

JERSEY RACE ENDS; ALL CLAIM VICTORY

Seven Seeking Gubernatorial Nomination Confidently Await Tuesday Vote.

TRACTION IS BIG ISSUE

Bugbee Seems to Lead in G. O. P. Contest—Democrats Favor Edwards.

Special Despatch to The Sun. TRENTON, Sept. 20.—One of the hottest political primary campaigns in the State virtually came to a close to-day with seven candidates each expressing confidence that he will be nominated for Governor. The decision of the voters will be rendered at the primaries, Tuesday, but as the polls will remain open until 5 o'clock at night results will hardly be obtainable until the next day unless the contest in each party is a much more one-sided affair than present conditions indicate.

So many complications are involved in the bitter struggles in both parties that an accurate prediction of the outcome is unusually difficult. The situation as viewed by politicians generally seems to be that State Comptroller Newton A. K. Bugbee holds the whip hand in the Republican race and that State Senator Edward J. Edwards of Jersey City will capture the Democratic pennant. The success of Mr. Bugbee in the preliminary struggle is looked upon as more certain than that of Senator Edwards, who is now confronted by a strong undercurrent of sentiment in favor of James R. Nugent of Essex county.

The recent movement admittedly has been gaining strength rapidly during the last two weeks, and political leaders who a month ago could see nothing but the nomination of Senator Edwards are now warring to an extent that many of them are unwilling to admit. Mr. Nugent has made personal liberty his watchword from the outset of the campaign and the issue has proved a popular one to voters in each party.

Spectacular Features at Finish. Spectacular features have been added to the closing days of the campaign by the mob violence attending the operation of the zone fare system on Public Service lines which became effective last Sunday. Presentment in many quarters against the zone system has quickened the interest in public utility regulation as an issue and has prompted several of the seven candidates to declare strongly in favor of some change in the present system. This has taken the form largely of attacks upon the Public Utility Commission as now constituted, and more specifically upon the action in sanctioning the zone fare plan.

On the Republican side Warren C. Kink of Bound Brook has made public utility regulation almost the sole issue from the start of his campaign. The unpopularity of the zoning plan has given to Mr. King an opportunity of which he has been quick to avail himself, although with doubtful effect. Mr. Nugent, on the Democratic side, also has come out squarely against the zoning plan, this being practically his first declaration on any issue. Mr. Edwards had already made the subject one of his campaign planks and, like Mr. King, declared for an elective public utility regulatory commission.

Views at the various political headquarters as to the result of the primaries were as divergent to-day as they were in the West Hudson. The candidates in Essex and Hudson as well as the decisive battleground for both parties.

A striking example of the wide difference of opinion as to results was offered by the situation at the Edwards and Nugent headquarters. Mr. Edwards claimed that he would carry almost all the twenty-one counties in the State. Although not mentioning the two which he might lose, he clearly had in mind Essex and Passaic, the former the home county of Mr. Nugent and the latter one in which Mr. Nugent has admittedly a strong following. The Edwards forces claim majorities of 20,000 in Jersey City, 5,000 in Newark, 2,000 in Hudson and 4,500 in North Hudson, a total of 34,500, and a net majority of not less than 25,000 in the entire county. They would concede only 5,000 majority for Mr. Nugent in Essex county.

Claims Made by Nugent. As against these claims Mr. Nugent himself predicted that he would carry practically an even break with Mr. Edwards in Hudson and that Essex would give him not less than 10,000 or 12,000 plurality, with the probability of a higher figure being reached. The Nugent followers figure the Essex leader will cut into the Edwards vote in Jersey City and Hudson, that Mr. Nugent will have pluralities in the West Hudson towns such as Harrison, Kearny and East Newark, which, coupled with a considerable sentiment for him in the North Hudson cities, will reduce the Edwards' vaunted plurality in Hudson to a minimum.

Large pluralities are predicted by Mr. Nugent and his followers in Essex, Passaic and Union. Mr. Nugent also expects pluralities in the south Jersey counties and along the shore, where an active campaign has been made in his behalf. His friends to-day predict he will carry two non-counties, conceding only Hudson to Mr. Edwards.

At Bugbee headquarters the claim was made that Mr. Bugbee will carry the vote of about 30,000 in the West Hudson, 19,000 in the Republican side. Nineteen counties were claimed for Mr. Bugbee, the exceptions being Essex, where Thomas L. Raymond, former Mayor of Newark, is expected to head the list, and Union, the home county of Gov. William N. Runyon. The Bugbee followers concede to Mr. Raymond a plurality of not more than 3,500 in Essex and admit that Gov. Runyon will carry Union by from 4,000 to 4,500.

Estimates at the Bugbee headquarters give Mr. Bugbee the following pluralities in the various counties: Atlantic, 2,500; Bergen, 2,000; Burlington, 1,000; Camden, 4,000; Cape May, 500; Cumberland, 1,000; Gloucester, 1,000; Hudson, 4,000; Hunterdon, 500; Mercer, 7,000; Middlesex, 500; Monmouth, 1,500; Morris, 2,000; Ocean, 500; Passaic, 1,500; Salem, 500; Somerset, 500; Sussex, 500; Warren, 500. From the resulting total of 34,000 is deducted the 4,000 conceded to Gov. Runyon in Union upon the assumption that he will be the second man on the Republican ticket.

