ST. LOUIS WINS HANDILY.

BROOKLYNS UNABLE TO HIT POWELL'S EFFECTIVE PITCHING.

Pitchers Outplays New York—Boston Loses to Chicago and the Philadelphias, Who Subdue the Clevelands Again, Take Second Place—Rain Prevents Other Games.

The St. Louis team defeated the Brooklyns with comparative ease yesterday, which reduced the lead of Hanlon's men to 5½ points. The Philadelphias moved into second place by virtue of their third straight victory over the Cleveland tail-enders and Boston's defeat at the hands of the Chicagos. The New Yorks were summarily defeated by the Pittsburgs. Rain prevented the games at Baltimore and Washington. The results:

At St. Louis, 8; Brooklyn, 2.
At Pittsburg, 9; New York, 5.
At Philadelphia, 5; Cleveland, 1.
At Chicago, 9; Boston, 4.
At Baltimore—Rain.
At Washington—Rain.

ST. LOUIS, 8; BROOKLYN, 2.

John Powell, who is one of the coolest pitchers in the League, had the crack Brooklyns at his mercy all yesterday afternoon at Washington Park. He did his work so well that sixteen batsmen went out on fly balls, which is an unusual occurrence. The St. Louis team played a beautiful fielding game behind Powell, the only runs scored by the Brooklyns being directly attributable to two bases on balls. Heidrick, the former Paterson player, was a factor in Brooklyn's downfall because of his brilliant batting. He pulled in three hard drives, and made two great throws which cut off runners just at the right time. Wallace and Cross also captured some sharp smashes in splendid style. Burkett's batting was a treat, his timely single in the seventh sending Pitcher Hughes up for a temporary trip through space.

Hughes was reasonably effective except in the seventh inning. With the score 2 to 1 in Brooklyn's favor, the visitors exploded a bomb from which six runs escaped. Tebeau, first up, started the rally with a single and McKean sacrificed. Blake received a base on balls, and when Powell scratched a hit to Daly the bags were covered. This was the opportunity for Burkett and he promptly sent in two runners with a spanking single to centre. Heidrick flied to Dahlen, and the cranks hoped that the end was near. But Hughes was unsteady and handed four balls to Wallace, Cross sent a sharp grounder to Dahlen, who missed it, and as Kelley juggled it, too, both Powell and Burkett scored. McKean followed with a heavy base hit over second, which sent home Wallace and Cross, while the crowd groaned. Tebeau was third out on a nip to Anderson.

In Brooklyn's half Casey started off with a single, but foolishly tried to steal second before Grim had a chance to hit the ball. The nudget was nipped so easily that it took the starch out of the other hitters, who were nervous themselves up for a rally. Again in the eighth poor judgment in base running killed off another chance for runs and made some of the rooters go homeward. With nobody out, Jones took his base on balls and Keeler flied to Wallace. Jones was forced at second and Kelley was implored to knock the ball over the fence. Carr, Joe rapped the ball so far over Heidrick's head that he could not catch it, but he knocked it down with one hand and made a long, lightning throw to McKean. Kelley was on his way to third, but seeing that the ball he sought had not been caught back McKean threw to Tebeau and the latter tried to run Kelley down. Then Jones made a break for the plate and Tebeau got him by a mile. Dahlen sent a long foul to Burkett and the inning finally was ended. Kelley was handicapped by the cranks for taking too big a chance after reaching first, but it was really Heidrick's remarkable handling of the drive which under ordinary circumstances would have been good for two bases that caused the mix-up.

As Jennings complained of the dryness in his arm again, Hanlon was compelled to go back to the old arrangement of Casey at third base and Dahlen at short field. Casey got a warm reception from the crowd, and, barring his unsteadiness, mentioned above, played a neat game. He threw Wallace out at first and took three difficult chances in clever style. Dahlen, Daly and Anderson did well, too, while Keeler and Jones hauled in several long swipes. The visitors surprised the crowd by behaving rather decently. They refrained from their usual bulldozing tactics except on two occasions when Tebeau broke loose. Criger, who was put off the grounds by Umpire Emslie on Wednesday, was as meek as a lamb. He also caught finely. The score:

PITTSBURG, 9; NEW YORK, 5.

