

MORNING APPEAL.

THURSDAY.....FEBRUARY 28, 1878

PENCIL SCRATCHES.

Dr. M. R. Chamblin, one of the pioneers physicians of Austin and Eureka was in the city yesterday. The Doctor has many friends here.

Business is picking up in the north end of the city; one new store opened yesterday, and the carpenters are putting in the fixtures of another.

No bullion from the south.

The lightning train does not go by Vallejo now. The road at that end is blockaded, or rather washed out on account of the floods. On the arrival of our train at Sacramento it connects with one on the Western division, making as nearly as possible the time of the old Stockton accommodation train. Returning leaves San Francisco via Oakland at the usual time.

The improvements over at the Capitol continue to improve. The floor of the rotunda is completed around the new room to correspond with the one in the main library, and the doors have been extended ceilingward to secure communication between the upper levels.

We announce it with fear and trembling, that the mud is drying up on Carson street.

The boys of the Carson Guards are busy getting up the Color Guard in good shape. Had a rehearsal at the Justice's office last evening.

John W. Mackay and A. Sutro were among the passengers for San Francisco last evening.

We regret to learn that Mrs. L. Nightingill is still quite ill. Her many friends will be pained to learn of the fact. Trust soon to be able to chronicle her recovery.

The morning train was a little late this morning. Delay on the Central end again.

Mrs. Crews formerly of this city was married in Eureka the other day.

BILLS OF FARE.

Our strong suit, (if we may be indulged in the expression), is the printing of bills of fare. To speak after the manner of the profane and gamblesome, we beat the deck on bills of fare. As to price, that is a mere secondary consideration.

INQUEST.

Last evening Coroner Kersey summoned a jury consisting of Joseph Mason, D. H. Lentz, E. David, Chas Harris, P. B. Ellis, and Moses Chaplin to decide upon the cause of the death of Daniel Feeny. After viewing the remains, they repaired to the District Court room where witnesses were examined. From the testimony of the conductor of the construction train, it was shown that the train was cut in these different pieces. Two brakes were set on the standing cars and two on those coming down. By the concussion, one of the brakes on the standing cars was thrown off, which caused them to move. They were at the time about three quarters of a mile this side of the tunnel and the engine was not attached. The physicians thought upon their first examination that the wounds (mentioned in our last issue) would prove fatal. Mr. King was examined as to the speed of trains and regulations of the road. After consultation the Jury rendered the following verdict: "The deceased Daniel Feeny came to his death, by being run over by the cars of the V. & T. R. R. Co. and we consider it purely accidental and find no blame to be attached to any person or persons."

JOB WORK.

The MORNING APPEAL establishment is prepared to perform job work at rates a long way below the prices which obtained in the earlier and purer days of the Republic.

MORE EXCITEMENT was manifested and a greater crowd of interested spectators was called together on Carson street, over the unkind trick of a hoodlum, who ought to have been born a coolie, than any preacher in town can gather in church on a Sunday morning. This cruel youth amused himself and his appreciative audience by tying an oyster can to the narrative of a little dog, about the size of his foot, to the yelping pup's great annoyance. The poodle was fortunate enough to dislodge the incumbrance, before running half a block, much to the disgust of the spectators. This sort of thing is very elevating in its nature, and ought to be encouraged in order to give the innocent hoodlum occupation. Mr. Bergh ought to have a chance at characters who possess such a lively genius and healthy imagination.

ABOUT THE WEATHER.—Since the many and great changes in the weather of late, everybody wishes that Charley Friend would resume his accustomed role of "old probabilities." We believe Charles shut down because the weather sharps didn't put up. A record of the weather and all that sort of thing is handy to have around. We expect that arrangements will shortly be made where by the one eyed telescope will be placed in the observatory and the chalk record appear on the black board again, to gladden the eye and cheer the heart of the weather hunter, and give people a chance to rub the mud from their rubber boots in time for the next storm.

ONE OF THEM.

We met a gentleman from Washington the other day who said Congressman Wren told the following in one of our State Officials. The said Official was coming up on a sleeper from San Francisco. There were but few passengers in the car. Among them was an old gentleman about 80 years of age, having an impediment in his speech. He noticed the Official and with great difficulty made his way across the car to his seat and accosted him thus: "D-Do you ever p-p-play cards for p-pleasure?" "No, sir," was the reply, "I never play cards at all." "I'm sorry," continued the old gentleman "I'm an old m-man t-traveling r-round the world, t-trying to g-get a little c-comfort in my d-declining years. I wish I could get some one to p-play with m-me, to while away an hour in this d-doll car. I would consider it a g-great favor." The representative of the people, being a polite and affable gentleman, said, "Well, sir, if I can be of any service to you in making your trip any more attractive it will give me great pleasure to accommodate you, but I play so indifferently that I hardly expect to amuse you. I wish for your sake, sir, it were otherwise." The old gentleman accepted the situation with the terse remark, "Euchre is m-my g-game, what is yours?" "Well, I guess I can worry through a game or two." They got out a table and commenced. The State officer won ten consecutive games and let the ancient traveler win one. The latter said not a word, but gathered up the cards after his single victory and returned to the end of the car to wash his hands. Our hero was very near the station at which he was to disembark, and allowed his companion into the retiring room. He had been to San Francisco on State business and was in possession of a number of twenties. Wishing again to engage the traveler in conversation, and to prevent such a cold, informal parting between new made friends, he went down into his pocket, brought up a handful of gold, and tapping the old gentleman on the shoulder said, in his most seductive tones, "Look here, my friend, wouldn't you like to play a little game for a small ante?" That man who had traveled round the world, had seen sharpers of every nation, turned upon him a look of the greatest disdain and replied, "I've b-b-been a thinking you were one of th-them fellows, all along!"

