STORMING OF PORT ARTHUR HAS BEGUN

Continuous Cannonading Heard, and There Are Persistent Rumors that Attack on Russian Stronghold in the Far East Is Now in Progress.

Japanese General in Official Report Says 4,304 of His Officers and Men Were Killed and Wounded at Nanshan Hill.

LIAOYANG, June 3.—There are persistent rumors that another great battle is in progress near Port Arthur. Continuous cannonading has been heard from the south.

CHEFOO, June 3-4.30 P. M.-Steamers which have arrived here from Newchwang report that firing in the vicinity of Port Arthur was heard last night. They saw only two Japanese cruisers.

Chinese junks have reached this port from the Cha River, west of Takushan, and report that the Japanese have captured two Russian officers and forty soldiers disguised as Japanese.

BATTLES ALL ALONG LINE.

MUKDEN, June 3 .- For two days past rumors have been current of were fighting on the Liaotung Peninsula. Details are lacking, but the fact that fighting has been general throughout the peninsula is officially ad-

The Russians have pushed their outposts south to Wanfengtien, on the railroad, while the Japanese occupy the country from the shores of Corea Bay inland to the vicinity of Siuyen. The fact that a Japanese army estimated to number 50,000 men is concentrated south of Kinchou is regarded here as indicating the region where decisive battle will be fought.

RUSSIANS CHANGE THEIR PLANS.

PARIS, June 3.—A despatch to the Temps from St. Petersburg says: "? appears that the Russian relief column of 30,000 men mobilized for the suc eer of Port Arthur has abandoned its project, owing to the fall of Kinghou and the landing of Japanese reinforcements."

IAPANESE LOSS WAS 4.304.

TOKIO, June 3, 6.30 P. M.—The total of the Japanese casualties at the battle of Nanshan Hill, on May 26, is 4,304. They are divided as follows: Thirty-one officers, including one major and five sergeant majors, and 713 non-commissioned officers and men killed; 100 officers, including one colonel, one major and twelve sergeant majors, and 3,460 non-commissioned officers and men wounded.

50,000 MORE JAPANESE TROOPS ARE LANDED

LONDON. June 3-It is reported that another Japanese army of 50,000 men has been landed at Takushan, Manchuris, and is moving toward the interior. There are now more than 200,000 Japanese troops in Manchuria and on Liaotung Peninsula, while transport after transport, laden with troops, leave the west coast of Japan every day.

The new army will undoubtedly be sent to reinforce forces, which are advancing on the main Russian position in Manchuria. On Liaotung Peninsula the Japanese have about all the men they can

During the charge on the Russian position at Kinchou there was a little room for the Japanese soldiers to deploy that a portion of the infantry had to stand in the sea

JAPANESE ADVANCE NOT RESISTED.

Continual skirmishes are reported between the Russian and Japanese outposts in Manchuria. The Russians are not making any determined stand again the Japanese advance, figuring that the further the Japanese get from the coast the harder becomes the problem of conveying subsistence, while the Russian forces at the same time are closer to their base at Harbin, and have the advantage of an open railway behind them.

There is no late news from the vicinity of Port Arthur. Preparations for the investment of the stronghold by the Japanese are going on, and it is supposed that the Russian forces on the peninsula have all withdrawn

RUSSIANS LOST 730 IN KINCHOU BATTLE.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 3-5.35 P. M.-The Russian losses in the fighting at Kinchov are officially stated to be 30 officers and 700 men killed or wounded. These figures were given in Gen. Stoessel's report, which has reached the War Office. It is dated May 28. The method of its transmission to Viceroy Alexieff is not disclosed, but it is presumed it was taken by a Chinese junk to Newchwang. Evidently it was written under stress, as it was hastily pencilled.

The account says the attack began May 21 and culminated on the evening of May 26. The real fighting was practically confined to May 25 and May 26, the Japanese remaining quiet the two previous days. Gen. Stoessel reports that owing to the absence of the support of the warships against the Japanese artillery fire, at the time of the final assault on the Russian tectives on clearing up the Gotshal positions on Nanshan Hill during the evening of May 26 he at 8 o'clock gave the order to blow up the guns and retire.

