

FOR PRESIDENT, BENJAMIN HARRISON OF INDIANA

FOR VICE PRESIDENT, LEVI P. MORTON OF NEW YORK

J. Poujade takes charge of the Record with this issue and will edit it until the return of the proprietor from Salt Lake.

LET US REJOICE

Three of the Indiana White Caps have been shot. It is hoped that they will die of their wounds. We do not ordinarily rejoice at blood letting; but in this instance we are happy. The beings called White Caps are things disgracing the form of man who propose to look after the morals—not of themselves, for they have none, but of their neighbors. Their last beastly action was an attack by twenty-five armed males on a poor widow and her daughter. The two women were taken from their home absolutely naked and lashed with whips till they swooned from the loss of blood. The lying brutes claimed that these females were not pure enough for their standard. In attempting in their cowardly, irresponsible way to spread the news they ran across what appears to be an extraordinary thing in some eastern states, a real man. This man had three friends who also were real men. These four poured a heaven-directed volley into the gang of twenty-five. True to their natural instincts the latter at once fled, though they were well armed and had just been firing at a decent man. They bore away three of their number wounded. If ever there were such things as blessed bullets they were these that struck the three White Caps. Yet after all it might be best that they should not die thus. They would be most appropriate ornaments to a rope.

WHAT BEER MATTER

Our Storey County democratic exchanges are insisting that their readers should encourage the manufacture of home-made beer, by calling for it in preference to that imported from California. We agree with them. They are making a good fight. Why not patronize your neighbors? When you help your neighbor you help yourself. He may spend a dollar with you occasionally. There is a possibility in that direction. But the California brewer will never, by any possibility, come to Virginia City to hire a carpenter or a blacksmith, nor to buy his groceries. He produces nothing in this State. He pays no taxes to help support the schools at which our children are educated, he is of no moral or material value to the community. Drink home made beer by all means. But why do our brethren draw the line at beer? Should we not apply the same principle to all the products of the United States as against those of foreign countries? If not, why not? We are Nevadans, but still more we are Americans. Now brothers you are right on the beer question. Just take the same logical view of the tariff issue and march into the Republican ranks.

The Pahranagat Valley people are to make another effort to get increased mail service. The weight of mail received there was ascertained for the last three trips and averaged 60 pounds per trip. It has been about the same for many months past. The Record is with the dwellers in the Valley. It proposes to keep pushing with them until something gives way.

In the death of R. S. Clapp the world has lost a brave good man, Nevada a statesman, and Lincoln County a good friend. He had many admirers and friends, and like all decent men some enemies. The latter were compelled at least to respect him. He was worthy of all the admiration that was bestowed upon him.

Contentment is the pearl of price.

In San Francisco July 21, William Henderson, a colored man, convicted of outraging his stepdaughter, Francis Drake, aged 15, was sentenced to twenty years in Folsom. Henderson was tried for a similar offense at Reno, some months ago, but the jury failed to agree and the prisoner was released upon his own recognizance.

The Yamhill Reporter (Or.) man noticed on his way from Portland home the other day a hardy farmer's wife manipulating a scythe under the broiling sun, while in a corner of the fence her baby was taking it easy in a baby-buggy. The woman would give the buggy a shake every once in a while, then resume her cutting. Peanuts against apples that woman will never starve.

A Horrible Inheritance. The transmission of the fearful effects of contagious blood poison is the most horrible inheritance which any man can leave to his innocent posterity; but it can be certainly mitigated and in the majority of cases, prevented by the use of the antidote which Nature furnishes, and which is found in the remedy known all over the world as Swift's Specific—commonly called "S. S. S."

Mr. J. H. Brown, of Hornellsville, N. Y., writes: "Three years I suffered with this horrible disease. Swift's Specific cured me completely."

D. W. K. Briggs, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "I was a perfect wreck from Blood Poison. Swift's Specific restored health and hope, and I am well today."

C. W. Langull, Savannah, Ga., I suffered long with Blood Poison. I tried Swift's Specific and am perfectly well.

A. W. Eichel, of Fowler's Hotel, Rochester, N. Y., writes: "It is the best blood remedy on earth. I cured myself with it. I recommended it to a friend and it made him well."

Mr. F. L. Stanton, of the Smithville, (Ga.) News, writes that a friend was afflicted with a case of Blood Poison, and two bottles of S. S. S. effected a complete cure.

According to Professor Sargent, the strongest wood in the United States is that of the nutmeg hickory of Arkansas region, and the weakest the West Indian birch. The most elastic is the tamarack, the white or shell-bark hickory standing far below it. The least elastic, and the lowest in specific gravity, is wood of the ficus aurea. The highest specific gravity upon which in general depends value as fuel, is attained by the bluewood of Texas.
