FLAGS ARRIVE FOR BATTLESHIP NEVADA

[THE BATTLESHIP NEVADA, PRIDE OF THE NAVY]

The ladies of the Relief Corps are happy. For a long time they have been raising money to purchase flags to be presented to the battleship Nevada and this morning the flags arrived.

They were immediately unpacked and today are on exhibition in the window of the Grey, Reid, Wright store.

The first flag to be taken from the big box was the regular Old Glory. It is a "thing of beauty and a joy forever." The flag is made of the very best quality of silk, so heavy that when it was taken from the package those doing the unpacking had to examine it critically to see if it was of one thickness or two.

It is of course of standard design and trimmed with gold fringe about two inches deep. While the unpacking was going on many citizens who were passing dropped in to look, and it was noticeable that every man who looked at it removed his hat.

The flag of the naval battalion is about the same size as the American banner, about 5x8 feet. It is of a very rich shade of blue, with a large diamond in white silk on each side. Embroidered in this diamond is a large anchor in white. This flag is also trimmed with gold fringe.

The Nevada state flag is similar as to size, in the same shade of blue, as the naval flag, and the design, worked in fancy stitch, is the great seal of the state of Nevada. The Naval flag and the state flag are both double thickness, so as to make possible the showing of the needlework on both sides.

The staves of the flags are of a very fine quality of lance wood, surmounted with a large gold-plated eagle. They are jointed, with screw sockets, so that they may be easily packed away when not in service. These flags are supposed to be used only on ceremonial occasions when the tars turn out on exhibition.

They will be kept on exhibition in the show window for several days, so that everyone may have a look at them before they are presented to the ship.

On each staff is a silver plate, engraved as follows:

"Presented by the Women's Relief Corps of Nevada."

The cost of the flags was $393.25, and the expressage from Ohio, where they were made, was $6.65.

GERMAN NOTE READY FOR DELIVERY EARLY NEXT WEEK

Believed Its Contents Will Be Polite and Friendly, But Is Likely They Will Refuse to Quit Submarining, Claiming to Have Right to Fight Fire With Fire

[By United Press]
WASHINGTON, May 20.—Germany will not officially accept the general principle that American citizens shall be protected and safeguarded under all conditions. Claiming this is contrary to international law she will reject the suggestion that America can demand a complete abandonment of submarining and holds that America's legal rights extend only to the protection of vessels of American register and the safety of Americans aboard belligerent merchantmen. It is understood the German position as outlined forecasts serious official conferences between Ambassador Gerard and Herr von Jagow, German minister of foreign affairs. Following the presentation of the note it is understood that Ambassador Gerard reported to Secretary Bryan that the German reply would be specific, discuss the American note by paragraphs and defend submarining as a just reprisal against the enemy. They will argue they are merely fighting fire with fire. Secretary Bryan has denied the stories that the administration has admitted that the American demand on Germany to cease submarining is not justified by international law.

Reply Ready by Monday
[By United Press]
BERLIN, May 20.—The German reply will probably be completed by Monday unless there is unforeseen delay, and will be delivered to Washington early next week. It is official-ly learned there will be given no reason for apprehension regarding German and American relations. The reply will be polite and friendly.

ONLY A MIRACLE CAN NOW KEEP ITALY OUT OF WAR

Probably by Tomorrow an Ultimatum Will Be Sent to Austria--Plenary Powers Conferred on Cabinet--Pope Has Cast His Influence With Italians

[By United Press]
ROME, May 20.—Parliament today by a vote of 365 to 54 conferred plenary powers on the cabinet. It is believed this means that when the general staff is ready Austria will be sent an ultimatum, probably by tomorrow. Crowds outside the parliament building cheered when this news was flashed and everywhere there is enthusiasm. The bill was introduced immediately after conference and occasioned little debate, but many Socialists opposed the measure. Italy's "green book" was distributed among the deputies during the proceedings. It charges Austria with being responsible for asserting that Italy violated the Triple Alliance. Troops are now massed on the frontiers. The pope has cast his influence with Italy and has approved the text of the prayer that will be recited by the Italian soldiers on the battlefield.

There will be no reserved seats and the public will fix its own admission price, paying what it can afford and having in mind the splendid program offered. Of course, the value of the band to the city and its influence on public affairs should also be considered when the people drop their money in the slot.

Before Tax Commission
The Tax commission spent the forenoon today listening to evidence in the matter of the valuation of the Goldfield Consolidated Water company. Mr. Patrick, the general manager, answered a lot of questions as to stocks, bonds, investment in cash and relative value of the plant now to the time when it was built and so on. This afternoon the Lovelock Land and Development company occupied the board on a petition for reduction of assessment.

Whatever kind of confections you prefer, we make them at Baker's 220 man, who was unable to attend. He paid a tribute to the women and said that every bill the women favor- ed passed the assembly. Mrs. Seward Simons of Los Angeles and Mrs. J. L. Hanbaugh urged greater co-operation of women in legislative work.

Working for Laudable Cause
The school children of Carson are busily engaged in preparing for the entertainment they are to give Saturday evening at the high school auditorium for the benefit of the Student Loan fund. The program is an interesting one and the object a worthy one. It seems especially fitting that the school children of the state should work for the fund which is to be used to help some of their fellow students to attend business college normal school, the university, or take up any special course to fit them for life's work.

Statutes Nearly Ready
The laws passed at the late session of the legislature are all printed, and the books are in the hands of the binders. Copies will be ready for delivery to subscribers some day next week.

Two Dinky Little D amas of a Non-

Getting Ready for the Big Fourth of July Celebration

Like most affairs where the general public is concerned, the enthusiasm for the celebration seems to have taken a slight slump. After the meeting the other night, when the general committee was named, one would have thought that the celebration had received such a start that nothing could head it off. Last night, however, when the first meeting of the committee was scheduled to take place and the sub-committees were to be formed, less than half of the committee named Monday night was present.

Governor Boyle, who has been chosen chairman of the general committee, is out of town and to keep things going till his return W. W. Ellis was chosen chairman pro tem. Ed Walker, of the State Railroad commission, was elected secretary of the committee.

After considerable discussion as to the best means of making up the committees and perfecting the organization of the general committee, which developed considerable diversity of opinion, it was finally decided to put the selection of the committee and the making of a general plan of organization into the hands of a special committee on committees, who are to meet and form a plan of organization and report at a meeting of the full general committee to be held at the court house tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock.

While there is no lack of enthusiasm and it is certain that the celebration is going to be a big success, (Continued on page 4)