BILL HEADS.

The MORNING APPEAL office (which is provided with the most extensive assortment of book and job material in Nevada), will print bill heads, on the finest and best of paper as cheaply as they can be procured in Sacramento.

JUSTICE COURT.—The Temple of justice was opened in full form yesterday at two p. m. Mr. D. Dick was placed in the prisoner's dock. It appearing from the complaint that Mr. Dick had been disturbing the peace of the Sovereign State of Nevada, County of Ormsby aforesaid, by causing great howls to proceed from his throat, lying in the streets intoxicated and being otherwise obnoxious and unruly, on account of which he had during the night previous been languishing in the calaboose. He was asked if he wished to make any statement in his own behalf. Not being represented by counsel he remarked "Yes, me trade one bottle for two rabbits up Virginia. I swallow him only two swallows and make me dead drunk. Then lose one hat, one blanket!" "Only two swallows!" incredulously queried the Court, "Yas," added Dick "I give him rest of bottle to my friend I guess maybe three four Injuns dam drunk up Virginia yet." No further defense being presented the judgment of the Court was that Richard should be boarded at the expense of the County for ten days and work it out on the streets.

We acknowledge the receipt of a copy of the annual report of the State Controller for 1877. It is carefully prepared, and shows sixteen exhibits of the various funds, and presents the State finances in a healthy condition. In statement M, by an error in the type the cash in the State Treasury Dec. 31, 1877, is reported to be $333,809.81. It should be, as per the books of the office, $337,799.81. With the exception of this trifling mistake, the report will be found to be correct in all its parts. It make a very neat little pamphlet. The work was executed by J. J. Hill, State Printer.

DANIEL FEENY, the unfortunate man who was so severely injured on the railroad on Monday last passed away on yesterday morning about 11 o'clock. He bore his intense suffering with great fortitude until death came to his relief. He will be buried from the Carson Exchange this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

POSTERS.

The MORNING APPEAL job office is better prepared to print posters, handbills and doggers than any establishment between San Francisco and Omaha. Come and inquire the prices.

C. B. LUCE, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Office upstairs, over Willis' Drug Store.
CARSON CITY, NEVADA.

DANCING CLASS.

We are to have another pleasant little set of Saturday evening Soirees as will be seen under the head of "New advertisements." The passion for dancing, notwithstanding the "Dance of Death," seems to be on the increase. There will no doubt be many who will be glad to take advantage of the instructions given. Prof. Jacobson is well qualified to put the scholar through the facings and lead the willing feet up the steps. The music, which will be furnished by Louis Jacobson, J. P. Meder, P. Spargo, C. W. Friend and C. Hill will of course be excellent. The names are so well known that the mention of them is a sufficient guarantee of the quality of the music. We predict a great rush and advise all who wish to learn to apply early.

BUSINESS CARDS.

The MORNING APPEAL job office will print professional and business cards at rates ridiculously low. Even spinsters and children get unweaned cry for them!

FAST FREIGHT LINE.—Franklin, the old pioneer fast freighter, who has been successfully running lines in the eastern part of the State, started in yesterday between this city and Eureka. He has put on a six horse team (Grant is the driver), which went out heavily loaded. Most of the freight was marked Willis Martin. Franklin says as soon as the roads are in shape he will double up his stock and wagons and run on regular schedule time. This line will be a great convenience and we wish it success.

ORDINANCE NO. 52.

An Ordinance in relation to opening, closing, and altering alleys in Carson City.
SECTION 1. When a majority of the owners representing a majority of the real estate in value in any block of land in said city shall join in a written request to the Board of Trustees of said city to have opened the alley in such block, in case an alley were originally laid out in such block, the Board of Trustees will make an order that such alley be opened.
SEC. 2. When all of the owners representing all of the real estate in any block of land in said city shall join in a written request to have the alley in such block closed the Board of Trustees will make an order that such alley be closed.
SEC. 3. When the health, comfort or convenience of the inhabitants of Carson City, or any portion of them, shall require that the alley in any block of land in said city (provided an alley were originally laid out in such block) be opened or altered, the Board of Trustees may, upon the written request of one or more residents of said city, or upon the recommendation of the Street Inspector, or upon its own motion, in its discretion make an order that such alley be opened or altered as the necessities of the case may require.
SEC. 4. All orders of the Board of Trustees made pursuant to this Ordinance, shall, if necessary and when so ordered by the Board of Trustees, be executed by the City Marshal or by the street Inspector.
SEC. 5. Ordinance No. 10, entitled "An Ordinance in relation to opening and closing alleys in Carson City," adopted April 28, 1875, and all other ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict with this ordinance, are hereby repealed.
Approved February 26, 1878.
Attest: D. A. BENDER, President pro tem.
ALFRED HELM, Clerk.

PHARMACEUTICAL.

The Town is healthy. The sanitary condition is all that the most fastidious of the medical profession could desire. This, we are informed, is owing to the purity of the drugs, medicines, fancy articles, perfumery, powder, pomatum, and peculiar article of improved pills furnished by O. Potchery Willis, at the old stand opposite the Capitol, and at the corner of King and Carson streets; which, it is generally understood, every one understands where it is, and it is only necessary to keep up the general run of the healthy condition of the general nervous system, or any other system, to keep on patronizing Willis. Everything in the drug line can be procured at the shortest notice and on the most reasonable terms.

SHIPPING TAGS.

If there is any one thing that the MORNING APPEAL can do better than another, it is to print, at the most preposterously low rates, the shipping tags so much needed by the mercantile community.
