

her chief counsel, John F. Brennan, and Abel J. Smith.

For Mr. Stillman's side of the case came Cornelius J. Sullivan, William Hand and Orlinbridge Horsey, the latter bringing with him from the Bookman Arms, at Rhinebeck, Bernard and Irene Kelley. The former was Fred Beauvais's successor in charge of the Stillman estate at Pleasantville and the woman was one of the housemaids.

Two important witnesses on hand for Mr. Stillman were hotel clerks from Montreal, who brought registers from the Ritz and Windsor hotels of that city, which are to be offered in evidence to prove that at certain times Mrs. Stillman was registered at each of these hostels.

ENTIRE MURDER SYDIGATE, POLICE INDICATE, WAS HIRED BY HIS WIFE TO KILL KABER

East Indian Poison Fed to Him, Police Say, to Cure "Bad Habits."

HUNT COLAVITO HOME. Remarkable Case Would Have Been Secret Still but for a Tortured Conscience.

By Martin Green. (Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)

CLEVELAND, June 15.—The tortured conscience of an old woman, played upon by police agents, was responsible for the opening up of the two-year-old Kaber murder mystery in this city and the unfolding of the details of a plot which in boldness of conception and the number of participants has no parallel in the criminal history of this country.

It now appears that Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber enlisted the aid of a veritable murder syndicate in her design to get rid of her husband, and developments early to-day indicate that at least one of the men who was paid to commit the murder will be in custody before night.

Four women are under indictment for the killing of Dan Kaber, and one of them, sixty-nine-year-old Mary Brichol, the mother of Mrs. Kaber, is mainly responsible for the indictment because her conscience would not allow her to keep the secret. Two of the other women are her daughter, Mrs. Kaber, and her daughter's child, Marian McArdle. The third is Berminia Colavito, who mixed with her prostitution of midwife a claim to witchcraft through intimacy with the spirit world.

She it is who invests the case with an atmosphere of East Indian poison intrigue. Detectives are hunting for a mysterious drug alleged to have been sold by Mrs. Colavito. The poison search began when it was learned that the woman had sold bottles of the liquid as a cure for "bad habits."

Mrs. Daniel Kaber was alleged to have purchased "medicines" from the Italian woman. Detectives, searching the Colavito home, poked rubber-covered fingers into sticky and smelly crevices of an amateur laboratory to find mixtures of arsenic, a drug which they believe was used on Kaber before he was stabbed to death. Several poisons were found.

City chemists declared that numerous deaths must have been caused if the woman's prescriptions were as freely used as evidence indicated. Recent mysterious deaths here will be investigated as a result.

CRIME SIDE ROAD LEADS TO ITALIAN COLONY. Branching off from the Kaber murder case is a side road of crime leading to the Italian district of East

B. R. T. WORKERS WILL DECIDE ON WAGE CUT PLAN

All Employees to Have Company's Plea Before Them Through Committees.

A committee of employees of the ways and structures department of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company called on the department heads to-day to confer on the company's plan for a wage reduction. The committee heard arguments similar to those made last night by committees for the operating and mechanical departments, to the effect that the cost of living has been reduced and that there should be a wage reduction.

General Manager Menden, in the absence of Receiver Garrison from the city, declined to discuss the situation or the prospects for an amicable arrangement.

All the committees are to report back to the men, confer with them, and see the company later, probably in about two weeks.

Jersey Trolley Men Reject Wage Cut.

At eight meetings of union trolley employees of the Public Service Company in Newark, Paterson, West Hoboken, Dunellen, Greenville, Elizabeth, Camden and New Brunswick, it was voted last night to reject the proposals of the Public Service Railway Company to return to the 1918 scale of wages. The present wage scale is $1, 52 and 55 cents per hour. The scale in force in July, 1918, was 41, 43 and 45 cents.

Some time ago the Railway Company returned to the old time of ten hours a day instead of nine. The men will take up the matter of going back to nine hours a day.

SIMS'S GOODY FULL OF FLOWERS; FORGOT TICKETS

Rousing Send-Off at London, Where He Says He Has Nothing to Retract.

HAD ONLY ONE THREAT. Will Go Direct to Pier Here—Has Received Many Messages Approving Attitude.

LONDON, June 15 (Associated Press).—Rear Admiral William S. Sims left Waterloo Station this morning for Southampton, where he was to board the steamer Olympic later in the day and proceed to New York. He rode in a special car that was so burdened with floral testimonials that there was scarcely room for members of his party to move about.

Leaving out of a window of the car the Admiral waved his cap to a large group who, despite the earliness of his departure, had gathered to give him a rousing send-off. Admiral Sims spent half an hour before his train left in handshaking and exchanging greetings with friends on the station platform. As the train slowly moved out, men raised their hats and women waved their handkerchiefs, and all joined in three cheers, which were given so lustily that a cab horse at the station platform curbing shied and nearly ran away.

Answering the reporters' requests for a farewell message, Admiral Sims called attention to despatches in this morning's newspapers, telling of a reaction in the United States against his critics. He declared he had nothing further to say, "and nothing to retract." He said he had received hundreds of letters approving of his attitude regarding "American hyphenates."

Asked whether he had received any threatening missives the Admiral smiled and said: "I have had one signed 'Erin-go-Braugh' making a play on the reference to gebras in my address last week, and telling me I would meet the assassin on the other side, but I have paid no attention to it—it doesn't worry me."

He added that he thought the hand-writing was that of a boy, and declared the letter bore a London postmark. He did not turn it over to Scotland Yard for an investigation.

LONDON, June 15 (United Press).—Admiral Sims forgot his tickets to-day in the rush of getting away to Southampton in response to Secretary Denby's demand that he report in Washington. He left his transportation at his hotel, but officials of the steamship line promised they would take care of him.
