Masie gave the three of them a merry time for about twenty minutes and almost succeeded in throwing one of the policemen out the kitchen window.

In court before Judge Murray today Masie was about to be released with a $10 fine on a disorderly conduct charge made by his wife, when Judge Murray noticed that all three of the policemen of the fight put up with Masie the Judge imposed a fine of $1,000 on a charge of assault and battery.

Before being taken to a cell Masie said to the Judge: "I don't mind the fine, Your Honor, but won't you help me show my wife who is the boss in our home?" Judge Murray would not promise.

'Bobby' Besler Can't Sing Old Rhyme Now She's Wed

Daughter of Central R. R. of N. J. President Marries Harold Brooks Gardner.

If no one ever marries me— And I don't see why they should, For nurse says I'm not pretty, And I'm seldom very good.

Helen Besler, daughter of the President of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, until last night had been chanting this little nursery rhyme for the greater part of her young life.

Aside from the fact that she was—and is—exceedingly attractive, and delightfully good, the daggled fitted her case precisely—until last night.

Now there is no personal application in the quatrain, for—last night—some one did marry her.

It was Harold Brooks Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Gardner of Meadowdale, N. Y., and New York City. The marriage was celebrated in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Besler, the bride's parents, at Plainfield, part of the thirty-fourth wedding anniversary of the elder Beslers.

Mr. Gardner was graduated from Union College in 1916 and during the war enlisted in the United States Engineering Corps of the 35th Division from Kansas City, where he lived.

Attending the bride last night were Elmer Everitt, New York, maid of honor, and Elizabeth Nathan and Claire Kenworthy, Plainfield, bridesmaids.

Mr. Gardner was graduated from Union College in 1916 and during the war enlisted in the United States Engineering Corps of the 35th Division from Kansas City, where he lived.

He is now with the Westinghouse Air Brake Company.

Patrolman Granzer Gets Gold Medal for Rescue of Three at Fire.

Police Day in Safety Week was observed by a parade of 1,000 of the Finest to-day from 42d Street up Fifth Avenue to 72d Street.

The parade was well policed and as the parade passed the extra men keeping order swung into the formation and continued with the procession.

At the Seventy-second Street entrance to the Park the parade turned off into the sheep meadow upon which has been erected the Children's Memorial, dedicated on Monday last.

Patrolman Albert Granzer of the Glendale, Queens, police station, there received the gold medal of the Safety Institute for the most heroic bit of life saving last year, in the opinion of the Institute's Committee on Award.

Granzer saved three lives at a fire in Glendale. His particular heroic deed was the saving of a six-year-old child where his own life was endangered.

DON'T HOP AUTOS. SAFETY WARNING

Children Told of Dangers From Stealing Rides.

The following Safety lesson is taught to-day in all schools of the city in connection with the Safety Week Campaign:

Jumping on a moving trolley car, automobile or wagon is dangerous.

Jumping off is also apt to cause you injury or death.

Stealing rides is dangerous fun.

MISS HELEN BESLER

MRS. GIBERSON PLACED ON TRIAL FOR N. J. MURDER

Accused of Slaying Husband, She Expresses Confidence of Acquittal.

TOMS RIVER, N. J., Oct. 11.—Mrs. Ivy Giberson of Lakewood, N. J., went on trial to-day on a charge of murdering her husband, William F. Giberson, in their home on Aug. 14.

It is commonly believed here that the State's case is weak and that an acquittal is likely to be the result of the trial unless the prosecution submits evidence which is not now a matter of general knowledge.

Mrs. Giberson was accused of the murder of her husband after she told the police he had entered the house while she was in the kitchen, having been ill and left her bed to get herself a remedy.

Mrs. Giberson, who has been imprisoned in the little County Jail here, got up at 7 o'clock this morning. She said to Deputy Sheriff A. S. Farr: "I slept like a log. I have nothing to worry about. I know I am innocent and I am confident that the jury will so decide."

