

New Yorkers For A Day

By Roger Batchelder.

Women of these United States who believe that their lot is not quite so good as it might be should listen to L. M. Harrington, an American who has lived abroad for many years, and whose home town now is Paris.

"The attitude of the European toward women is so entirely different from ours that it is almost incomprehensible," he said at the Pennsylvania. "The laws of European countries were made especially for men, particularly in regard to divorce, and women have less chance to assert their rights and obtain them. But it is a strange fact that the European man treats the American woman with the deference which she naturally expects."

"The European woman, however, is essentially a home-maker, and her chief concern is her family. She manages her husband as efficiently as her husband does his office. I have lived in France for thirty years, and I realize how thrifty the French are; the Frenchwoman can make her money go further than any one else in the world.

"The pleasures of the French are not so strenuous as ours. For instance, I have seen a native linger for half an hour over his glass of wine while watching the crowds go by on the boulevard. Could you imagine an American doing this? The people there live in their parks and entire families spend hours there every day."

HOT BAY STATE POLITICS.

"Massachusetts has never had such excitement before election as at this time," asserted H. Roy Carpenter, at the Commodore, from Boston. "There are more candidates for the office than ever before—and the voters are able to pick the best man from the multitude of aspirants for the less important offices."

"There has been considerable animosity between the present Lieut. Gov. Fuller and Sheriff Warner, whom he defeated two years ago after a bitter attack. The past struggle, rather than present conditions, is the basis on which each are contending for the primary nomination, which will be decided next Tuesday."

"Campaign bitterness came to a climax last week when Gov. Cox was publicly assailed by adherents of the present District Attorney, who is running for nomination as Governor. Mr. Cox took the platform alone in Faneuil Hall and defended himself in a masterly fashion. But all these events have caused considerable regret among the voters of the State, who prefer a placid and fair election for every one."

THE ENGLISH KEEP COOL.

Despite the many American architectural features which England has adopted by wholesale, the English people still cling to the old grate fire, and cannot be tempted by radiators, according to Craig MacDowell of Pittsburgh, at the Martinique.

"Central heating plants seem unable to gain a foothold," Mr. MacDowell said. "The Britisher explained that the grate fire is more cheerful and less stuffy than any other heating medium. New flats under construction, however, are otherwise designed in American fashion, with a multitude of work-saving devices. They are planned to be rented unfurnished, but with up to date sanitary appliances, and electric conveniences in the kitchen."

A NOVEL FUEL PROBLEM.

We who are worrying about a refrigerated house this winter can hardly understand the action of East Tennessee folk, who, Thomas A. Pratt of Kingsport, now at the Murray Hill, tells us, are kicking because they must get coal from their own Fuel Administrator.

"Many have been forced to close down, although the Fuel Administrator has granted them some coal," he explained. "They have been getting it from Southwest Virginia, whose mines are within a 100-mile radius. Of course, it has been cheaper than coal from the Tennessee fields, which are from 300 to 400 miles away. The people are trying to get a special order from Washington allowing them to get their coal from the usual source."

FURTHEST FROM HOME.

The "New Yorker For a Day or Two" who is furthest from home to day is Francisco Laguardia, who is at the Baltimore. His home town, Buenos Ayres, of which he is Chief of Police, is about 8,000 miles from Broadway.

Corns Go Just say Blue-jay to your druggist

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in a colorless clear liquid (one drop does it!) and in extra thin plaster. The action is the same.