PROMPT IN MAKING RETREAT.

The General explains that the order was only partfally executed, as the enemy's flank movements necessitated promptness in retreat, which he says was carried out with great coolness, thus accounting for the smallness of the Russian losses. Gen. Stoessel also says the enemy's losses must have run far into the thousands, the Japanese mortality in storming Nanshan Hill being frightful.

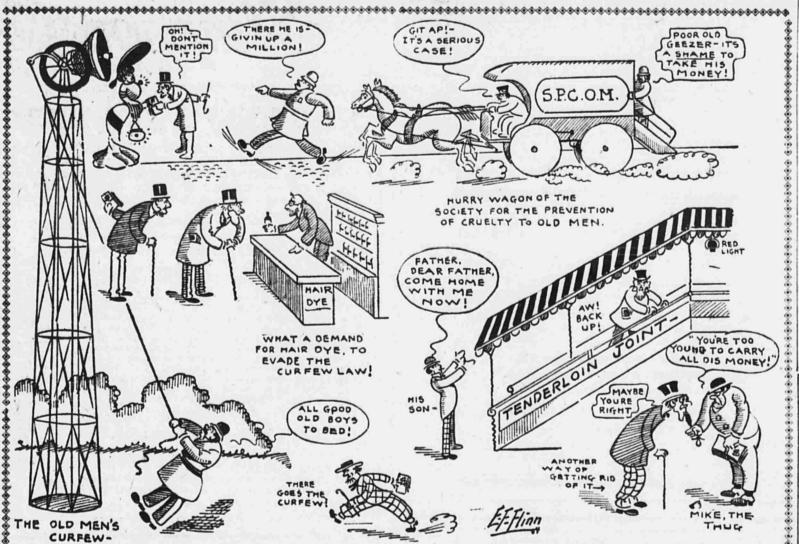

Gen. Stoessel pays a high tribute to the Russian troops and refers in terms of warmest praise to the skill and courage displayed by Gen. Fock, whom he recommends for the St. George's Cross. He does not mention that Brooklyn, of pneumonia, in his seventy- in making. Fock was wounded, from which the General Staff assumes that the report to this effect was untrue. As Gen. Stoessel specially praises a regiment which was not in Gen

Fock's division, the General Staff concludes therefrom that five regiments, or about 12,000 men, were engaged on the Russian side.

Wedding Bells Are Ringing.

This is the month of roses and rings-roses to delight the eyes of the wedding guests and plain seamless rings of gleaming gold for the brides' fingers. For almost thirty years the best workmen the LAMBERT factory could find have been fashioning seamless wedding rings of solid gold. No article of jewelry in our assortment is simpler or more significant. Our plain rings are of all the widths and styles allowed by custom, and they are all made to last until silver-haired couples celebrate golden weddings. Matrons whose daughters are wearing orange blossoms this month have worn our wedding rings constantly for many years and know how honestly and skilfully they are made.

Quality and workmanship guaranteed. No charge for engraving.

Graduation Gifts.

A visit to the LAMBERT store will dispose of the question of the graduation gifts and of other gifts as well. Sitting down and trying "to think of something to give" is hard and fruitless work. Let us show you a thousand bright suggestions for birthday, engagement, wedding, bon voyage and commencement gifts. The least of these will be a credit to your taste. The most elaborate is not high-priced, material and workmanship considered. We shall be happy to aid the June bridegroom to select gifts for the best man and the ushers. These three watches are especially commended for graduation gifts, and will do good service as long as class-day memories last:

The price of diamonds is away up, with no possibility of a drop. One of our firm made large purchases in Amsterdam before the last big advances. We imported the stones direct, as we always do. There being no middlemen's profit to pay, we sell diamonds at low prices, despite the state of the market. Our stock of Rings, Brooches, Links, Scarf Pins, Earrings, etc., is remarkable no less for its size and for the variety of original designs than for modest prices.
