

JAIL FOR SUFFRAGE PICKETS WHO LAID SIEGE TO PRESIDENT IN THE WHITE HOUSE

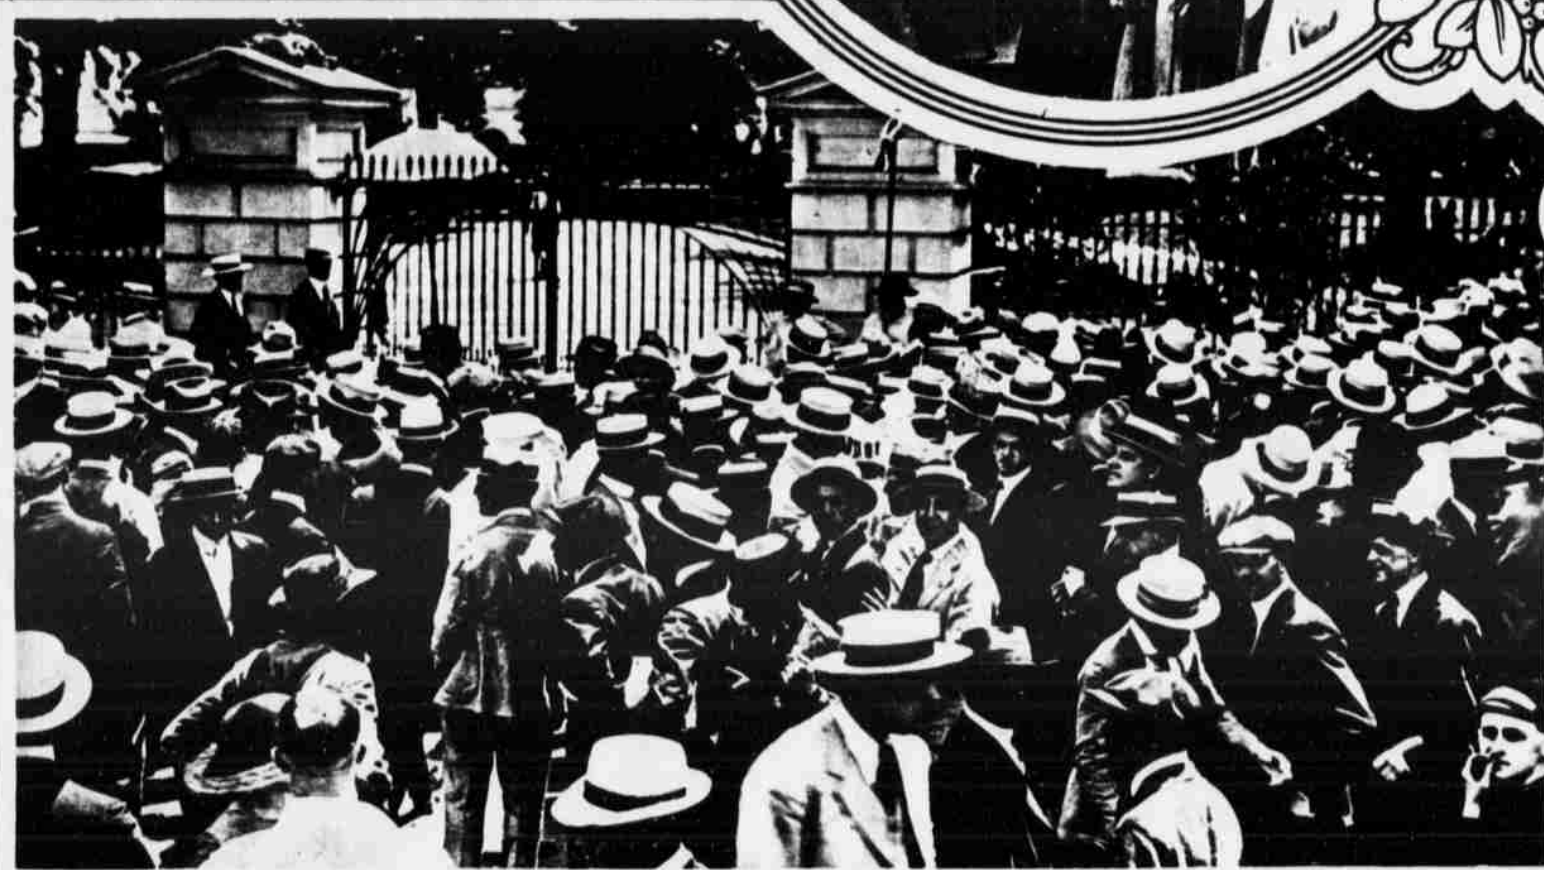

Washington policeman with confiscated suffrage banner and one of the fourteen pickets arrested outside the White House recently. Because of the inflammatory inscriptions on the flags trouble was had protecting the women. Photo Cinechst.

In circle—Lucy Burns of Brooklyn (at left) and Katharine Morey of Boston, two of the prominent pickets. Miss Morey got three days in jail for her pains.

Even before the objectionable banners were displayed the White House pickets were surrounded daily by mobs. This picture shows a policeman and detective guarding a banner bearer on her way to her self-appointed task. © International Film

Mobs that at times numbered 10,000 men and women assembled outside the White House. Strips of one of the banners torn down by the crowd flutter from the pole near the right gate post. © International Film.

Suffragette grasping at banner seized by policeman just outside the White House gates. Many of the women pickets were arrested. © International Film

Daring Girl Aids Red Cross Work by Flight From Buffalo to Washington, Scattering Appeals for Subscriptions

Katherine Stinson weighs 105 pounds, but she has brain and muscle of the fighting airman. Major Howard greeting her at Governors Island on one stage of her 670 mile flight.

© Underwood & Underwood.

