IMPURE BREATH.

Among all the disagreeable consequences that follow the decay of the teeth, an impure breath must be the most mortifying and unpleasant to its possessor, and it is the most inexcusable and offensive in society; and yet the cause of it may easily be removed by cleansing your teeth daily with that justly popular dentifrice, Fragrant SOZODONT. It purifies and sweetens the breath, cools and refreshes the mouth, and gives a pearl-like appearance to the teeth. Gentlemen who indulge in smoking should cleanse their teeth with SOZODONT, as it removes all unpleasant odors of the weed. Ask your druggist for it.

CIRCULATING LIBRARY.—The Rooms of the Ladies' Circulating Library and Reading Room, on Carson street, next door north of Savings Bank, are open every day from 2 to half past 4 p. m., and from half past 6 to 9 each evening. The payment of fifty cents per month entitles each member to all the privileges of the Library. The reading public are invited to visit these rooms and avail themselves of their advantages. oc16 1m

OLD THEATER SALOON.—John Quincy Adams Moore's Hall is now the headquarters of the Republicans of Ormsby county, and his saloon will continue to administer to the wants of the thirsty on all occasions. Although his liquors are unequalled in Nevada, he still maintains the old price, one bit a drink.

ELECTRIC BELTS.—Thaxter has some genuine electric belts for sale, which, in a few weeks transformed, a consumptive into a prize fighter.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

BUNDLING THE DEAD INTO TRENCHES—WORK FOR THE CORONER AND HISTORIAN.

Now that the smoke of battle has cleared away the Republican voters of Nevada are engaged lugging away their wounded and burying their dead while heaping maledictions upon the head of the infamous traitor who, under the guise of a Senatorial candidacy, led the army into the ambush from whence Col. Fair and his men were enabled to open an enfilading fire of coin upon the ranks with a demoralizing effect already recorded.

THE DEATH OF DAGGETT.

Rollin M. Daggett was found lying stiff and stark near the Base Range, killed by Cassidy and Jim Fair, who hacked him to pieces early in the fight and left the mutilated remains upon the field. Sharon and D. O. Mills sent these men to their work and it was the coin of the C. P. Railroad Company that helped to bear the brave soldier to earth. With him the people have lost another bulwark of defence which they reared to stand between them and the exorbitant freight tariffs of the Central Pacific monopoly. Looking upon his remains we recall the observation which the King made over the body of Falstaff: "I might have better spared a better man."

BEATLY ASSAULTED FROM FRONT AND REAR.

No knight ever rode into battle with better armor, cleaner plume or more enviable record than Judge Beatty. To find his body under a heap of dead was the greatest surprise of all. Every henchman of Fair had received orders to concentrate upon Beatty. The sack was mightier than the sword, but we still believe had he not received a foul stab in the back from one of his own associates he would have brought his colors into camp. Sharon is not the only traitor in the Republican party. We can bury the dead with no additional honors than to point to sixteen years of an incorruptible course upon the Bench, and we mistake the temper of the troops who marched under his banner if they do not avenge his cowardly taking off.

THE ORMSBY OBSEQUIES.

In Ormsby we are allowed to buckle to the congenial task of putting deceased Democrats under the political sod. There lies the heap of slain headed by the gallant Kittrell, a hot blooded fighter from the South; game clean through, but a corpse all the same. A theological thump on the head sent him to grass. Plant him where he fell and never forget that his fight was a fair one from the beginning. We have seen worse soldiers die that old Kit. Jacob Klein, Harry Day and Sam Longbaugh were all struck with the same shot and can be tumbled into the same trench. It is rumored that Fair left them with a slim supply of ammunition and voters. Old Farmer Treadway lies the most calamitous corpse of all and it will require a coroner to find his remains. Bring out the Coffin and start up the Dead March. Tread lightly everybody. Take Cavanaugh's remains to his baker's oven for a scientific cremation. Put the epitaph over Soderberg that he told the truth. Of all the Democratic dead Judge was the hardest of the enemy to kill, and for a while it was a grave question as to whether he were dead at all. But he now lies defunct beyond redemption; and no fresh count will ever be able to galvanize the remains. The rest of the slain material are hardly worthy of mention; they graced the tail end of the ticket and went down in the general rush for life. They can be dumped into the same trench hole.

THE SHARONIAN CORPSE.

Here lies a man whose death no one regrets. It is a pity that he was allowed to fall in battle when he should have been shot as a spy on the lot. A more crushed and mangled lot of political remains never strewn a field. Let the carrier rot, and so say we all.

A MURDEROUS RAT.—Messrs Cagwin and Allen have quite a stock of canary birds which they suspend in cages hung from a wire. One wire stretches across the store from the tops of the shelves and holds four bird cages, each suspended from the main wire by another. Yesterday morning when the clerks came to the store they found a mass of feathers on the floor, the cages empty and traces of blood upon the wire. A horrible tragedy had been committed. They traced the track of the murderer until they found the half devoured bodies of the four birds upon one of the shelves. It was quite evident that a rat had committed the deed. He must have crawled along the wire and then slid down the smaller wires and dragged the birds through the cages. There was blood and feathers sticking to the sides of the cages where the birds had been dragged through. The songsters were worth $5 apiece. How a rat manages to walk a wire like a tight rope performer is a mystery, as the whisking of his tail from side to side would seem quite sufficient to throw him off his balance. Those who claim to be familiar with the habits of the rat say that he walks under the wire, hanging with his claws and winding his tail about the wire. This is the probable explanation. The owners of the birds put poison on the remains and to-day the murderous rodent may pay the penalty of his crimes.

