James L. Butler, Esq.

The San Francisco Argus pays the following compliment to James L. Butler:

The recent developments in the Tonopah country are simply astounding. In the Fraction a ten-foot ledge cut at 230 feet depth shows an average of $243 per ton, $63 being gold. The camp promises to boom this year, as this is not the only property giving promise of rich development.

James L. Butler, the discoverer of this camp, deserves the greatest credit for the discovery. Never in the history of mining has a new camp in the same period of time produced with as few men as much value in bullion as has been produced by the Tonopah mines.

It is not alone the discovery of the Tonopah mines which should go to credit of Mr. Butler. The discovery and exploiting of these mines assures a new base of supply from which the barren desert country of southern Nevada can be prospected.

There are few men upon whom the mantle of fortune rests so gracefully as upon James L. Butler.

Though he received a large sum of money for his interests, he is the same kindly affable gentleman that he was before good luck befell him. His numerous kind acts, made possible by the possession of his new fortune, have endeared him to the people of Tonopah, and there are none who do not sound his praise.

New discoveries are being made in this vicinity almost every day. This desert section is the best country in the world to prospect in.

Legal matters attended to at the Tonopah Mining Bureau.
