

was an eye witness of the massacre and returned here with the train. "We were in two coaches," said Sanchez, "one occupied by the Americans and the other by twenty of our Mexican employees. "No sooner had the train been brought to a standstill by the wreck than the bandits caused a commotion. They began to board the coaches. They swarmed into our car, poked Mausers into our sides and told us to throw up our hands or they would kill us. "They rifled our pockets, took our blankets and baggage and even our shoes. "Then Col. Pablo Lopez, in charge of the train, said: 'If you want to see some fun, watch us kill these gringos. Come on, boys, they are shouting to his followers. They ran from our coach, crying 'Viva Villa!' and 'Death to the gringos!' I heard a volley of rifle shots and looked out of the window. "Manager Watson was running toward the Santa Ysabel River, a short distance away. Four other Americans were running in other directions, the Villistas shooting at them. Some of the soldiers dropped to their knees for better aim. Watson fell after running about a hundred yards. He got up limping, but went on a short distance farther, when he threw up his arms and fell forward, his body rolling down the bank into the river. "Of two others running for the river, one fell midway. I learned later this was Romero. Four bullets penetrated his body. The other man was hit twice and killed. A young fellow, later identified as McFlattan, got forty yards from the train when he was shot. "While this was going on other Villistas crowded into the Americans' coach. I could not see what happened in there as a frightful panic broke out in our car. Later I learned that the Americans were unarmed. "Pearce was shot as he sat in the coach. I saw Wallace's body on the ground at the car step. He had been shot through the back. Another body was on top of Wallace's. "The other Americans were herded to the side of the coach and lined up. "Col. Lopez selected two of his soldiers as executioners, and this nearly precipitated a fight among the bandits ever who should have the privilege of shooting the Americans. "Several of the Americans in line had been wounded when the Villistas shot into the coach. "The two executioners used Mauser rifles. One would shoot his victim and then the other soldier would take the next in line. "Within a few moments the executioners had gone completely down the line. The Americans lay on the ground, some gasping and writhing in the sand and cinders. "The suffering of the Americans seemed to drive the bandits into a frenzy. 'Viva Villa!' they cried, and 'Death to the gringos!' "Col. Lopez ordered the 'tro de gracia' given to those who were still alive, and the soldiers placed the ends of their rifles at their victims' heads and fired, putting the wounded out of misery. "All bodies were completely stripped of clothing and shoes. Fourteen were piled together in a small draw about a yard from the track. After picking up the bodies our train returned to Chihuahua City. "Others in the party said that American friends of the murdered mining men risked their lives when they boldly rode into the view of the bandits and recovered the dead bodies. The bandits still lurked in the vicinity as the half dozen Americans, heavily armed, picked up the blood covered nude bodies and placed them on the rescue train. "Soft-nosed bullets had been used making ragged holes in the heads of the wounded Americans when the bandits gave them the 'mercy shot.' The skulls of three men had been shot away. Each body had from two to five holes, the blood seeping the dirt and cinders along the railroad track. "The Americans in the rescue party were escorted by a small detachment of Carranza troops. "When the scene of the massacre was reached mounted Villistas were not over half a mile away. "The Carranzistas, not being mounted, made no attempt to pursue the suspected murderers. "As soon as the bodies were loaded into a box car the train backed into Chihuahua, where the entire populace had gathered at the station. "F. E. Stephenson, Secretary of the Mining and Smelter Men's Association of Chihuahua, who organized the party that recovered the bodies, said that the heads were almost blown off and the victims otherwise mutilated. "They were stripped of clothing before being dragged out of the cars and killed," said Stephenson. "When we arrived at the scene of the massacre a Carranza guard remained at Santa Ysabel where we found a number of the bandits encamped. We returned to the troop train to get a machine gun and then proceeded to the place where the bodies were heaped." "An expedition which left Chihuahua City to recover the bodies of the slain Americans were informed by the station agent at Santa Ysabel that Benjamin Snell and Frank Woods passed there, bound west, half an hour after the Watson train was reported in trouble. The station agent said he warned the two men to return but they said they were armed and feared no trouble. Nothing later was heard of the party and it is believed that they met the fate of the Watson train.