During the first four innings of yesterday's game played at the Polo Grounds neither team was able to score. Seymour made a determined effort to keep pace with Tannehill, but as soon as the Pittsburgs broke the string of ciphers in the fifth inning the Albany southpaw began to sulky. It was in the seventh inning that Cy went up in the air. With two out, Donovan hit an easy bounder to Gettig, who, although having plenty of time to complete the play, without taking accurate aim threw the ball five feet over Doyle's head, and Jack ran around to third. At this point Seymour lost his nerve and apparently did not try very hard to check the following batters. With no increase of speed to the balls, the visiting players took kindly to Seymour's delivery and the ball went flying to various parts of the outfield. A base on balls, three singles and Williams's terrific drive to the left-field ropes netting four runs. With a lead of six runs the game looked safe for Donovan's men, but by good stick work and bowerman's high throw to third the locals tallied five runs in the seventh and eighth innings, thereby reducing the Pittsburgs' lead to one run. Allen's hopes of a victory for the New Yorks vanished in the ninth, when, with two out, Seymour, after muffing Doyle's easy throw at first base, picked up the ball and threw it high and wide of the plate, allowing Bowerman and Ely to score. Still sulking, Seymour followed with a wild pitch and O'Brien came in. Gleason had an off day both in batting and fielding. The score:

Boston, July 13.—The Chicagos had an easy time with the champions to-day and won on their great batting. Lewis proving a mark. Garvin, Chicago's new pitcher, proved a puzzle to the Bostons, except in the seventh, when he was batted for four runs. The score:

SHAKE-UP IN THE BROOKLYNS.

McGuire Secured for Smith and McGann—Grim to Be Released—Jennings for Wagner.

The Brooklyn Club has decided to strengthen its team, with the result that Hanlon closed a deal yesterday for the celebrated catcher, McGuire, of the Washington team. For this star's services Hanlon was compelled to give up two excellent players. He proposed an exchange of First Baseman McGann and Catcher Grim for McGuire, but Manager Irwin would not make the trade unless he got catcher Alexander Smith, the "Broadway Fashion Plate," instead of Grim. Irwin, who has been anxious to secure Smith for several years, held out so obstinately that Hanlon was finally compelled to yield. He wanted McGuire badly and had to let Smith go or throw the deal over. Hanlon said last night that he did not want to trade Smith off, but it was a matter of business and the Washington Club was able to dictate to him. Smith took the news to heart and declared that he would not go to Washington at all. He said he had nothing against Irwin and Wagner, but he did not care to leave this city, where he is interested in private business which is said to be profitable. McGann made no protest and left for Washington last night, where he was introduced as a first baseman by Irwin in 1897, and was traded to Baltimore last year along with Dammeyer, Quinville and McJames in exchange for Doyle, Reitz and Amole. McGuire has been regarded at various times as the best catcher in the League. Cincinnati offered $5,000 for him last winter, but it was refused. He has been with the Washington team so long that he wanted a change, and said so. As Irwin has Kittridge he could afford to dispense with McGuire, at the same time getting Smith. By the terms of the deal each club takes its chances with the players. That is to say, McGuire is now the property of the Brooklyn Club whether Smith goes to Washington or not. Hanlon says there was no money paid to Wagner on the side. With Farrell and McGuire the Brooklyns are better equipped behind the bat than any other team in the League.

The next move will be made by Hanlon to-day, when McGuire reports, this morning, as he has been ordered to do, a ten days' notice of release will be handed to Catcher Grim, who has been with the Brooklyns for eight years. Grim's arm has been troubling him, but he caught and threw well in yesterday's game. Hanlon believes it would be well to give him a chance to sign where he pleases rather than keep him on the payroll to sit on the bench. Casey, who is a fine catcher, will be retained despite rumors to the contrary, as he can be used both behind the bat and as a utility player. Hanlon admitted that he was trying to exchange Jennings for Hans Wagner, the Louisville third baseman. Jennings says the climate here makes it impossible for him to get back the use of his arm, and wants to be sent to some city where hot weather prevails all through the season. Dreyfuss of Louisville has been conferring with Von der Horst in Baltimore for the past two days regarding the deal. It is understood that the Brooklyn Club will be willing to pay a good-sized bonus in addition to Jennings if Wagner is on the market. Von der Horst would say that Fred Clarke, the Louisville manager, is blocking the deal. Hanlon says he has no idea of releasing any of his pitchers.

Essex County League Disbands.

The Essex County League disbanded on July 10. The clubs failed to live up to the rules and regulations and it was thought best to go out of business.

Each club put up $10 entrance fee, and this was to have been donated at the end of the season to the clubs finishing first, second and third. The money was returned to the several organizations. The standing of the clubs at the finish follows:

Lasker May Visit New York as Guest of the Manhattan C. C.

