IMPURE BREATH.

Among all the disagreeable consequences that follow the decay of the teeth, an impure breath must be the most mortifying and unpleasant to its possessor, and it is the most inexcusable and offensive in society; and yet the cause of it may easily be removed by cleansing your teeth daily with that justly popular dentifrice, Fragrant SOZODONT.

MINERS, ATTENTION!—Mrs. Dr. How's celebrated Neuralgia Medicine will stop pain as soon as applied. Do not suffer; try it. Do not have your teeth drawn. Get a bottle of Mrs. Dr. Howe's celebrated Toothache Cure. That will instantly stop the pain and save the tooth.

THE OLD HEADQUARTERS.—This prime old resort of the law makers, connubiators and lovers of the pure old genuine is still commanding the front place. It is the only resort in Carson where genuine tea-kettle whisky and old New England rum can be produced when called for.

SMALLPOX.—Dr. L. A. Herrick, of this city, has constantly on hand a fresh supply of Bovine Virus, right from the heifer propagated at Sacramento, Cal. The Doctor will, from now on, keep this virus in sufficient quantity to supply physicians and families.

GLOVE FACTORY.—M. W. Hodkins, at the Glove Depot opposite the Arlington House, keeps constantly on hand a full line of gent's, ladies' and children's gloves of every variety. Wholesale and retail at San Francisco prices.

Boarder.—"Is that genuine butter." Carson Landlady.—"Yes, indeed; I'll take my oath on it." Boarder.—"Then for heaven's sake bring me some oleomargarine."

A couple of weeks ago a tramp printer stopped at the APPEAL office to apply for a situation. He was furnished with temporary employment which enabled him to secure a few nights lodgings and meals to match. He was a printer who a few weeks ago had been one of the eighteen proprietors of the Daily Globe which recently suspended in San Francisco; and gave a full description of its inside workings and management, under a pledge of secrecy and a promise that no use should be made of the information until he had reached Salt Lake where he now is.

THE JOURNALISTIC VENTURE. was founded by the printers who refused some months ago to accept a reduction of wages on the Chronicle. Charles De Young reduced the wages from 50 to 45 cents per thousand ems and in consequence a number of printers left his employ and started a paper of their own called the Globe. It gave a fair promise of success and to all outward appearance was a well managed and well edited newspaper. Its main purpose was to kill the Chronicle and the enemies of the latter paper "stood in" quite liberally at the start. Let the story, however, be told in the language of the narrator.

A MULTIFLUXITY OF BOSSES. "Who ran the concern?" "I did for one," said the wandering print. "Then there was Lynch and Brooks and Wood and all the balance. When the force were all on deck it had eighteen bosses beside the reporters and editors.

"Who edited the paper?" "I did—and the rest of the gang. We all took a hand. Some man would be setting up an article and see some friend given a deal. He would walk up to the imposing stone and yell out, 'What in blazes is this?' Then the boys would all quit work and collect around the stone. Some would think that the man the article went after was a perfect gentleman and the rest would think he was an old snoozer. Then we would row over the matter half an hour or so and pretty soon a couple would "jeff" to see whether the item went in or not. Each day the editors and reporters got their instructions from eighteen of the regular bosses and their assistants. I kept track of the regulars but split on the 'subs.' Each man had a policy. I had two. Some had more. No particular policy, but a general sliding scale to fit any circumstances."

INFLATION OF THE GLOBE. "Did the Globe roll along pretty well at first?" "Yes, it swelled up big. Subscriptions came in lively, ads. were brisk and for a spell the great question was what to do with so much money. We talked of buying a building to move into. Presently, however, the expenses began to chaw us up. Then it wasn't so much a question what to do with the money, but where to get it. Some of the boys were sticking type at the case and some were rustling about on the outside. Somehow the outsiders seemed to dress better and eat at better restaurants than the insiders. Curious, wasn't it? I guess we galley slaves at the case didn't clear over $7 a week.

POLITICAL EXPERIENCE. "Did you dabble in politics?" "Oh yes, we ran most of the politics there for a while. We had Democrats, Republicans, Greenback and Kearney men on the managerial force. We didn't agree for a while, but compromised on a sort of Democratic, Kallock, Kearney platform. The Democratic Central Committee gave us twenty-five hundred dollars in political printing and owed us about two thousand when we busted. Some of the politicians offered us five thousand, cash down, for the paper. We didn't expect over three thousand, but after that offer we had a meeting and raised the price to ten thousand. Some of the boys wanted to set the pegs up to twenty, but were out-voted. I was one that wanted to settle on twenty thousand. Have ye got a chew of tobacco? If I had a cent I'd buy my own. Well, the twenty thousand proposition fell through and then the Democrats bought the Examiner. After that things went by the board and we began to lose interest in politics. Then some of the typos got sick and we ran short of managers. Then we ran short of coin and we were sorter short all round. Then we shut up shop and give the other papers a show. We had lots of fun though. I'll walk down to Reno to-night and see if I can't get to Salt Lake. I know a conductor that knocks down on the fares and if he don't pass me in the Pullman I'll frighten him to death. Next time I start a paper I'll do it on borrowed capital and don't you let that idea fall out of your head till I see you again."

MCLAUGHLIN'S PRIZES.—The presentation of prize drawing tickets by McLaughlin to his customers attracts large numbers of people to purchase jewelry in the hopes of striking a streak of luck. It must be borne in mind that any fellow that gets a ticket runs the same chance as the next man, or anybody else in winning the prizes, which are quite valuable. Even if blanks result, the fact of having purchased good jewelry at bedrock prices should not be forgotten.