Mr. Allen, of the firm of Cagwin & Allen, will go to San Francisco in a day or so to order a stock of new goods for the holidays. Those wishing to order of him can do so between now and the 11th instant.

NOT A NONDESCRIBT.—The Enterprise has a description of a curious animal which is occasionally seen in Virginia City. "It appears," says the Enterprise, "to be some kind of flying reptile. It has a body shaped like that of a crab, some sixteen inches in breadth. From this strange body hang down four legs about two feet in length and as thick as an ordinary walking stick. Nothing in the shape of wings is to be seen, nor is there any flapping as of wings. This creature sails through the air, with its legs hanging down quite motionless, and appears to move without the slightest exertion of any of the the known kinds of flying apparatus. Since first observed it has passed northward regularly every morning about eight o'clock and southward every evening shortly after sundown. It flies over the town at about the height of the International Hotel and moves about as fast as a dove or pigeon. It is of a dark color, but not black." The above is not a nondescript at all but a creature occasionally seen in the Sierras and high latitudes and called an "air walker" by the wood choppers. When camping in the mountains some months ago the writer saw one flying over Falling Leaf Lake, and it had the appearance described by the Enterprise, that is in a modified form, and was hardly what an unimaginative person would call a crab. At first the writer was considerably astonished, but noticed that it came to earth and lit on a log. He killed the animal with a shot gun and found that it had wings but of so transparent a material that when they were in motion it is not strange that they should not be discernible, provided the creature was sufficiently high above the spectator. The wings, in fact, were almost like those of a fly, and about ten inches long. The body was remarkably light, almost like a cork. The charge of shot so mangled the body that it was not worth much as a specimen, but what was left was placed in a jar of alcohol and can be seen at Yank's station. The wood choppers about the lake to whom the specimen was shown did not consider it much of a rarity and one took a contract to furnish an "air walker" alive, but has failed so far to do so.

WANTS A NEW COUNT.—We hope that the friends of Mr. Judge will not insist on a new count. There has been considerable talk of one on the ground that several straight Republican tickets with Judge's name on were counted for Hatch, and that tickets with Judge's name pasted on were counted for Hatch. If Mr. Judge wants a fresh count he is entitled to it; the man beaten several hundred majority by James Fraser can have one if he wants it. The clerks were all competent men, and it is idle to think that any ticket with Judge's name on could have been counted for Hatch. As far as the pasters were concerned we have heard of but three pasters found in the box, and they were counted out as the law directs. Only one was pasted over Hatch's name. The law against pasters was passed six years ago, and a man who is such an ass as to use one has not enough sense to vote anyhow. We do not believe a new count would change the result.

THE RETURNS.—The Ormsby county papers continue to publish the election returns, and so far no two of the three have agreed. Neither our two contemporaries nor ourselves have yet succeeded in publishing a correct list. In justice to our neighbors, who got the last whack at it, we will say that theirs were more correct than ours. These infernal figures make us weary, and now the world looks like a multiplication table at a masquerade ball. We have made a clean sweep, except where a sorehead Independent—may the flames devour him—was endorsed by the Democrats. We like Mr. Turner from a personal and social standpoint, and that is why we regret to lose him, but in future he will lie we trust in the trundle-bed the Democrats made for him.

FAIR AND FESTIVAL.—The ladies of the Episcopal Church, at a meeting held Friday, October 4, determined to hold a fair and festival at the Opera House on the 9th and 10th of January next.

Mrs. Hyde, Secretary.

LECTURE.—Mrs. P. W. Stephens will lecture in a trance state at the Court House on Sunday evening, beginning at 7 o'clock. The subject will be chosen by the audience and all persons desirous of testing the truth of spiritualism are invited to be present.

KERSEY'S VOTE.—Kersey, running for Assessor, got 601 votes, an ominous number, which probably means that if he assesses property holders too high he will be run out of town by that famous organization. His majority was 132.

A New York paper says that Bernhard left her little son at Home, but does not say when she proposes to have nother. Times please copy.

GOT THE REWARD.—Officers Powers and Duncan got the reward yesterday for the capture of Whitford. It was $125 for the two.

TAXES.—County taxes will become delinquent after the 15th.

If Garfield gets in, George Hill will be collector of the Port of Empire, with Sam Longbaugh Deputy.

A nurse girl wanted. Apply care of APPEAL office.

SHARON'S PICTURES AT A DISCOUNT.—Yesterday Mr. Gilhooley's attention was called to the fact that a fine lithograph portrait of Sharon, printed some years ago by the News Letter for $250, was hanging behind the bar. Gilhooley scratched his head a moment and thought that such a portrait might as they say, "hoodoo" the business, he took down the treasurable picture, demolished the glass with a bung starter and cast it into the stove. For several days past Sharon's picture has been gradually disappearing from the walls of saloons, and even the few which have hung in private dwellings have been removed for common decencies sake, by good Republicans.

THE ONLY JOB OFFICE.—The Appeal is the only newspaper in Carson which has a job office attached. Political job printing made a specialty. This announcement is made to let the public know that any other newspaper office in Carson which takes orders for job work is obliged to send it to Virginia City or Reno to be filled, thereby causing a delay to the patron of two days and the risk of typographical inaccuracies which could be corrected if printed at home.

TO THE LADIES.—Mrs. Temple, of Reno Nevada, has received a fine assortment of the famous Union suits of merino for ladies and children, and is prepared to sell them at prices to accommodate the times. Call at her place, on Virginia street, and inspect the goods, before sending your money out of the State. spl7m
