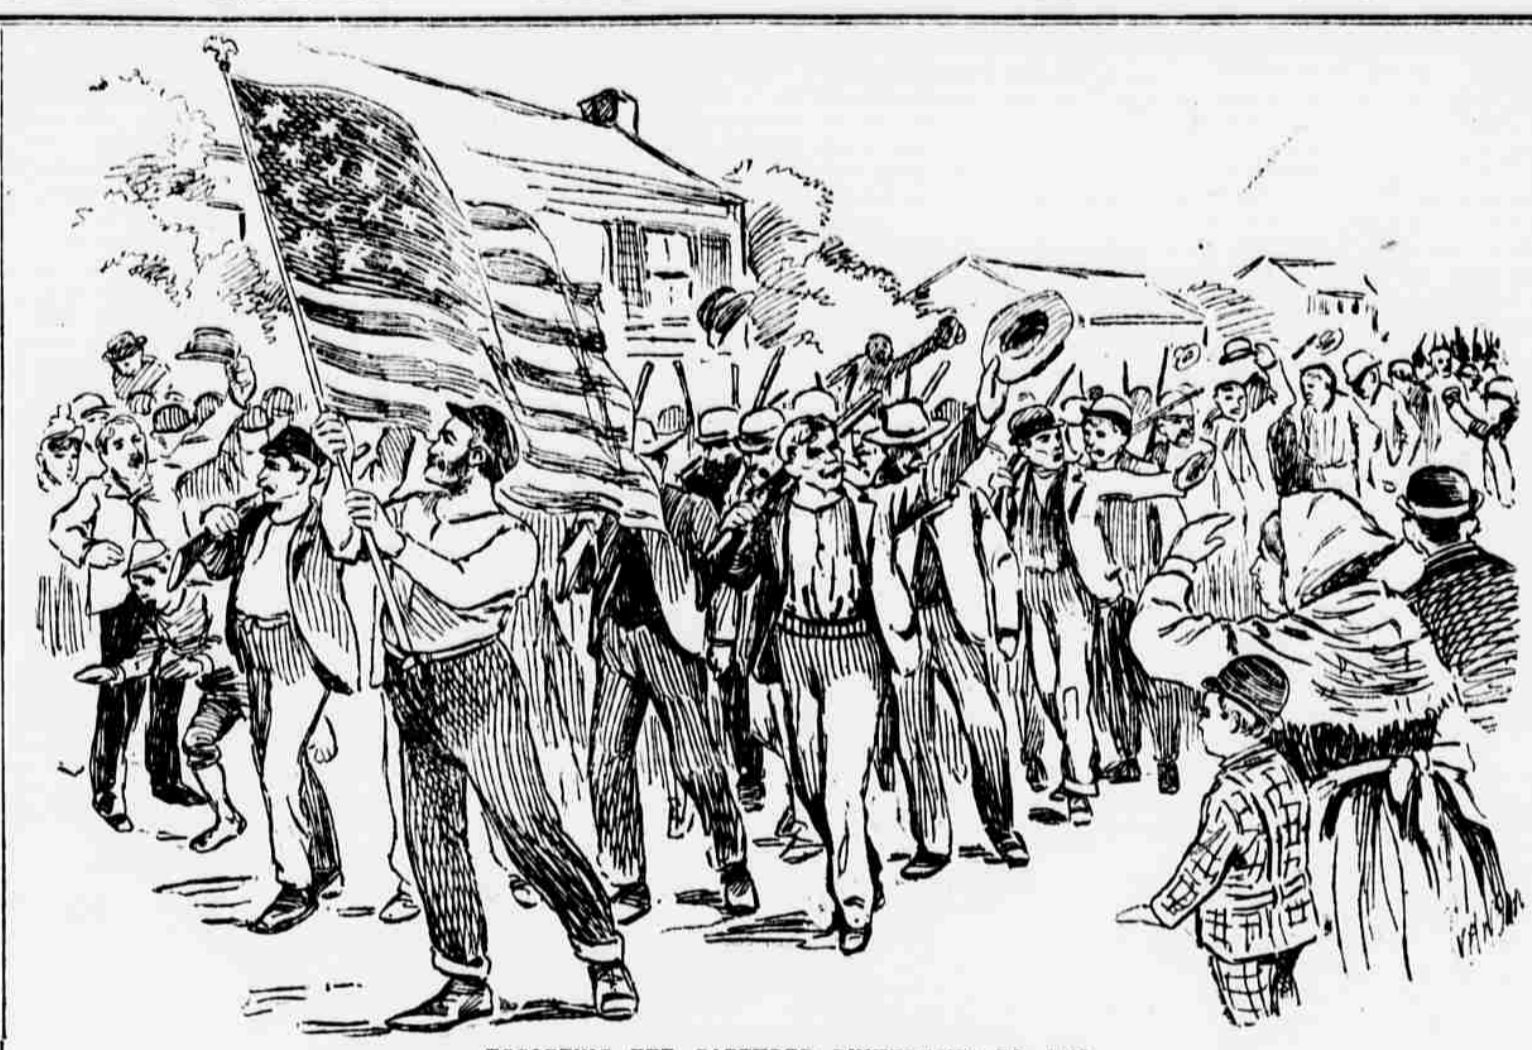

They say that they expect no further trouble. They scout the idea that Sheriff McCleary was in earnest when he issued last night's call to "All good citizens" to appear at his office at 9 o'clock this morning, which is 10 o'clock New York time, armed and equipped with sustenance. At 9 o'clock a report was received that the Little Bill was coming up the river again, and then another that there was a barge coming from Pittsburgh. The guard on the river bank was doubled, but many of the men slept in confidence that the company was too thoroughly thwarted to at once send more detectives to the scene.

