

MORNING APPEAL

SATURDAY NOV. 19, 1882

PAPER BORROWERS.

In another column is an interview with a man who stopped his APPEAL because of the constant annoyance of having his neighbors run in to borrow it. His complaint is a very common one. Not long ago a gentleman ordered a paper left at a neighbor's, saying that he would pay for it regularly. He was willing to pay for two papers in order that he might read his own in the morning unmolested by somebody rushing in to borrow it. When six papers are delivered each week at a man's door for 25 cents, it would seem odd that anyone would fail to avail themselves of such cheaply purchased advantages, and more curious still that a person who wanted a paper badly enough to walk several hundred yards for it every morning would begrudge the 25 cents which would insure its delivery each morning at his own house. There never was a daily paper ever published, no matter how poorly printed, or how badly edited, that was not worth 25 cents a week to anybody who would subscribe for it, and there never was a man who was an habitual borrower of papers who could draw five cents' worth of profit out of the best paper in the world, if he read it every morning. The next time a paper borrower comes to your door and has the assurance to ask you to pay for his reading matter, give him this issue of the APPEAL, or in case you have mislaid it, tell him that you have quit running an independent newspaper agency.

In Too Much of a Hurry.

Davenport is now elected beyond a doubt, and the sole Democrat on the Board of Capitol Commissioners—Mr. Adams—will positively have nothing to say about discharging the help about the building. His first attempt to assume gubernatorial authority was in dictating the discharge of several of the most trusted subordinates in the building. He had heard that Merrill was elected and immediately mapped out a course of action which he supposed Merrill would back him up in and told the State officers in, a most dictatorial way what he wanted done, but was informed that it might be more advisable to wait for the returns. Since the returns are in Mr. Adams is more subdued, and the basket in which he intended to drop the official heads has been put away in the closet.

Says the San Francisco Alta: Your Nevada man is no slouch when it comes to scratching. In a State casting from 16,000 to 18,000 votes, Cassidy, Democrat, is elected Congressman by a majority of about 1,100, and Leonard, Republican candidate for Supreme Judge, has 700 majority. This is a difference of 1,800 votes, which is equal to a difference of 100,000 in the State of New York, and 3,800 in the city of San Francisco.

Beecher is being sued for not publishing the second volume of his "Life of Christ." A good many people would claim that a suit for damages would stick if he had published the second volume. The interruption in Beecher's literary labors may be fairly taken as a providential and paternal interference in behalf of the subject of the memoirs.

Old Ben Butler is now alluded to as Benjamin, and since the election no allusions are made to his squi—obliquity of vision.

Governor Kinkead has fully recovered from his late illness.

American Princes.

It is interesting to know the wealth of our American nobility. It would be more interesting to know how the gentlemen named acquired the wealth they possess.

The following is stated to be a correct estimate of their possessions:

- Jay Gould.....$280,000,000
W. H. Vanderbilt... 260,000,000
Leland Stanford.... 100,000,000
James Flood..... 80,000,000
James G. Fair..... 40,000,000
J. W. Mackay..... 30,000,000
James Keene..... 10,000,000
C. P. Huntington... 50,000,000
Charles Crocker..... 40,000,000
Mrs. Hopkins..... 40,000,000
Russell Sage..... 40,000,000
Estate Tom Scott... 20,000,000
Cyrus W. Field..... 15,000,000
Samuel J. Tilden... 15,000,000
John W. Garrett.... 10,000,000

If you are hungry, read this over again.

If you live in a dismal and dingy tenement, sing it.

If you wear a ragged coat and cannot buy a new one, clothe yourself in these figures.

If your wife and children want the necessities of life; if you are compelled to see them slave their whole lives; if you have had no time to read, no time for enjoyment, for improvement, then take this article and beg of the men named in it for charity.

And if they give it not?

Then, slave, keep them and their splendid system in full vigor and power by your vote at the ballot-box. This is what you are for.—To be bought and sold like driven cattle on election day.—Exchange.

Go to-day and examine new stock of cloaks and dolmans at M. Cohn's.

MUTUAL LIFE

INSURANCE CO.,

OF NEW YORK.

Assets.....$94,702,957 92

This corporation, organized in 1843 for the purpose of insuring lives, is conducted solely in the interest of its policy holders, to whom in their collective capacity belong its entire assets. All the profits are divided among them, and there are no stockholders to control the Company, or to take any portion of its surplus. The Company long since attained, and now holds, the foremost place among Life Insurance Institutions of the world. The magnitude of its business proves that it enjoys the confidence of the people. Beyond and above all the liabilities, computed by the New York legal standard, it has a surplus fund exceeding Twelve Millions of Dollars. The Company has paid to its policy holders:

Since its organization