Prosecutor Wilfred H. Jayne of Lakewood is in charge of the State's case. He is aided by a special assistant, former Judge M. L. Berry, of Tom's River.

Former Judge William Jeffrey and James M. Davis, both of Mount Holly, are attorneys for the defense. County Detective Ellis H. Parker of Burlington is expected to be the principal witness for the prosecution.

Before 7 o'clock this morning persons from Tom's River and all the surrounding country, particularly Lakewood, began to arrive in the hope of being admitted to the court room.

When Mrs. Giberson was taken from the jail the court room was filled with spectators, and several hundred who were unable to enter stood between the Courthouse and the jail to see the prisoner brought to the trial room.

Mrs. Giberson seemed comparatively cheerful when she came out of the jail in custody of Under Sheriff A. W. Brown Jr.

ICE CREAM, CAKE, LURE NIGHT SCHOOL PUPILS, SAYS WILAN

Mayor Charges Teachers With "Padding" Classes So They Can Hold Their Jobs.

Mayor Hyman charged to-day that night school teachers "pad" their classes during visits of examiners and inspectors from the Board of Education by enticing young people of the immediate neighborhood with offers of ice cream and cake.

Another method, he said, is a light-like system of shifting pupils from one class to another in anticipation of inspections.

The Mayor's charges, it was explained, grew out of reports that teachers who realize their classes would be wiped out because of small attendance resorted to this subterfuge to keep their jobs.

Frances Perkins, speaking for the Council for Immigrant Education, was appealing to the Board of Estimate for a small increase in the allowance of teachers of foreign born students when the Mayor made his attack.

Miss Perkins said some favored going to Albany for legislation, but that a majority of the council believed the Board of Estimate should be appealed to.

The sum of $165,000 was asked to increase the salaries of teachers in night schools from $2.90 to $5 a night.

Some of these teachers—many of them, in fact—also teach in the day, don't they?" asked the Mayor.

"And I understand they are trying to count this night work with the day work in arriving at their length of service for pension allowances. They certainly work in devious ways and by devious routes."

Miss Perkins made no comment on the Mayor's reflections on certain night school teachers, but said something about some of the foreigners not being able to read newspapers printed in English.

"It's a good thing they can't read some of the newspapers," said the Mayor.

The Mayor said many of the night school teachers seeking increases from $2.90 to $5 a night are probably receiving from $5 to $9 a day for their day services.

M'CORMACK BACK, HIS VOICE BETTER THAN IT EVER WAS

First Thing to Congratulate McGraw—Then to Register to Vote for Smith.

John McCormack returned from a long stay in Ireland, Scotland, England and France to-day, declaring his voice to be better than it was before the illness that sent him abroad for a rest and recuperation.

The tenor was one of 1,417 passengers aboard the White Star liner Olympic from Southampton and Cherbourg. During the voyage he took part in a concert which netted $1,000 for the Seamen's Charities.

Persons who attended the concert agreed that the singer's powers had been unimpaired by the throat trouble that so alarmed his admirers.

To prove his fine physical condition, John told of one day's hunting in Scotland when he walked thirty miles and shot two stags.

"I'm glad to be back home," he told newspaper men.

"The first thing I'm going to do to-day is to send congratulations to John McGraw for winning the World Series. Then I'm going to the registration booth nearest to my home at No. 275 Park Avenue and register, so I can cast my first vote in November."

"For whom will I vote? Al Smith, of course. I may not be a good Democrat, but I'm all for Al."

The tenor had not expected to resume concerts until mid-winter, but because of his great improvement, will make his first appearance Sunday night at the Hippodrome. He plans to return to Ireland for Christmas, when he will have a reunion with his children who are at school in England.

To show his appreciation for prayers for the return of his voice he will give a Thanksgiving concert for Archbishop Hayes and Curley before he leaves.

