16,102,143 BALES OF COTTON IN 1914 WAS RECORD CROP

Greatest Yield in History of Country, Away Ahead of Other Years.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The greatest cotton crop ever produced in the United States was grown in 1914. Census Bureau statistics issued today, giving final figures, officially place the 1914 crop as a record with 16,102,143 bales of 500 pounds each.

That is 408,442 equivalent 500 pound bales, or 504,721,000 pounds, more than produced in the great crop of 1911.

In addition to the great production of lint cotton, a record quantity of lint cotton, which is extensively used in the manufacture of military explosives, was obtained. This cotton, delinted from the seed at oil mills, amounted to 286,732,000 pounds and brought the total 1914 crop to 16,388,875 equivalent 500-pound bales, or 1,638,875,000 pounds.

While the crop was a record one, the only States to make new records in production were Alabama, Louisiana and Oklahoma, the remaining cotton growing States all coming close to their record production figures.

Official estimates place the value of the crop, which this season has been greatly reduced by the effect of the European war, at $704,000,000.