Jump from Bed in Morning and Drink Hot Water

Tells why everyone should drink hot water each morning before breakfast. Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried, some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness. If we would all practice inside-bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-dick, anemic-looking souls with weak, shaky complexions, we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood. Just as necessary as it is to clean the tubes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn brightly and so we must each morning, clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and toxic matter. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmonious means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. Millions of people who had their turn of constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights, have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to any one the cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.—Adv.

OUR YOUNG WOMEN are so often subject to headache—are languid, pale and nervous—because their blood is thin or insufficient. They hesitate to complain, but they lack that ambition and vivacity which is their birthright. Above all they need the tonic and nourishment in Scott's Emulsion that makes richer blood, fills hollow cheeks, suppresses nervousness and establishes strength. Nourishment alone makes blood and Scott's Emulsion is pure, concentrated nourishment, free from wines or opiates. If mother or daughter is frail, pale or nervous, give her Scott's for one month and see the betterment. It has a wholesome, "nutty" flavor. Free from alcohol or drugs. Avoid substitutes. TEXANS WANT AID OF ROOSEVELT TO BRING CHANGE IN U. S. POLICY

EL PASO, Jan. 12.—A telegram to be sent to Theodore Roosevelt, appealing to him to use his influence with Congress to bring about a "change in the policy of this Government, that so far has refused to exercise its paternal duty of protecting American life and property abroad," was circulated here to-day for signature. It was proposed to send it to him later. Persons with interests in Mexico were not permitted to sign it.

AUSTRIAN TROOPS SWEEPING ALONG IN MONTENEGRO

Food Is Lacking and the Montenegrin Capital Is About to Be Evacuated. MANY DIE IN TENTS. Serbian Refugees, Especially Babies, Succumb to the Hunger and Cold.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—Austrian forces advancing from Cattaro and Budna have reached Mitchev. Five miles from Antivar. The town is being bombarded by the Austrian long range guns, according to a despatch to L'Ouvrier. A despatch telegram to the Serbian Legation in Rome describes the situation in Serdar as approaching desperation. Food is lacking to feed thousands of women, children and refugees in large numbers, swelling the refugee colony already established. The new arrivals are obliged to sleep in the open air in the bitter cold. Hundreds are dying daily in the streets of cold and hunger. Nearly all the very young children have died from lack of nourishment. In view of the success of the Austrian offensive against Mt. Lovcen, measures have been taken by the Montenegrin Government to evacuate Cetinje immediately, says the Petit Journal's Milan correspondent. The government has decided to continue the struggle against the Austrians. The Montenegrins, aided by Serbian contingents, are making a stout resistance although outnumbered five to one. ROME, Jan. 12.—Italian troops may be ordered to proceed to the relief of the hard-pressed Montenegrins within forty-eight hours. King Victor Emmanuel to-day summoned military chiefs and members of the Cabinet into conference on the Montenegrin situation. The King's hurried return from the Italian front after an eight months' absence from Rome was caused by alarming reports of the progress of the Austrian invasion. His Majesty sent for Baron Sonnino, Foreign Minister. Montenegrin Crown Prince Danilo Alexander and the Crown Princess Jutta reached Rome from Cetinje a few hours before the King arrived from the front. They presented a personal appeal for help from the aged Montenegrin King Nicholas. It is said that Queen Jelena, a daughter of the Montenegrin ruler and an ardent sympathizer with her people, sent the telegram that brought King Victor Emmanuel back from the front.

