

GAS BRIEF CALLS COMPANY 'PIRATE' PROFIT SEEKERS

O'Brien Says Counsel Takes Unsportsmanlike Advantage of Desertion by P. S. C.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Resenting the reference by opposing counsel in the United States Supreme Court to Mayor Hylan as "our illustrious Mayor," who "seems determined to carry the war (against the New York gas companies) into Africa," and not to leave the ship until it sinks," Corporation Counsel O'Brien of New York has filed with the court a supplemental brief in the gas cases recently argued. He begs the "patience" of the court to consider it. Mr. O'Brien declared that the "defections" of the Public Service Commission and the Attorney General of New York in declining to further press the cases, had been taken unsportsmanlike advantage of by counsel for the "Consolidated Gas System."

"We represent more directly than any other public official," the Corporation Counsel stated, "the people who will win or lose by this litigation," adding that, "our lone ship has been some what battered and may be about to be sunk by the powerful fleet flying the skull and crossbones of the consolidated gas system." The brief referred to "the private captives" as "seeking profit from the diversion by the Public Service Commission and the Attorney General."

The brief presented in much detail an accounting by the Corporation Counsel of the operating expenses of the six subsidiary companies of the Consolidated, whose cases are pending before the court, the object being to impress upon the court that by the omission of certain items which the companies are asserted to have erroneously included the statutory gas rate would have returned them reasonable earnings during 1919 and 1920 and would not have been confiscatory.

HARDING RECEIVES OSPINA.

Colombian President-Elect Warmly Welcomed—Dines at White House.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Gen. Pedro Nel Ospina, President-elect of Colombia, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Helena Ospina, arrived yesterday from New York, was presented to President Harding by Secretary Hughes and last night was the guest of the President and Mrs. Harding at dinner at the White House.

At the station Gen. Ospina was met by Secretary Hughes, Gen. Fensholt, Admiral Coontz, Director General Rowe of the Pan-American Union and officials of the Colombian Legation, while a military band played the national anthem of Colombia. A squadron of cavalry escorted Gen. Ospina and his party to the Colombian Legation and later to the White House.

"The situation has so changed that the work planned for Mr. Clausen became unnecessary and he therefore tendered his resignation, which has been accepted," said Mr. Love.

GOLDEN RULE ONLY CURE FOR STRIKES, DECLARES NASH

Nine Hundred Employers Applaud Assertion of Ohio Manufacturer.

Nine hundred employers at a strike prevention meeting of the Economic Club in the Hotel Astor last night rose in tribute to Arthur Nash, a clothing manufacturer of Cincinnati, when he declared that the one and only remedy for labor troubles was the Golden Rule in business.

Recommendations by other speakers were courts of arbitration and conciliation, shop committee co-operation and the destruction of autocracy of either capital or labor. These other speakers were Edward A. Filene, President of William Filene Sons Company, Boston; Julius Henry Cohen, New York attorney; Alexander Irvine, a lecturer; Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Arctic explorer, and Randolph Bedford, member of the Queensland Legislature, the last two principal guests.

George W. Wickersham, President of the club, was Chairman. New officers of the club were announced as follows: William Church Osborn, President; Robert S. Lovett and Michael Friedsam, Vice Presidents, and Mr. Wickersham, Nicholas F. Brady, Paul D. Cravath, Otto H. Kahn and Dwight W. Morrow, members of the Executive Committee.

"I wonder if you men really want a panacea for strikes," said Mr. Nash. "The real disease we have to get rid of is doubt, lack of faith, mutual lack of confidence. Any law to prevent an outbreak of strikes, like an attempt to prevent an outbreak of measles, is detrimental to the patient itself."

Mr. Filene sees danger in the air—politically, socially and economically. Wages still have to be very much reduced, he said, and indications of trouble all over the world are at hand. He said men strike as a revolt against bossism. The present wage system he did not consider inflexible or final.

U. OF P. MASK AND WIG CLUB SHOWS TO CROWDED HOUSE.

Annual Extravaganza Is Traveled on "William Tell," at Metropolitan.

One of the most attractive audiences of this dramatic season last night attended the University of Pennsylvania's Mask and Wig Club annual musical comedy at the Metropolitan Opera House.

This thirty-fourth play of the series, entitled "Tall Tales," followed the general lines of its predecessors in a pictorial extravaganza. With original book and lyrics by students and alumni. The cast and chorus included about 100 undergraduates. Eighteen musical numbers by Charles S. Gilpin, including the specialty, "The Doggone Opera Blues," were sung, the Glee Club taking part in the chorus.

The plot was a travesty on the opera "William Tell." The following New York boys were included in the cast: J. M. Coward, Charles D. Connel, H. W. Brown, C. M. N. Killen Jr., Harry E. Ford, Thomas Hyatt, Robert D. Hamilton and M. F. Moore.

The committee in charge of the production included Frank A. Paul, Irving A. Chandler, L. F. Curtis, George L. Schelling, William G. Grove and Richard B. Ferris. Among those New York men holding boxes were Dr. Henry Galbraith Ward, the Rev. William J. Thompson, William A. Redding, William Guggenheim, Dr. G. W. Riley, George Wickersham, Lester Brion and David King Irwin.

The large crowd attending may be accounted for when it is known that of the 25,000 living alumni of the university 2,000 are residents of New York City and vicinity.