John Charles Thomas, American baritone, took part with McCormack in the concert aboard the Olympic. He has been studying abroad and made a successful tour in England and France. His American season begins Sunday night at Avolinn Hall.

Marie Doré, actress, back from a health cure in Germany, and Prof. I. Kiboyen of the Jewish College in Berlin, Dr. Felix Perles of Koenigsberg, Germany, authorities on Jewish literature and history, who will make a lecture tour here, were aboard the Olympic.

A. H. Woods, theatrical producer, and Lars Anderson, former American Minister to Belgium, also returned.

The Olympic arrived a day late. She was delayed by thick fogs off the Nantucket Banks.

$1,300 "HOLD-UP" IN "VILLAGE" FAKED BY ELY, IS THEORY

Police Believe Motive Was to Postpone Wedding to Greenwich Village Girl.

Police of the Charles Street Station, detailed to investigate the hold-up in Greenwich Village in which Seymour Ely yesterday claimed to have lost $1,300, to-day were working on the theory that Ely staged the robbery himself so as to postpone his marriage to a Village girl.

This theory was developed last night when communications were received from Yonkers and Middletown, Conn., inquiring if the Seymour Ely found bound in the Village was the youth of that name who, eighteen months ago, was found bound in his dormitory room at Wesleyan University, Middletown, badly beaten.

He had been accused of financial irregularities and the beating had been administered, it was said, with a canoe paddle.

Seymour Ely is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Ely of No. 66 Colgate Avenue, Yonkers. After receipt of the Yonkers and Middletown inquiries, detectives asked the father to come to the Charles Street Station last night.

He admitted, they say, that his son had been in a mix-up at Wesleyan University. His son, he said, had been a source of great worry to his mother and had a "great fondness for the time-light."

Investigations in Greenwich Village are alleged to have disclosed that young Ely had become engaged to a Village girl whom he was to have married next Sunday.

Police say that this girl had been told by him that his father was a man of wealth. He claimed, too, to have $1,500, which he had borrowed from a man named Pickhardt of Berlin, Conn., with which he was to buy furniture for an apartment.

With this information, and a statement from a man living at No. 156 Waverly Place, in front of which the supposed hold-up and robbery took

Rainbow, Story of Gold, Kiddies Vanish, Found, Girl Has Secret

Bessie Marder, Six, Won't Tell Why She and Her Younger Brother Left Jersey Home.

Bessie Marder, six, and her little brother, Jimmie, who still rides free because of his age, are back home in the Marder home, No. 24 Centre Street, New Durham, N. J., but the trip of the Marders to visit relatives in Poughkeepsie has been postponed for several days. Incidentally the great secret is still in the keeping of Bessie.

It was a long time ago that Mrs. Marder took Bessie on her lap and showed her a rainbow. Then she whispered she had a secret to tell her, that there was a pot of gold hung to the end of the rainbow and who-ever got there got the gold.

The Marders were preparing for the visit to Poughkeepsie. Ready to go, both children were missing. Mrs. Marder looked up in the sky and there was a rainbow. She connected the disappearance of the children, with it and the story. The police were informed. The pair were found a bit bedraggled in Bergenfield a few hours later. The police tried to get Bessie to tell them what she went away for but she refused and lapsed it was a secret and she wouldn't tell.

DENIES SUMMONS IN SERVANT'S SUIT

Woman Charging Beating Asks $10,000 Damages.

Denial by Edward Livermore Grout, No. 115 West 126th Street, that he was served with summons and complaint in a suit by a former servant, Elizabeth Winters, led to-day to the appointment of former Justice John W. Goff as referee.

The plaintiff demands $10,000, alleging that on Aug. 19 Mr. Grout bent her, chased her around the yard, and refused to allow her to re-enter the house.

Martin Barron, professional process server, said he effected personal service upon a man who was called to the door, and who slumped it after saying he was Grout. Grout denies he saw the paper.