On Tuesday last some prominent members of the Manhattan Chess Club were engaged in a conversation about the advisability of engaging the world's champion, Lasker, for a month at the club in the fall, and a reporter of THE SUN was asked to ascertain by cable the terms under which Lasker would be willing to fulfil a month's engagement at the club. THE SUN correspondent in London was therefore instructed to consult Lasker on the subject in question and a reply was received yesterday. When a copy of the despatch containing the terms and propositions given by Lasker was shown to some of the directors and influential members of the club, it was thought that the terms were rather high. Still every every effort will be made to raise the required sum. It must be added that Lasker would engage in playing serious games against the principal players of the club, that he would give several blindfold and simultaneous exhibitions, that he intends to lecture on the principal openings and on the style of the various masters, &c.

Polo.

HEMPSTEAD, July 13.—Rockaway and Westchester played lively polo this afternoon on the Cedarhurst grounds. Rockaway, with Keene and Cowdin, won out, but only after a hard-fought battle. The game was the semi-final for the Cedarhurst challenge cups. The Rockaways led from start to finish, and although the team work was not up to the standard the individual plays of Keene and Cowdin won the match. The score: Rockaway, 8¾; Westchester, 7¾.

KILLASHANDRA AGAIN.

SYDNEY PAGET'S FILLY TAKES THE WINGED FOOT HANDICAP.

Favorites Very Successful Over a Heavy Track at Brighton Beach—Bannockburn Carries Top Weight to the Front in a Canter—Briar Sweet Again in Form.

When horsemen reached Brighton Beach course yesterday the track was so heavy from the downpour of the previous night that upsets and surprises of all kinds were anticipated. The weather had been so consistently good since the season opened that the regulars were unable to find any "mud form" recent enough to be reliable, and they began so shyly that the bookmakers, who were in the same doubtful frame of mind, offered unusually liberal prices against horses that would be rubbed off the slates under normal conditions. The results were startling, as five legitimate favorites scored in succession, while the closing race went to a horse that should have been first choice. The weather was pleasant, and the attendance was again above the average.

Most interest was aroused by the Winged Foot Stakes, a handicap for two-year-olds at five furlongs. All of the seven eligibles named overnight accepted and Vulcain and Prince of Melbourne opened favorites at 2 to 1. Killashandra being quoted at 5 to 2. A steady stream of money on Sydney Paget's grand filly forced her price to 7 to 5, while Vulcain's odds were also cut a point, leaving Prince of Melbourne only third choice at post time. Of the outsiders Gonfalon attracted quite a following until the odds against him tumbled from 30 to 1 to 12 to 1. Clawson took Killashandra to the front soon after flagfall and she literally ran away from her field, winning easily by two lengths from Prince of Melbourne, who beat Vulcain four lengths for the place. Killashandra's time was remarkable in view of the conditions, as it tied the track record made by Matauza on July 30 of last year.

Only three horses went to the post for the opening event, a handicap at one mile for three-year-olds and upward. Bannockburn and George Keene opened and closed at 7 to 5 and 9 to 5 respectively, while Swiftmas was played from 3 to 1 to 13 to 5. Pat Dunne's colt looked like a 1 to 4 shot, but his heavy impost was regarded as an anchor in the going. George Keene's conduct was worse than ever at the barrier, and he finally wrecked the webbing. Then he beat the flag a trifle, and went away in front like a wild horse. Bannockburn nailed him in the stretch, however, and it was all over, the top weight winning, pulled up to a canter, by a length.

Persistent play on Star Chime and Flower of Gold at 3 to 1 enabled backers of Prejudice to secure almost as much against J. W. Colt's smart filly in the second race. Lady Uncas, one of the outsiders, furnished a scare by tinseling her field until nearing the field stand. Then O'Leary let Prejudice down and she came away like a streak, winning easily at the end by a length and a half. Briar Sweet had only two opponents in the one-mile race for all ages, and they turned out to be only nominal ones at that, the Sir Modred—Sweet Briar filly running a race by herself and in front and coming home on the bit with a length and a half to spare. She was only moderately supported at 2 to 5, the talent appearing to think that she would not run in the mud. As it turned out, however, she could probably have taken a slice off the 1:42 hung up on the track.

Kirkwood made it five straight for favorite players by beating his rival three-year-olds cleverly in the selling event at one mile and a sixteenth, and the last race went to intrusive in a drive after his price had skyrocketed from 2 to 1 to 6 to 1, due to a stampede on Oliver Mc., Imperator, Tamor, and The Dauphin in turn. The Dauphin ran away a quarter of a mile; Imperator, as usual, went out and died in front, and Innovator outstayed the others. The Meddler colt won by a length, Tamor, Lady Lindsey and Buela following heads apart. The summary:
