

WOOD CHIEFS IN NEW CLASH OVER POLICY

General Himself Must Decide Between Procter and Hitchcock.

RECENT RESULTS CAUSE

Practicability of Forcing Fight in 'Native Son States' Issue in Dispute.

Frank H. Hitchcock and Col. William Cooper Procter, national directing heads of Major-General Leonard Wood's campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination, have clashed over the manner in which the campaign should be conducted to such an extent that the question of supremacy of command awaits the decision of Gen. Wood himself, according to authentic information available yesterday. Rumors that all was not well at the top of the Wood organization had been current for more than a week. Actual verification came yesterday in the shape of an informal admission at Wood headquarters in the Imperial Hotel that there appears to have been a "lack of contact or coordination" between Mr. Hitchcock and Col. Procter.

Both Col. Procter and Mr. Hitchcock refused to discuss the situation yesterday nor would any one else in the Wood camp stand sponsor for an explanation. It was made fairly clear, however, that the question of who is going to run the practical end of Gen. Wood's campaign would be settled before the end of the present week.

The rather unfavorable results of the Wood campaign in the middle West, particularly in Illinois and Michigan, are said to have precipitated the showdown. Mr. Hitchcock is known to have been averse to carrying the fight into States where there were favorite son campaigns. In this view he was opposed by Col. Procter. At any rate, the Wood people have carried their fight to favorite son States with more or less discouraging results.

Wood failed to do a great deal in Illinois, a favorite son State. Mr. Hitchcock thought not a favorite son State, apparently added nothing to the comfort of headquarters when it failed to yield anything. There are known to be those connected with the Wood campaign who think that a practical politician in full charge of the campaign would be an arrangement superior to a dual control system. Also there apparently is a desire to find who, if any, is to blame for the meagre showing in the middle West.

Col. Procter said yesterday that he would be glad to talk to reporters except for the fact that his time was limited by an important engagement. He added that he will give out a statement to-day, immediately after which he intends to depart for the West. Whether this trip is for the purpose of conferring with Gen. Wood he did not indicate. Gen. Wood is campaigning to-day in Ohio, another favorite son State.

Though Mr. Hitchcock would not discuss the matter, a friend who asked him about the reported rupture quoted him as saying that he had been working as hard as he could for Wood and that he expected to continue to do so.

Last night Wood headquarters made public the following telegram from Chillicothe, Ohio, where Gen. Wood spoke yesterday:

"Gen. Wood said to reporters here to-day: 'The report of withdrawal of Mr. Hitchcock from the Wood campaign is, so far as I know, entirely incorrect.'"

Further than the foregoing there was no definite indication of which of his lieutenants Gen. Wood may choose to put in supreme command, or that he will let either go from his organization.

Col. Procter was one of the first men to become prominently identified with the Wood boom. He was made chairman of the Leonard Wood League, which worked up the sentiment for the General's candidacy, and later became chairman of the Wood campaign committee. He holds both posts to-day.

The services of Mr. Hitchcock, also an ardent Wood supporter from the first, but perhaps not so conspicuous in Wood activities as Col. Procter, were commended soon after the campaign machinery had been assembled and set in motion. The relationship of Mr. Hitchcock to Col. Procter has been defined by persons closely affiliated with the campaign organization as "consulting engineer in things political and to keep Col. Procter informed."

This is the second big rupture in the Wood organization, the first, some months ago, having resulted in an understanding between John T. King and Col. Procter, whereby the former severed his connection with the Wood campaign headquarters.

The Wood forces are planning a daily speaking campaign in New Jersey from now until the primary next Tuesday. Wood's headquarters yesterday called attention to an editorial in the Chicago Journal, a labor union organ, for its stand against the efforts of radical elements to gain control of the unions.

WOOD AND WEBSTER ALONE.

Only Two Names on G. O. P. Primary Ballots in Vermont.

BURLINGTON, Vt., April 21.—The names of Gen. Leonard Wood and William Grant Webster of New York will be the only ones printed on the ballot in the Presidential preference primary in this State May 18. They are the only Republican candidates for whom petitions have been filed and who have given assent to the use of their names.

No Democratic candidates will appear on the ballot. A petition was filed for Henry Ford a short time ago, but his assent, which was necessary to make him a formal candidate, was not received by the Secretary of State.

Under the law the Presidential preference, as expressed at the primary, does not bind national convention delegates in any way.

For No Third Term Amendment.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Presidential third terms would be prohibited under a resolution introduced to-day by Representative Humphreys of Missouri, Mississippi, proposing a constitutional amendment limiting the tenure of any person as President to two terms.

disposition to turn to Lowden as the man on whom these forces can unite. The more Wood and Johnson are weakened by their fight in the primary States the more chance Lowden will have. There is also an undercurrent of discussion of Knox, who probably will look better to the Johnson forces than anybody else from the regular organization. Johnson is going to be a power in the convention, but he cannot be nominated.

Other expressions of Senators were: Pomerene (Ohio), Democrat: "I do not see anything decisive in either the Nebraska or Georgia primary. As I sense the situation from this distance, the contest in Nebraska resolved itself into a personal fight between Mr. Bryan and Senator Hitchcock. I do not believe the results indicate anything as to the nominee or the platform. In Georgia, I am advised that the contest there was also largely a personal one. Whatever the sentiment may be in those two States, it must be borne in mind that they are only two out of forty-eight and that the contests thus far have cleared the atmosphere as to candidates or as to issues. My information is that in nearly all of the States the dominant sentiment is to have the delegates go unfranchised both to the Democratic and Republican conventions. Never since I have been a voter has the situation been so confusing in both parties as it is now."

Chamberlain (Ore.), Democrat: "It doesn't strike me that the result in Nebraska, as between Senator Hitchcock and Mr. Bryan, is of any particular significance. No, it doesn't mean that there will be a wet plank in the San Francisco platform. It was a feud between two leaders, and one of them happened to be friendly to light wines and beer."

Senator Moses (N. H.), Southern manager for Gen. Wood: "I've only to say that, despite the fact that he didn't get the votes of all the Johnsons there, Hiram Johnson carried Nebraska."

JOHNSON CONTINUES LEAD IN NEBRASKA

Bryan Among First Four for Delegate at Large.

OMAHA, April 21.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson continued in the lead for the Republican Presidential preference as votes of the Tuesday primary were slowly received to-day by newspapers tabulating the returns. William J. Bryan had gained enough votes in the day's count to place him among the first four candidates for delegate at large to the San Francisco convention.

With less than one-half of the 1,849 precincts in the State reporting Senator Johnson had a good lead over Gen. Leonard Wood, his nearest competitor, with Gen. John J. Pershing third.

TEMPLE, Tex., April 21.—James E. Ferguson, former Governor of Texas, announced to-day his candidacy for President on the platform of the American party, organized at Fort Worth, Tex., last August by a faction of the Texas Democratic party.

In his announcement Mr. Ferguson expressed opposition to the League of Nations, national woman suffrage, national prohibition and compulsory military training. He declared in favor of light wines and beer until the "national prohibition amendment is repealed," promised recognition of the principle of trade unionism and pledged himself, if elected, to grant full pardon to Eugene V. On denouncing compulsory military training, he declared: "We need an army to take the corn field far more than an army to take the battlefield."

One of the Greatest Contributions to Business Progress

The assistant Cashier in a big eastern bank says: "A great improvement over the old style of filing. Recommend it for clearness and time saving qualities."

The collection manager of a well known national publication writes: "One clerk handles twice as many cards as she did under the old method."

A state official says: "Kardex enables us to refer instantly to any of our 16,000 records."

The following from the general sales manager of a big fuel supply company: "Much more convenient and capable of a rapidity of manipulation which would be impossible with the old card index system."

The purchasing agent of a well known New England concern, says: "We have 23 of your Kardex cabinets. Can safely recommend Kardex as a labor saving proposition and also as a saving of time in securing accurate records, available at a glance."

KARDEX means even more than just the highest standard of efficiency in record keeping. Like the telephone, the typewriter, the adding machine, dictating machine and addressing machine, Kardex has come to be recognized as one of the most important and necessary factors in the conduct of modern business.

Any place records are kept Kardex can be applied with beneficial results—in the office, factory, store, bank, institution, etc.

Kardex keeps the important data on every card record in plain sight always, it does away with the time wasting "hunt and search" card-in-box method that necessitates the handling of a dozen or more cards to find one. In Kardex your eye instantly locates the card you want, one finger exposes it fully. You refer to or make entry on either front or back without removing the card. That does away entirely with the possibility of mis-filed or lost cards.

In comparison with the card-in-box method, Kardex saves from 50% to 75% of time in record keeping. It increases the efficiency of records anywhere from 200% to 300%. Your present record cards can be used in Kardex. It is a simple thing to take your cards out of drawers and boxes and put every one of them in plain sight in Kardex.

Don't wait for the Kardex representative to seek you out. Telephone for a Kardex demonstration. There's no obligation.
