

BROOKLYN NEWS.

HIS HOUSE USED AS A TARGET.

Five Bullets Shatter Smith's Windows at Different Times.

Three Fired in Quick Succession Came Close to Him.

W. R. Smith, of 112 Rodney street, visited the Clymer street station, Williamsburg, this morning, and requested the police to find out who has been shooting into his house...

There is considerable mystery about the matter, and Mr. Smith does not know whether to believe he has a secret enemy or is simply the victim of some idiot who practices shooting but has no little control over his revolver that the balls go wild.

Mr. Smith's residence is near Bedford avenue, in the most aristocratic and wealthy section of Williamsburg. All the bullets which have come into his house have come from the direction of Keap street...

On New Year's eve last Mr. Smith was sitting in his bedroom, on the second floor of the house, when he heard several revolver shots, and the window-panes only flew away from where he was sitting was shattered.

When he investigated the next morning he found one bullet lying on the carpet and two others in the window-sill.

About three weeks ago, at 9 o'clock one evening, another bullet came singing through the window. This time the female members of the household were included to be hysterical, and Mr. Smith made a vigorous search for the unknown who was using his house for a target.

Last night a bullet went into the bedroom again. Mr. Smith became alarmed for fear that some one of his family might be killed at any time.

The only thing that has surprised me is that none of my people has been killed," said Mr. Smith this morning.

HE WANTS TO SEE THE BOOKS.

But His Right Is Denied by Building Association Officials.

Mallon After Facts to Use in His Canvass for President.

It is estimated that there are 15,000 persons in Brooklyn connected with building and loan associations.

Justice Pratt for a peremptory writ of mandamus to compel Harry Thompson, President, and W. H. Rawlings, Secretary, of the East Brooklyn Cooperative Building Association, to allow him to inspect the register of the members of the Association.

Mr. Mallon is a candidate for the presidency of the Association. The election is to be held on April 27.

He was checked by the officers this morning. They denied flatly every statement made by Mallon. This raised the question of fact. A judge cannot decide on the facts. They must go to a jury.

Mr. Mallon does not want to stop the action by injunction pending the mandamus proceedings. He says that he will win the Association. The action is in the part of the officers of the East Brooklyn Association to sue for a general revision of by-laws to overcome the difficulty presented to-day.

CHILD DROWNED IN A PAIL.

His Parents Were Drunk and an Investigation Will Be Made.

Coroner Kene, of Brooklyn, will tomorrow investigate the death of seven-month-old Catherine Powers, at 30 Fifty-first place, yesterday afternoon.

The child fell into a pail of water and was drowned. The child's father, Joseph Powers, a longshoreman, was sleeping off a drunken debauch at the time, and another was drinking mixed ale with the neighbors.

ROYAL ARCANUM MEETING.

Annual Session of the Grand Council in Brooklyn To-Day.

The annual meeting of the Grand Council of the Royal Arcanum of the State of New York was held in the hall of the Johnson Building, on Avenue Street, Brooklyn, to-day.

A concert will be given at the Tabernacle tonight for the entertainment of the delegates. The concert will be followed by a reception at the Pouch Gallery, on Clinton avenue.

THROWING FOR BLENKS.

Theodore Daraney, of Metropolitan avenue, was sent to jail for ten days by Justice Goetting, at 30 Le Avenue Court, Williamsburg, to-day, on a charge of throwing a metal cigar-lighter at Alfred Kops, a saloon-keeper, who was on a bench when Kops refused to trust him for a drink.

Stabbed a Neighbor.

Paquale Polle, nineteen years old, of 217 Broadway avenue, Brooklyn, was placed under arrest this morning by Justice Connelly, who is charged with the John Fitzgerald, a pugilist, during a scuffle.

Polle was arrested on a charge of throwing a metal cigar-lighter at Alfred Kops, a saloon-keeper, who was on a bench when Kops refused to trust him for a drink.

CANARSIE'S GHOST IN BLACK.

Garbed as a Woman It Frightens People at the Graveyard.

Even Spoke to a Young Man Who Offered to Act as Escort.

CANARSIE, L. I., April 24.—All of the people of Canarsie are as much excited over the reported announcement that there is a ghost in town as were their neighbors of Rockaway Beach a year or so ago by the wild man of the woods.

Bay men and boat-house keepers talk of little else than the apparition that is said to nightly haunt the Church road that runs past the graveyard, while all citizens agree in the conclusion that the specter must be caught or the delusion, if it is a delusion, dissipated before the Summer season opens, or else Canarsie is doomed to be the dulliest shore resort on Long Island.

For the sake of Canarsie's future Capt. Brown, the life-saver, has commissioned himself to run the mystery to earth or to put it away, and believing that publicity may lead some other community to claim the ghost as an escape attraction, he told an Evening World reporter of the terror it has created.

Unlike most ghosts, Canarsie's apparition appears in the black apparel of a mourning widow. It was discovered, as the Evening World says, by a Salvation Army hero, who was walking home from a meeting the other night when he found one bullet lying on the carpet and two others in the window-sill.

Rider is a temperance man, a thorough soldier among the Salvationists and a member of the church. He is looking for material he reached out his hand to a young man who was walking home from a meeting the other night when he found one bullet lying on the carpet and two others in the window-sill.

The experience Richard Gwyler, as related by Capt. Brown, was even more remarkable than that of Rider. Gwyler is not gifted with the peculiar ability of discernment that enables a man to recognize a ghost when he sees one, and when he was walking home from a meeting the other night when he found one bullet lying on the carpet and two others in the window-sill.

Even Policeman Frank Ford claims he met the ghost in the early part of the year, but when he went to arrest it as a suspicious character, it vanished. He related his experience to Judge Ford, but the latter is an extremely practical man, and told an Evening World reporter that when he saw the specter he was a suspicious husband impersonating a ghost for the purpose of getting evidence against his wife in a divorce suit.

Canarsie is thoroughly excited, however, and detectives are now more popular than the owners of oyster beds.

NO DIVORCE, NO WEDDING.

That's Why Conklin Couldn't Take a Second Wife in Sayville.

SAYVILLE, L. I., April 24.—The young folks of this village have enough to busy their minds and tongues for weeks.

The majority of them had received invitations to the marriage of Miss Leo Glascock to William Conklin last night. But the wedding didn't take place.

Instead the crestfallen pair had to explain that the jury selected to try the case had found for the divorcee. Conklin was a young man, and his wife was Mrs. Glover, had weakly failed to perform the duties of matrimony, and the jury had granted a divorce.

Conklin and Miss Glascock were certain that the divorce would be granted, for Mr. Conklin's wife ran away from him a few weeks after their marriage several years ago.

LOHMANN NOT BACK YET.

He Was Expected to Reach Brooklyn, a Prisoner, To-Day.

Superintendent of Police Campbell, of Brooklyn, said this morning that Detective Zundt, who went to Toronto for William G. Lohmann, the ex-Cashier of the Excise Department, had not yet started for home with his prisoner.

Chief Campbell said he had expected to see Lohmann this morning, and could not account for the delay. He said that Lohmann has never been indicted.

He was arrested on complaint of two saloon-keepers, who swear that he never turned over to the city the $100 that they each paid him for a license.

Lohmann, it is said, threatens to "make it exceedingly warm" for some body should the action be taken against him. He is quoted as intimating that others, and not himself, benefited by the frauds of which he is accused.

FELL FROM A WINDOW.

Police Say that Mrs. Kelly's Death Was Accidental.

The police of the Seventeenth Precinct, Brooklyn, have investigated the death of Mrs. Annie Kelly, of Christian street, at 111th street, and are satisfied that her death was due to accidental causes. Her body was found yesterday morning on her own stoop with the neck broken. It is believed that she fell from the window while attempting to get out.

AN ESCAPE.

Made from all the diseases that come from tainted blood if the liver is roused to vigorous action, the blood purified and the system braced up with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Langour and loss of appetite, with or without indigestion, warn you that gravel lies in close hold.

Mr. J. P. McAdams, of 111th street, Brooklyn, writes: "I had a heart-burn and fullness after eating, and my bowels were constipated. I was very nervous, and my appetite was poor. I was very nervous, and my appetite was poor. I was very nervous, and my appetite was poor."

Unconscious From Poison.

An Unknown Man Found in Lincoln Park, Newark.

NEWARK, N. J., April 24.—An unknown man, about forty-five years of age, bareheaded and in his shirt sleeves, was found unconscious in Lincoln Park, this city, last night.

This investigation showed that the man had attempted to take his life by drinking laudanum. A half-empty bottle of the poison lay by his side. He was removed to the City Hospital, and has now regained consciousness. There was nothing on the body that would lead to his identity.

ELECTION INSPECTORS FREE.

Four Gravesenders Released from Jail in Brooklyn To-Day.

Favored Above Other Prisoners by Sheriff Butting.

The first of the Gravesend election inspectors to gain their liberty, walked out of Raymond Street Jail, in Brooklyn, shortly before 8 o'clock this morning.

The released men are W. H. Stewart, W. L. Tutthill, John L. Cunliffe and Garretson Morris. They arose at 6 o'clock this morning, took their last cup of coffee in the prison and then waited for Sheriff William J. Butting to give the word for their release.

They had all served twenty-nine days in the jail for the part they played with John V. McKane in the Gravesend election frauds.

The men had not been treated as common prisoners, and it is an open secret that many rules of the jail were violated in their favor. They were generally observed by allowing the inspectors to be released at 7:30 o'clock, while ordinary prisoners are never released from the jail before 8 o'clock.

There are still three inspectors in jail. They are James H. Crosey, N. J. Johnson and Harlan Crandall. These men will be released to-morrow morning, providing the fines are paid.

CANDY WAS POISONED.

Jersey City Children Ill from Eating "Double-Headed Dutchmen."

Katie Gleason, six years old, of 40 Jackson avenue, Jersey City, and her cousin are ill from eating poisoned candy, which she bought last Friday afternoon at the store of Mrs. Gallagher, 605 Communipaw avenue.

The candy is known as "double-headed Dutchmen." It is made of chocolate in the shape of two male figures standing back to back.

Katie shared her candy with her cousin, the daughter of Mortimer Gleason, of 53 Jackson avenue. Shortly after eating it both children were taken very ill.

Mrs. Gallagher said that "double-headed Dutchmen" were very popular with children, and that she had sold a large quantity of them. She said that she had never heard any complaint. She said that a short time ago she stopped selling a candy of similar character called the "New York Aldermen" because it was found to be unwholesome.

The wholesale dealer of whom Mrs. Gallagher bought the candy said he had never before had a complaint of the "double-headed Dutchmen."

THREW PEPPER IN HER EYES.

Police Think Mrs. Schnell Knows Her Woman Assailant.

UNION HILL, N. J., April 24.—The police here are looking for a woman who threw a large quantity of cayenne pepper into the eyes of Mrs. Louis Schnell, of 124 Humboldt street.

Mrs. Schnell says that when she returned home from a walk last Sunday night she was confronted at the door by a thickly veiled woman, who, without a word, threw the pepper straight at her face, and then seizing her around the neck she fled into the hallway.

The police believe that the woman who threw the pepper is known to Mrs. Schnell and her husband.

YOUNG ROBBY DALE FOUND.

He Was Guarded by His Dog When Discovered at Bingham.

PLEMINGTON, N. J., April 24.—There is great rejoicing in Stockton, near this place, over the restoration yesterday afternoon to his parents of Robby Dale, the eight-year-old son of James Dale, who was lost in the woods Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Dale stepped into a neighbor's garden to call while out walking with her boy and a dog. The child and the animal were gone when she came out.

Search parties went through the woods all night, but no trace of the boy was found. He was believed some farmer's boy picked up the child to give him a drive while the father was indoors.

CONTRADICT REV. MAYHAM.

Millitamen Say His Scathing Sermon Was Uncalled For.

ELIZABETH N. J., April 24.—The members of Company F, Third Regiment, of Rahway, are greatly incensed over the severe pulpit attack made on the command last Sunday by Rev. T. C. Mayham, pastor of the Second Methodist Church, of Rahway, and the matter on the subject of an animated discussion last night at the Regimental Headquarters in this city.

Col. Lee and the staff were all at the opening of the new army of Company F last week, and they declare that the sermon was uncalled for.

Two civilians, which was quickly suppressed, there was nothing about the sermon in the newspapers, and the Rev. Mayham's remarks were wholly uncalculated for.

It is believed that the Rev. Mayham will call on Rev. Mr. Mayham and ask him to make a retraction of the part of his language where he called the soldiers of the Third Regiment cranks.

Rev. Mayham is known as the soldier-preacher of Rahway, being a veteran of the civil war and a member of the Grand Army. He is at times very quick-tempered and rather hasty.

He is believed to have been kicking a boy in the church whom he found walking over the carpet with mud on his boots.

The boy's father went before Police Justice Frazer and had the clergyman arrested for assault, but the influence of some of his parishioners kept the matter from being brought to a trial.

Rev. Mayham claimed at first that he was justified in his action.

HOST USES A STILETTO.

In a Fight Over Mrs. Tori's Intrusion He Stabs a Guest.

WEST NEW YORK, N. J., April 24.—Carmen Tori, Joseph Gesto and Milo Jagledori engaged in a game of cards Saturday night at the home of the latter, in King street.

Mrs. Tori waited until a late hour for her husband to return home. As he did not put in an appearance she went to Jagledori's house and, forcing her way into the room where the game was in progress, she stepped on the carpet.

Jagledori resented Mrs. Tori's intrusion, and she, in turn, resented his. A fight followed. Neither Tori nor Gesto was armed, and were, therefore, at a great disadvantage. The latter drew a long stiletto and plunged it into Tori's side, inflicting a wound which, it is believed, will prove fatal.

Gesto seized Jagledori to prevent his using the stiletto further on Tori, and gave a wound six inches long in the thigh.

Jagledori was arrested and held to await the result of Tori's injuries.

FELT HER GARTER WAS ALIVE.

Mrs. Schmidt Shrieked and a Snake Wriggled to the Floor.

Then a Brave Gripman Killed the Serpent in a Cable Car.

Quite recovered from her thrilling experience, Mrs. Regina Schmidt is recovering the admiration of shuddering babies of women friends to-day for her rare presence of mind and marked nerve as she tells of how her shapely ankle was squeezed by a colling reptile last evening in a crowded Third Avenue cable car, and how she calmly lifted her foot to enter the car, and how she calmly lifted her foot to enter the car, and how she calmly lifted her foot to enter the car.

She was sitting in a cable car last evening when she was seized by a colling reptile last evening in a crowded Third Avenue cable car, and how she calmly lifted her foot to enter the car, and how she calmly lifted her foot to enter the car.

The people in the car tell it differently. They say that at 46 street at Twenty-ninth street on the way uptown there was a peculiar noise, followed by agonizing cries for help, and a plump and pretty young woman suddenly fell from her seat.

"Take it off, some one!" Before the oldest man in the car could reach the frightened Mrs. Schmidt, the garter had wriggled off to the floor of the car.

The gripman had heard some one yell that a boa constrictor was loose in the car
