

U. S. SENATOR FROM CALIFORNIA.

The Chronicle names the following gentlemen as candidates for United States Senator:
Republican - Newton Booth of Sacramento, John H. Felton of Alameda, Gen. John P. Miller of Napa, Jesse O. Goodwin of Yuba, James McAllister Shafter of Marin, John Bidwell of Butte, Timothy Guy Phelps of San Mateo, Donald C. McKee of San Francisco, S. O. Houghton of Santa Clara, Thomas H. Shannon of San Francisco, Cornelius Cole of Santa Cruz, J. M. Cavis of San Joaquin, John W. Dwinelle of Alameda, and W. H. L. Barnes of California.

Democrats - Eugene Cassery, William T. Waller, Joseph P. Hoge of San Francisco, E. Lewis of Tehama, Henry H. Haight of Alameda, William T. Coleman of Marin, A. H. Rose of Amador, James F. Farley of Amador, N. Greene Curtis of Sacramento, William Wirt Pennington of Napa, William Irwin of Siskiyou, William M. Gwin of San Francisco, John S. Hager of San Francisco, Samuel M. Wilson of San Francisco.

of the Republican aspirants the present Governor of California is first named; he has never held public office before; is a successful merchant, and a man of fair ability. Felton is an able lawyer, a son-in-law of Judge Geo. Baldwin, and has long aspired to a seat in the Senate. General Miller obtained his title by service during the late war, and was subsequently appointed Collector of the Port of San Francisco. Goodwin has served in the Senate of California for several sessions, and is not without experience in legislative affairs. Shafter is a brother of the late Judge Shafter; is a man of great wealth; has been in the State Senate, and presided over the High Court of Impeachment by which James H. Hardy was removed from the office of District Judge. Bidwell, Phelps, McKee and Shannon have each represented California in the Lower House of Congress. Houghton is a sitting member, having been re-elected last year. Cole has served a term of two years in the House and six years in the Senate. Cavis has been Judge of the Fifth Judicial District. Dwinelle has served a term or more in the Assembly, and is a lawyer by profession. Barnes is regarded as a very able criminal lawyer.

Among the Democrats who would like to wear the Senatorial toga, the first named is Cassery, the present incumbent; he is a lawyer, and has been connected with several newspaper enterprises as editor; was State Printer of California in 1851. Wallace is one of the first lawyers on the Pacific coast, in 1855 he was elected Attorney General of California on the ticket with J. Neely Johnson for Governor; in 1867 his name was brought before the Democratic State Convention for Justice of the Supreme Court, but he was defeated for the nomination by Royal T. Sprague; in 1868 he was candidate for Elector on the Seymour and Blair ticket, and he made an active canvass of the State; in 1869 he was chosen a Justice of the Supreme Court, and subsequently became Chief Justice; he was candidate for the Senate in 1867, but failed to obtain the caucus nomination. Hoge is an ex-member of Congress from Illinois; has practiced with great success at the bar of San Francisco for the past twenty years; has been Chairman of the State Committee several times; has been a member of different State Conventions, and has presided over the deliberations of these bodies on more than one occasion. Lewis is the Senator from Tehama; ran for Lieutenant Governor two years ago and was defeated; he is a self-made man, and possesses ability of no ordinary order. Haight is a lawyer; was elected Governor in 1867, and was defeated for re-election in 1871. Coleman is a successful merchant, and is distinguished as having been Chairman of the Executive Committee of Vigilance in San Francisco in 1856. Rose is an ex-Senator from Amador; has made a fortune in mining operations; was before the Legislative Caucus in 1867, when Cassery was nominated for United States Senator. Farley was once Speaker of the Assembly, and afterwards Senator from Amador. Curtis is a lawyer of great ability, and has acquired reputation especially in criminal cases; he defended Mrs. Fair, on her final trial, and secured her acquittal; he was Senator from Sacramento in 1867, and in the Democratic caucus voted for Rose as the nominee for United States Senator, while Rose voted for Curtis. Pennington is the Napa Senator; he possesses high powers of oratory and his literary attainments are of the first order. Irwin is an ex-Senator from Siskiyou, and that is all we can say of him. Gwin is so well known as a former Senator from California that it would be a work as supererogatory to say who he is; he has talents which would adorn the highest station; he has made a fortune in the mines of Calaveras. Hager was a District Judge in San Francisco, and afterwards State Senator. Wilson has never held public office in California, but is a keen observer of passing events and well versed in the politics of the country; he is an estimable gentleman; has practiced law in San Francisco for twenty years, and acquired not only a fortune, but the reputation of being one of the best general lawyers in the State.

Two elections will be held in California this year: The first being the general election, to be held on Wednesday, the 3d day of September, at which election 21 Senators (including one to fill a vacancy caused by the death of a hold-over Senator) are to be elected, and 80 members of the 19th hold-over Senators are to be elected; and on December 1st, when the Legislature will assemble in December, and upon which body will devolve the duty of electing a successor to Senator Cassery, will consist of 120 members—61 being necessary to elect a Senator. The Republicans will have 13 to start with, leaving that party 48 Senators and Assemblymen to elect at the ballot box; while the Democrats, with but six hold-over Senators, will have to elect 66 to secure the Senatorial prize.