The mill hands' leaders think it exceedingly improbable that the firm could get more men just now for guard duty. It is certain that many homes in Homestead are arsenals, for the men captured 500 rifles in the barges, and they know how to use them, too, now and will if other men are brought here. They do not themselves look upon this as a decisive contest and they expect other battles.

As the smoke clears away the mill men realize that this move to put the works in the care of Pinkerton detectives was contemplated and prepared for weeks ago, before there was the first breath of trouble, and this thought maddens the workers.

When, shortly after midnight, the volunteer deputy sheriffs of the Amalgamated Association assisted the Pinkertons imprisoned in the Rink Opera-house to depart from there it was the signal for a relapse into quiet, but it was an armed bivouac, and the workmen have not ceased one whit their alertness and determination.

The fight ceased for the time because there was nobody left to fight. The Pinkertons were permitted to return to Pittsburgh, and about thirty of them were taken directly to the hospitals, there to have their wounds dressed.

ESCORTING THE CAPTURED PINKERTONS TO JAIL.

Pinkertons had laid down their arms. An Evening World reporter succeeded in getting a word from two of them, but their names were not divulged. Said one of them: "I did not know that we were going as an army to invest Homestead. I supposed we were to go simply as watchmen. But we were on those barges and one could not get away. Bullets struck the barges and penetrated the shell-like houses or shelters, and those of us who did not get hit were lucky. I never passed through an experience so terrible in all my life, and I hope never to again."

MILL HANDS NEGOTIATING FOR FURTHER RESISTANCE. At 10 o'clock this morning the mill hands gathered in their fort of steel billets and reorganized for further resistance.

They have armed 240 of their men, each with a Winchester rifle, the arms taken from their Pinkerton captives last night before they left them depart for Pittsburgh.

The men are more determined than ever and declare that the end is not yet. "We are battling for our homes and our families; we will fight to the bitter end," said one of them as he handled his Winchester carefully.

This call to arms was the result of word from Pittsburgh that the office of Sheriff McCleary was surrounded by a body of citizens, come to volunteer in forming a posse to visit Homestead.

REPORTED RELEASE OF THE PINKERTONS. I. P. M.—A report has just reached here that Sheriff McCleary has released from custody the captured Pinkerton men who were taken to Pittsburgh. The report has caused intense ill feeling, and the act is regarded as a breach of faith.

When the men agreed not to kill the guards it was with the understanding that the detectives should be placed in jail until informants for murder could be sworn out against them.

refused yesterday at a greater risk of great loss of life than should have been taken, and in the end the endeavors of President Weibe and his associates prevailed sufficiently to bring about the surrender of 300 Pinkerton men, and prevented the slaughter that must have ensued."

The men are more determined than ever and declare that the end is not yet. "We are battling for our homes and our families; we will fight to the bitter end," said one of them as he handled his Winchester carefully.

This call to arms was the result of word from Pittsburgh that the office of Sheriff McCleary was surrounded by a body of citizens, come to volunteer in forming a posse to visit Homestead.

REPORTED RELEASE OF THE PINKERTONS. I. P. M.—A report has just reached here that Sheriff McCleary has released from custody the captured Pinkerton men who were taken to Pittsburgh. The report has caused intense ill feeling, and the act is regarded as a breach of faith.

When the men agreed not to kill the guards it was with the understanding that the detectives should be placed in jail until informants for murder could be sworn out against them.

When it was remembered that if the men appeared as witnesses the mill hands would themselves be liable to prosecution for riot, the excitement subsided somewhat.

When it was remembered that if the men appeared as witnesses the mill hands would themselves be liable to prosecution for riot, the excitement subsided somewhat.

place this afternoon at the Free Methodist Church, Rev. John B. Glass officiating. He was to have been married on Aug. 1 to Miss Mary Jones, a young English girl. The news of Wayne's awful death was almost a fatal blow to his fiancée. She fainted when she heard the news and was delirious for hours.

The funeral of Henry Shigel, who was shot through the heart by a stray bullet while standing some distance away as a witness of the battle, will occur at 1 o'clock to-morrow morning at St. Francis German Catholic Church. He was but nineteen years old.

Thomas Weidon, the man who shot himself by accident, will be buried from St. Mary's Catholic Church at 11 o'clock to-morrow. He leaves a helpless wife and four little children. The preparations for these solemn rites have put the workmen in a very dangerous frame of mind. They are subdued, but in a tremendous anger.