HARVARD REOPENS WITH OLD TEACHERS

Many Professors Served Government During War.

CAMBRIDGE, Sept. 20.—The opening of Harvard University next Monday will witness the return to their duties in Cambridge of practically all of the professors who have been absent during part or all of the last two years on war service. Those who have been recently away from the university and are now returning to resume their work under normal conditions again include Dean L. B. Briggs, Prof. F. W. Taussig, Dean C. H. Fiske, Dean C. A. Adams of the engineering school, and many other well known members of the teaching staff.

During the war the university, which sent more than 8,000 of its students and graduates to serve with the colors, responded also to the call of the Government for men of special qualifications and expert knowledge, and voted temporarily leave of absence to no less than 183 members of the instructive or administrative staff. Some of these men served in the army or navy, while others were engaged in executive or research work for the Government. These figures do not include the younger men on yearly appointments at the university who left in large numbers to enter the national service.

Now practically the entire teaching staff is back in Cambridge again. Dean LeBaron R. Briggs, who went to France last year as an exchange professor at the Sorbonne, will be once more in the office of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences at University Hall. Dean Charles H. Fiske, who served with the American Peace Commission and was particularly concerned with the difficult negotiations over the Saar Valley question, will be once more in active charge of the graduate school and will again give History 1, which, in recent years has been one of the most popular courses at Harvard.

Prof. F. W. Taussig, who for several years has been chairman of the United States Tariff Commission, has resigned his position in Washington and has come back to Harvard, where he will give various courses in economics. Archibald C. Coolidge, professor of history, who was with the Peace Commission, is also at Cambridge once more.

ENROLLMENTS UP 50 P. C.

Theological Seminaries Will Open the Coming Week.

Theological seminaries opening within the next few days report enrollments in many instances 50 per cent. above last year, and in some cases quite up to the number before the war. Union Seminary, which opens next Thursday, reports an experience which it regards as phenomenal. For the first time in its history it is charging tuition. Heretofore tuition has been free. This year it is $150. Yet registration exceeds all expectation, so it was said at the seminary yesterday, and some twenty different bodies and many States are represented. At the General Seminary, Chelsea Square, there is expected a 50 per cent. increase over last year, although the seminary curriculum is a transitional stage and a large enrollment is not encouraged. The changes are made to modernize the courses and to put them on a unit basis as in the case of colleges.

IS CERTAIN OF GOVERNORSHIP.

King Repeats Promise to Oust Jersey Utility Board.

Warren C. King, who wants to win the Republican nomination for Governor in New Jersey on Tuesday, has reiterated his promise to remove present members of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners in his State if he is elected. He declared before his campaign league in the Robert Treat Hotel in Newark last night that he was confident of nomination, election and the overwhelming success of the entire Republican ticket in November. He said in part:

"The people of New Jersey during the past week have had the opportunity of actual experience with the new trolley zone system, competently acquiesced in by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners at the instance of the Public Service Corporation. The system, with its extortionate rates and attendant inconveniences to the public, is the climax of a long series of outrageous practices on the part of the corporation affecting every man, woman and child in the State of New Jersey and which the Board of Public Utility Commissioners has either been powerless to prevent or has itself engendered."

Wingate, a veteran of the world war, and former Justice William D. Dickcy. After the speaking the guests went to the Nether Meadow and reviewed an exhibition drill by the Boy Scouts.

SANITY RETURNING TO BRITISH LABOR

Workingman Realizes His Destiny Is Linked With Welfare of Empire.

PRODUCTION HIS SLOGAN

Rolls-Royce President Sees Sound Business Conditions at Home.

The saner element in British labor is resuming control, according to Mr. Clyde Johnson, president of the great Rolls-Royce firm, who is in New York on a ten day visit. "Labor at home," he said in the Vanderbilt Hotel yesterday, "is coming to the realization that it is tied up with the destinies of England as a whole and that England's destinies depend upon one thing above all others—production. During the war British labor, in common with labor all over the continent, came to a realization of its power. For a time there was a tendency among certain radical elements to believe that they could get along alone, without the aid of capital. The wiser elements are beginning to see that it's not possible.

"This change has come but recently. We are by no means settled on a peace basis as yet, any more than you are here, or any place else. But we are coming to it in a very satisfactory way.

"Labor during the war realized the abuses under which it had lived. It got a grip on the power to remedy those abuses. And the abuses were very real. But we're in a way to remedy them, and labor is beginning to be satisfied that it will get its just deserts. Also, and this is the most important thing of all, labor is realizing that unless it produces there will be nothing for it to get deserts, just or otherwise, out of.

"There is one thing about which Mr. Johnson is inexpressibly proud. That is the part played by the Rolls-Royce engine in British aviation. "If your company keeping up its aviation activities in peace times," he was asked. "The London-Paris service," he replied, "is completely powered by Rolls-Royce and it runs with the regularity of a train, sometimes one and sometimes two planes each way a day with mail, light freight and passengers. We are specializing on the goods and mail, however, and letting the passenger business develop of itself."

Mr. Johnson evinced great interest in the progress of the Lawson air liner which has just started on its transatlantic trip from Roosevelt Field with its first stop in Washington. The directing head of one of England's most important motor works is confident of the generally sound condition of business in England. "Capital is ready to invest," he said. "Any man who'll get out a decent prospectus can get all the money he wants."