The contest is now raging with a relentlessness and fury never exceeded in California. The Republican party is rent in twain by internal dissensions which are beyond reconciliation, at least for the present. One wing of the party favors the pretensions of George C. Gorham for United States Senator, and is backed by the Sacramento Record and the railroad interest. The other wing with the Sacramento Union as its mouth-piece at the State Capital, supports Governor Booth's aspirations for the Senate. The Democrats are united, and have not committed the indiscretion of getting into a wrangle over the Senatorship during the campaign, being content to capture the Legislature, if possible, and then elect their Senatorial candidate in caucus.

In October a special judicial election will be held, at which will be elected one or more Justices of the Supreme Court and District Judges of the Sixth and other Districts. The general election takes precedence, however, in time and in public interest.

"We Give It Up"—The Eureka Sentinel grows warm over a conundrum received from Pioche, and in an item bearing the caption quoted, goes on to say:

We received by express last night from Pioche a conundrum which we are compelled to give up. We can read turkey tracks, but this beats us. We submitted it in turn to all the experts in town, and each of these, without exception, threw up the sponge. Colonel Bell said it was a fee simple of Hillhouse's penmanship, and straightway we made for Hill; but Bell said: "Anybody who would write such d—n stuff that ought to be hung." No living mortal, we are willing to bet, can decipher those hieroglyphics, nor is it possible to solve the profound mystery which envelopes the signature of the author. It may be Jones, or it may be Smith, or it may be both for ought we know to the contrary, yet the indications seem to justify the presumption that it is neither. One line of the letter seems to read: "You have got the say on us." Perhaps so; and the probabilities are that if we have we will endeavor to keep it. Better try it again young man, whoever you are, and perhaps we may be able the next time to discover what this sign.

San Francisco, July 11. General Thos. N. Carmean died last night at his residence in this city after a short illness.

To-morrow the United States Commissioner will render a decision in the case of Captain Lewis and J. P. Henry, of the ship Crusader, accused of manslaughter.

As was supposed would be the case the primary election resulted in the success of the "Railroad" Carr, Sargent combination by a large majority.

The result of the taxpayers committee's operation will probably be made known to-night.

A committee of the Board of Supervisors and Mechanics Deliberative Assembly last night adopted final resolutions relative to a training ship in this harbor. They request Senator Sargent to apply for some naval vessel from the Government. It seemed to be the opinion of several not to ask for the ship California, as they thought it was too large, but a resolution was finally adopted giving that vessel the preference.

Fort Klamath, Ore., via Yreka, Cal., July 11. The Military Commission for the trial of the Medocs met here on the 6th inst., and concluded their labors yesterday at 11 o'clock in the morning. The Commission is entitled to every consideration for the impartiality and latitude shown to the prisoners during the trial. Evidence for the prosecution of a most positive character was adduced, leaving no doubt in the minds of those who listened to the evidence, of the guilt of the prisoners arraigned. The only witnesses produced for the defense were Sear Faced Charley, Dave, One-eyed Mose and William. Their evidence amounted to nothing in favor of the prisoner. It was simply a recital of what the Klamath Lake Indians had done, and told them, Medocs, since this trouble commenced. The only testimony produced by the prosecution which was of no value was that Mr. Ryan, Indian agent of the Klamath Reservation. He could swear to nothing positive, except that he accompanied General Canby and the Peace Commissioners to the council tent on the 11th of April. No doubt exists in minds of those who listened to the trial but that the Commission have found them guilty of the charges and specifications for which they were tried. Soldiers and citizens of this place took a lively interest in the trial. The prisoners were very attentive, and seemed to rely upon the justice of the Commission.

Marysville, Cal., July 11. An unsuccessful attempt was made this afternoon, about 3 o'clock, to rob the banking houses of Decker & Jewett. One of the robbers, named Frank Whipple, entered the bank and walked deliberately to Mr. Jewett, who stood at the desk just inside the counter, and presented a pistol at him, saying, "Don't you move." Mr. Jewett instantly dropped on his hands and knees, at the same time making his way to a small enclosure where the Clerk, Mr. Bingham, was engaged. Whipple immediately leaped over the counter, followed Jewett. On hearing the alarm Bingham drew his pistol, and as the two entered the enclosure, fired. It shot Whipple in the back of the neck. A general light ensued, Whipple striking Bingham on the head with a pistol, cutting a severe gash and felling him to the floor. He also struck Jewett on the head, but with little effect. Several shots were fired within the enclosure. Whipple finding the place too hot for him, started to run, when Jewett and Bingham grasped double-barreled shotguns and fired simultaneously. Passing out at the front door Whipple fell on the sidewalk, mortally wounded, and crying, "Don't shoot, I've got enough, give me some water." He was taken to jail and gave the names of his accomplices as John Tony and W. P. Winkly, alias Dutch Bill. One of the others followed Whipple into the bank and as nothing was seen of him after his first entrance it is supposed he thought it too hot and left on horseback.

San Francisco, July 11. The panel of grand jurors was completed to-day. The Court appointed J. R. Bolton as foreman. The Harbor Commissioner bonds will probably come before them.

The Commissioners for revising the new Code hold sessions daily, assisted by District and other Judges. It consists of Judges Field, Temple and Dwinelle.

The Republican County Committee met to-night to canvass the returns of the primary election. The Convention holds its first session to-morrow.

Meigs & Co. have contracted with the Southern Pacific Railroad Company to ship from this port to Wilmington, 6,000 tons of railroad iron, 25,000 ties and 150,000 feet of heavy lumber. Six vessels have gone north to ship to the same port the remainder of the 180,000 contracted for.
