CLEARING THE WAY FOR 50-CENT EGGS DIRECT TO PEOPLE

Problem Is Up to Commissioner Day and His Path Is Made Easy.

By P. Q. Foy,
Special Food Expert of The Evening World.

The decision of the Director of Sales in the Quartermaster's Stores Section, Washington, to sell the nearly 2,000,000 pounds of surplus roasting chickens direct to families through trade channels is a signal victory for the average consuming families of the United States. These roasting chickens were advertised for sale to wholesalers, but the bids were unsatisfactory and were cancelled. The following suggestions from The Evening World in the interest of consumers were accepted by the Director of Sales and formed the basis of the plan of distribution.

Dear Sir:—Referring to the distribution of the roasting chickens in New York City, permit me to suggest that if some method was devised by which these chickens could be distributed by the regular retail butchers the distribution would be more universal and the food would reach the consumer in a more highly edible state. Suppose the Government would put a fixed price of 30 to 35c. warehouse; allow the distributor about 5c. a pound and add 5c. a pound more to the consumer, or 37 or 39c. per pound. There are no roasting chickens here that can be sold at that price. About 90 per cent of the consumers here would insist on having their chickens drawn and some would insist on having them cut up. The work could be better done by practical hands, and as the Government can fix the price to the distributor and consumer, as well as its own selling price, the people would get the benefit of this splendid food. Respectfully,
P. Q. FOY,
Food Expert, New York Evening World.

THIS ARMY FOOD GOES DIRECT TO FAMILIES.

The distribution will be under the direction of Deputy Market Commissioner O'Malley, and this food will be sold exclusively to families. Wholesale poultry dealers, hotels and steamships will be debarred from purchasing these roasting chickens, it being the desire of Secretary of War Baker to sell exclusively to the families.

The sale, at 461 Eighth Avenue, includes the States of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. The price of 32 cents on these roasters in warehouse was considered excessive by Mr. O'Malley, who thought that 27 or 28 cents would be sufficiently high owing to the extended season, and at his suggestion Col. Carson took the matter up with the Director of Sales in Washington. In a few days these fancy roasting chickens will be on sale in every section of Greater New York. Sales will be restricted to families, but no large quantities will be sold, although accredited communities will be served with a reasonable quantity consistent with their individual or collective requirements.

Through the constructive efforts of The Evening World, thousands of families will be enabled to purchase these fancy roasting chickens at a price not exceeding 35 cents a pound,

FOOD DEALERS GET FINAL WARNING TO KEEP PRICES FAIR

Williams Says Many Now Sell Below His List, and Find It Pays.

The first warning to food profiteers has been uttered by Arthur Williams, Federal Food Administrator, and these merchants who persist in selling at prices above those fixed in the "fair price lists" will be exposed to the public.

This decision came from Administrator Williams to-day, after he had expressed himself as well satisfied with the progress of the campaign to lower the food prices in Greater New York City. He not only indicated that the whole plan of army surplus sales had been effective, but declared that merchants were generally reducing prices even below the fair price list.

Some dealers are still refusing to give aid to the low price campaign, Mr. Williams admitted, and cited a case of a woman whose doctor prescribed fresh eggs. Her son brought a dozen at 29 cents. The fair price of $1.04 for a four-pound bird. The average restaurant will serve six portions from one of these roasters, while in some of the stylish uptown hotels, as many as eight portions are carved out of one of these roasters.

As this poultry is taken out of the regular trade channels it is but fair to the dealers to be permitted to distribute it to the consumers at a fixed margin of profit to compensate them for the service they render. These roasting chickens will be a welcome addition to our food supply and will help to lead lower prices on similar grades. The mutton can be sold at 10 to 15 cents per pound below the prices now charged for fresh.

CLEARING AWAY THE BARRIERS TO 50-CENT EGGS.

It now rests with Commissioner of Markets Jonathan D. Day whether the consumers of New York City will get fancy April eggs at 50 cents a dozen. When seen last Saturday Dr. Day complained that the margin of one cent a dozen was not sufficient. As he explained it: "If a woman breaks one egg in taking them out of the case that takes away the profit of four cents; besides paper printed with the words 'storage eggs' and a larger margin of profit would have to be fixed to cover the cost of selling." It was the intention of the merchants who offered these eggs to be sold to consumers that the work be done by the same equipment that is now handling the surplus army foods. A dozen of these April eggs will weigh about one and one-half pounds out of shell—about thirty-four cents a pound for the highest grade of fresh eggs. These eggs were purchased to export to Europe, but the conditions existing there do not make it practicable to export them. Hence the offer to the consumers. It is quite possible some of the suburban towns and cities in other States may give their people the benefit of these high grade April eggs.

One of the merchants who offered forty cases of fancy candied April eggs to The Evening World, when told that Dr. Day considered the merchandise army food, remarked: "Dr. Day can regulate the prices to the consumers to cover the cost of distribution, but as far as the printed surplus army foods, I would furnish those to the City Commissioner." Commissioner Day said late on Saturday that "the weather at present was too mild to handle storage eggs, which could be better done if the weather was cooler."

The recent continuous rains have greatly damaged the potato crop, and the farmers in Jersey and sustaining serious losses on account of rot. Many of the potatoes were dug in wet weather and shipped outside the State, arriving in Pittsburgh in such poor shape that the loss was close to 50 per cent, while shipments of Jersey potatoes to Cuba and the West Indies resulted in a much heavier loss. One of the leading potato dealers in New York, when seen last Saturday in regard to the potato rot, said: "It is a very serious condition, and unless the weather becomes dry the price of potatoes in the United States will be greatly reduced. Great reductions have been made in prices on account of the potatoes showing so much rot on arrival here, while the potatoes shipped West were sent by the Growers' Association, who must stand the loss. It is a serious situation."

4,500 STREET CLEANERS CALL FOR A STRIKE

Four thousand five hundred street cleaners at meetings yesterday yelled for a general strike, and with great difficulty were restrained from starting one. They were persuaded to await the action of the Board of Estimate on their demands—Sept. 19.

Leaders of the street cleaners declared that they would give the Board of Estimate until Sept. 23 to grant their demands.

Meetings were at Hennington Hall, No. 215 Second Street, and at No. 711 Eighth Avenue.

At the Hennington Hall meeting Harry Mason, Secretary of the Manhattan Sweepers of the Street Cleaners' Protective Association stated the demands of the sweepers are for $16 a week, drivers $18 and chauffeurs $44.

POPE ASKS CLERGY TO AID DEMOCRACY AND SOCIAL PEACE

Vatican Joins Hands With New World Order "Within Limits of Honesty and Justice."

PARIS, Sept. 8.—Politically the Vatican has joined hands with democracy and cast its lot with the new world-wide liberal movement, it was brought out in a papal letter addressed to Cardinal Luçon and made public to-day in connection with participation of French Catholics in the coming Parliamentary elections.

The Vatican programme contains four definite planks for establishment of social peace. They comprise: Co-operation of all classes, coalition of all classes against Bolshevism, acceptance of democracy, and education of the proletariat.

In his letter to Cardinal Luçon, the Pope said, in part: "The great outstanding fact in the world to-day is the ever strengthening current everywhere toward democracy. The proletariat classes, as