Ex-Senator Hill of Churchill, in E. B. Rail went to San Francisco last night.

Elder Millard has returned from a trip to England.

Entertainment at Public School building to-day.

Fred Phelps, of the Mint, is quite sick with pneumonia.

G. F. Furgerson and Sarah Hanna have taken out a license to marry.

A collection of elegant silverware was received at McLaughlin's yesterday.

All the churches are vying with each other in getting up attractive Christmas trees.

The Reno people have revived the tar bucket to take the place of the Justice Court.

The newly elected officers of the Lewis Chapter No. 1, R. A. M., were installed last night.

Cagwin & Allen have received photographs of Bernhardt. Not so thin as has been represented.

Mr. McWade as "Rip Van Winkle" will open in Carson next week probably for two nights.

An invoice of gold pens, pencils and other novelties in the same line was received at Fox's yesterday.

A Chinese boss purchased $50 worth of silverware at McLaughlin's yesterday for Christmas presents.

Farrell has lost a Plymouth Rock game cock. When last seen he was chasing a Chinaman toward Genoa.

For a gent of taste, a neat pair of single stone amethyst sleeve buttons, price only $15 of Uncle Harris, 221 Kearny St.

The APPEAL feels under no obligations whatever to R. M. Daggett for a bulky pile of Congressional documents.

The Times suggests a benefit for the defeated candidates for clerkships that will be left out in the cold after the caucuses are over.

The Carson Guards have decided to remain in their old armory. The hall is to be improved in various ways, and a reading room will be attached.

James Madison, the party who is talking of starting a Democratic paper in this city, went below last night, to spend Christmas with his family.

Tom Beer, of Empire, has added a ten pound baby to his family. Beer considers that this event more than offsets his recent failure in the meat business.

A good many people out this way would like to see Sparks come out to Carson this winter and call somebody a liar on the floor of the House or on the front steps.

Delp Shane is back again in Carson, making it very lively for the tiger. Shane will walk right into the thickest jungle in the dead of night and close with the beast open handed.

Dog poisoners have begun to make havoc among the thoroughbreds of Virginia City. A Vigilance Committee has been formed to punish the agents of the sausage manufacturers.

A man named Smith kept the District Court waiting four days in the Carrick case, and was ordered by Judge Rising to appear for contempt at 10 o'clock to-day. Good deal of style for such a plain name.

Now that a few crossings have been laid down, the need of more is felt. The more people try the crossings the more they want. Before the Legislature meets there should be at least half a dozen more good, substantial crossings put down on Carson street.

Edward S. Lee and Richard Elliott are candidates for the Portership of the Senate. Both are colored, and their influential friends will make a hot contest. As both advertise in the APPEAL, it is a hard matter to choose between the respective qualifications in which but a slight shade of difference exists.

Muller is getting up a ladies' bathing establishment in connection with his tenorial rooms. The boys say that he has purchased some of Warren Wasson's new paclor patent, which, when set up in the corner of a room, looks like a dressing case on an old-fashioned New England clock. These useful machines might be put up right in the main tenorial rooms and no one be the wiser.

NEW EDITOR.—Col. H. G. Shaw has accepted the position of editor-in-chief of the Enterprise. Mr. Shaw is a man of very extended newspaper experience, both in New York and San Francisco. He is a logical, scholarly writer, and under his management the Enterprise will be a cleanly conducted and dignified journal. Mr. Shaw is on a friendly footing with the editorial fraternity of Nevada, and much of the bitter, personal controversy which has marked the conduct of Nevada newspapers of late, will give way to an era of better feeling.

NEW GOODS.—Fox has just received a lot of Russia leather goods and new fangled styles of note paper.

SAND.—The APPEAL has received from Bancroft & Co. a book entitled "Sand and Big Jack Small," by Gally. B. J. Small appeared originally in the "Overland" and Sand in the "Californian." Both are clean cut stories of Western life. Sand is improbable in many respects, but interesting, and Big Jake Small is a fine character sketch. The book is well bound and printed. Pacific coast people should patronize publishers who take hold of the productions of Western writers.

TIME.—Father Time walked into Friend's with his old scythe under his arm, yesterday, and called for meridian time. After setting his old ticker by Friend's clock, he laid in a supply of rattlesnake twist, some smoking tobacco and fresh cigars. He proposes to hold a wake over the old year and have a general good time next week.

THE WEEKLY.—The first number of the WEEKLY APPEAL will be an edition of 5,000 copies. Since the scheme was announced the people of Carson have taken very kindly to it in the matter of subscriptions, and orders for sample copies have been received from all parts of the State. Agents are wanted to get up clubs in every town of Nevada. A liberal commission will be given.

CHOOSE YOUR PARTNERS.—The ladies having the Episcopal Christmas tree in charge extend an invitation to all who may desire to enjoy themselves, to attend the Christmas tree to-night at Moore's Hall and join in the dance which follows, free of charge. This is authorized by the committee.

CHANGE OF TORTURE.—Straps have been substituted for rulers in the Virginia schools. When the writer went to school it was strap one day and ruler the next, and more frequently both, with an occasional variation in the shape of a birch club.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.—Attention is called to the political announcements in another column. Candidates seeking clerkships, etc., at the hands of the next Legislature will be charged $3, with 100 neatly printed cards thrown in. Terms, cash.

PERASICH.—The turkeys are roosting all over the front of the store. Birds in the real flesh and fowls of candy origin.