This call to arms was the result of word from Pittsburgh that the office of Sheriff McCleary was surrounded by a body of citizens, come to volunteer in forming a posse to visit Homestead.

REPORTED RELEASE OF THE PINKERTONS. I. P. M.—A report has just reached here that Sheriff McCleary has released from custody the captured Pinkerton men who were taken to Pittsburgh. The report has caused intense ill feeling, and the act is regarded as a breach of faith.

When the men agreed not to kill the guards it was with the understanding that the detectives should be placed in jail until informants for murder could be sworn out against them.

When it was remembered that if the men appeared as witnesses the mill hands would themselves be liable to prosecution for riot, the excitement subsided somewhat.

one of them protested so strongly that the swearing in officer said: "Are you too big a coward to go?" "No," replied the reporter, quietly, "but my services are particularly valuable to me and to my paper just at this exciting juncture. I'll go willingly if you will swear to Mr. Chris Magee, who was right here a moment ago."

This hit the Sheriff's officer hard. Mr. Magee is the leader of Western Pennsylvania Republicans and has been Sheriff McCleary's closest adviser in this trouble. The reporter was excused.

PITTSBURGH POLICE PRECAUTIONS. In accordance with an order issued by Superintendent of Police O'Mara, a double force of officers reported for duty at Central Station at 8 o'clock this morning. The order was a precautionary one and was made for the purpose of being in readiness in case of emergency.

The Superintendent said the streets were liable to be crowded with idle men and boys, many of them strangers in the city, drawn here by the unsettled condition of the labor strike. These, he said, would not be allowed to congregate on the streets at any place, and if it is necessary to use force, it will be done, as order must be preserved.

The metallic caskets for the reception of the bodies of Conners and Kline were sent by the order of Supt. J. W. Potter, of the Carnegie Mills and at the expense of the Company. Conners' body will be shipped to friends in New York tonight and Kline's will be sent to Chicago at the same time.

Coroner McDowell visited the Morgue this afternoon and examined a jury, with Rev. G. Asbury as foreman. The jury viewed the remains of these three bodies and permits were issued for their removal.

EXTRA. DR. RICE.

Captures the Hopeful Stakes from Hammie at Monmouth.

GARRISON'S FINE RIDING.

Favorites Rule the Day—Yorkville Belle Gallops In.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)—The attendance at Monmouth Park today showed an increase over Tuesday of at least 2,000. The excellent programme had much to do with this, as did also the perfect weather. The track was in perfect condition and very fast.

Jockey Garrison treated the throng to a beautiful exhibition of jockeyship in the first race. A furious front horse was whipping Madstone, while young Covington persevered, riding Strathmead desperately. In the last few jumps Garrison pushed Madstone's head just far enough in front to enable the judges to decide in his favor. Madstone was favorite, and Garrison was rewarded with a thundering applause. Strathmead was second choice, and it must be admitted that young Covington rode a good finish. Sloopier, who was plugged on by the handicappers for a good thing, was third.

Hammie was withdrawn from the second race, and the talent selected Cactus as a good thing. They placed him down from 3 to 1 to 10 to 1. In the third race, Hammie was waiting too long with him. At the last turning pole Hammie was sixth, but just got up in the home stretch to win. He was quickly played down from 3 to 1 to 10 to 1. In the fourth race, Hammie was quickly played down from 3 to 1 to 10 to 1. In the fifth race, Hammie was quickly played down from 3 to 1 to 10 to 1.

The third race went to Dr. Rice, the favorite. He won very easily. Hammie, second choice, secured place money from Kline colt, $20. Just after the third race it was reported that fifteen bookmakers had been arrested and taken to court. This was denied by Mr. Appleby, the betting-rink manager, who said that his expected visitors had not yet arrived.

FIRST RACE. Free handicap sweepstakes of $20 each, with $1,000 added; seven furlongs. Starters: Hambleton, Jr., 2 to 1; Hambleton, Sr., 3 to 1; Strathmead, 4 to 1; Cactus, 5 to 1; Kilkenny, 6 to 1; Blaine, 7 to 1; Hammie, 8 to 1; Sloopier, 9 to 1; Kline, 10 to 1.

SECOND RACE. Free handicap sweepstakes for two-year-olds of $20 each, with $1,000 added; three-quarters of a mile. Starters: Hambleton, Jr., 2 to 1; Hambleton, Sr., 3 to 1; Strathmead, 4 to 1; Cactus, 5 to 1; Kilkenny, 6 to 1; Blaine, 7 to 1; Hammie, 8 to 1; Sloopier, 9 to 1; Kline, 10 to 1.

THIRD RACE. The Hopeful Stakes, for two-year-olds, of $100 each, with $1,500 added; three-quarters of a mile. Starters: Hambleton, Jr., 2 to 1; Hambleton, Sr., 3 to 1; Strathmead, 4 to 1; Cactus, 5 to 1; Kilkenny, 6 to 1; Blaine, 7 to 1; Hammie, 8 to 1; Sloopier, 9 to 1; Kline, 10 to 1.