ADVANCE ON SALONICA BEGUN BY 500,000 TEUTON ALLIES

Troops From Gallipoli Land and 300,000 Allies Are Ready for Attack. LONDON, Jan. 12.—Following the report in despatches from Rome and Athens to the Daily News that 500,000 Teutonic, Bulgarian and Turkish troops began an advance on Monday against the allies; their positions in front of Salonica, comes the story from Sofia that the Anglo-French troops from Gallipoli are being landed. Salonica reports that the important railroad bridge over the Struma River at Demir-Hissar has been blown up by French engineers as a precautionary measure. [The Demir-Hissar Bridge spans the Struma about fifty miles north of Salonica, just to the south of the Bulgarian frontier, one of the probable first points of contact between a force moving from Bulgaria against the right of the allies' Salonica defenses.] The Bulgarian authorities estimate that 250,000 Anglo-French forces are now in Greece and that more than 300,000 will be concentrated between Salonica and the Greek border before the end of another week. The reports say the Germans are attacking on the west, with Monastir as headquarters; the Austrians and Bulgars in the center; the Ghevrek-Dolan line, and the Turks on the east, concentrating at Xanthi and Gumaridjina. British officers here declare the allies' defense works in the Salonica zone are impregnable. The Greek Island of Corfu, in the Ionian Sea, two miles off the Albanian coast, has been seized by the French, whose troops have occupied the Achilleion, the Kaiser's beautiful summer marble palace, over which the tricolor is waving, according to Athens and Rome. Greece has made a bitter protest. The Entente ministers at Athens have notified Greece they deemed it their duty to "save the heroic Serbian soldiers from famine and destruction" and would therefore send them to Corfu. They have guaranteed they do not intend to retain the island. ROME, Jan. 12 (via Paris).—The attack of the Teutonic allies on the entente forces defending Salonica is being developed on a large scale, according to the Athens correspondent under Tuesday's date. He reported that a bombardment of the British line to the Duran Zone proceeded all day Monday. The German commander of the attacking forces, says the correspondent, will make use of Austrian, Bulgarian and Turkish forces. The participation of the Turks has been doubtful, he adds, but it is now certain that they will be included in the attacking army.

Woman Who Saved 25 With Her Ironing Board And Two Girls Who Crossed It to Escape Fire

An ironing board produced by Mrs. M. Sayer of No. 269 West One Hundred and Twenty-ninth Street saved twenty-five women and children from the roof of the apartment building at Eighth Avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-ninth Street when they were trapped by fire. The board was used as a bridge between the roof of the burning building and a fifth-story window of the Biltmore Apartments, which is across a six-foot airshaft. Just after the women and children had been rescued the roof on which they had been gathered craped in.

HIGHER WAR TAXES FOR THE GERMANS ANNOUNCED IN DIET

Dr. Bethmann-Hollweg Opens the Prussian Parliament With Forecast of Victory. BERLIN (via wireless to Sayville), Jan. 12.—After divine services in the Protestant Cathedral and in the Catholic Church of St. Hedwig, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the Prussian Prime Minister, opened to-day the new session of the Prussian Parliament. He read the speech from the throne in the White Hall of the Castle, members of both houses of the Prussian Parliament, as well as the diplomats, being present. In reading the speech from the throne Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg first recalled the fact that at present a sanguinary conflict is going on in world battlefields. "As our enemies forced the war upon us," he said, "they must also bear the guilt of the responsibility if the nations of Europe continue to inflict wounds upon one another." Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg said that Germany's enemies had planned to demoralize her by cutting her off from the transatlantic world, but that this had failed. "Our agriculture assures the sustenance of the nation," he added, "relying on our own strength, on our industry and on our trade, we can produce what we need for our defense. These maintain the millions of workers who have remained at home and they maintain our economic life in spite of the war. But above all things are the needs of the nation in arms, filled with ineffaceable grandeur and heroism." Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg said Germany, together with her faithful allies, not only resisted a world of enemies, but carried her flag into the enemies' countries. "We are, and always will be, proud," he said, "together with our other German brethren, that the old Prussian spirit has shown its impregnable vitality and has added new immortal glory to the heroic deeds of our fathers and ancestors. Together with our King and Emperor we march toward the turning of the roads, sure of victory. One thought flits us—to give all until the very last depths of the nation's power for the life and the safety of the nation. The Prime Minister then stated that the King and Emperor sent, as a greeting to the Parliament, his warm thanks for those who are fighting at the front. He also announced that a bill will be presented increasing the income tax, as an increase of the state's receipts had become necessary. The war, he said, had not broken the strength of Prussia's state finances, but further means were needed to be used for the reconstruction of East Prussia.

MR. JUDSON'S CLAIMS AS PULITZER TRUSTEE

Statement as to Questions Involved and How a Compromise Was Agreed Upon. Regarding the order issued on Wednesday, Jan. 11, by Judge Newburger, compromising and settling the pending appeals in the suit over the will of Joseph Pulitzer, the executors of the estate of Joseph Pulitzer issued the following statement: The provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to executors' and trustees' commissions on which Mr. Judson bases his claim to such commissions and on which these claims were opposed by the other interests are so obscure that on this single question four or five conflicting views have arisen, each entitled to support. This complicated situation has been fully considered and discussed by those interested, and the unanimous view very quickly developed that it would be better for the estate and all parties interested to adjust these differences on some reasonable basis of compromise. An agreement of compromise subject to the approval of the court has now been reached between Mr. Judson and the other parties to the appeal, on the condition that all other pending appeals be abandoned, thus effecting a large saving, both in time and money, to the estate. It is recognized by all parties that Mr. Judson's services to the estate were, by reason of his residence in St. Louis of a character distinct from those of his fellow-executors and justify the additional compensation which is the basis of the compromise and which is satisfactory to all parties interested. The necessary permission of the court is secured to this compromise, and all pending appeals will be withdrawn.

MAYOR BACKS MULLAN FOR SUPREME COURT

Will Ask Whitman to Name Ex-Law Partner to Succeed Brady. New York and Bronx County Republican leaders will ask Gov. Whitman to appoint Justice G. V. Mullan to succeed Justice of the Bronx John J. Brady of the Supreme Court. Mullan is former Tax Commissioner and former law partner of Mayor Mitchell. Public Service Commissioner Hayward, who is Gov. Whitman's representative in this city, visited City Hall to-day and had a talk with Mayor Mitchell. Later Mayor Mitchell admitted that he and Hayward had discussed the Mullan candidacy. The Mayor further admitted he had told Hayward he would like to see his former law partner appointed to the 87,500 a year Justiceship. But he added that he was not "active" in Mullan's interests. If Mullan is appointed he will serve five years. Justice Brady's unexpired term runs to Dec. 31, 1920.

FOUR AIR BATTLES LOST BY BRITISH; BEATEN ON LAND

Attack Near Arrmentieres and French Assaults in Champagne Reported Checked. BERLIN, Jan. 12 (by wireless to Sayville).—A strong British attack near Arrmentieres and two French onslaughts in the Champagne were repulsed by the Germans, the War Office announced to-day. The statement follows: "Northeast of Arrmentieres an attack by a strong British detachment was repulsed. "Early this morning the French renewed their attacks in the Champagne. An attempted advance north-east of Le Mesnil was repulsed. An attack against a portion of the trenches captured by the Germans, on Jan. 9, near Maisons de Champagne, also failed. "Lieuts. Boelke and Immelmann each shot down a British aeroplane, one northeast of Turoing, the other near Hapauime. In recognition of their accomplishments both were decorated with the order of Pour le Merite by His Majesty the Emperor. "A third British aeroplane was shot down in an aerial fight near Korbair, and a fourth was brought down west of Lille. Of the eight British officers on the four aeroplanes six were killed and two wounded." PARIS, Jan. 12 (via London).—The War Office this afternoon gave out the following statement: "Between the Somme and the Avre last night the enemy attempted a surprise attack against one of our small positions. The attack was a complete failure. "In the Champagne the enemy made two surprise attacks with hand grenades, one to the northeast of Buzois-Mesnil, the other in the district of Maisons de Champagne. Our troops were checked at once by our curtain of fire. "Further information regarding the attack attempted yesterday by the Germans with the use of suffocating gases in the region of Forges shows that in the course of the operation a gust of wind blew back the gases to the trenches of the Germans. Our bombardment of the enemy's line was very violent."
