Resignation French President Possible

May Come as Result of Misunderstanding With Britain

PARIS, Aug. 13.—The resignation of President Deschamps is imminent as a result of France's new and aggressive anti-Bolshevik policy and the consequent diplomatic misunderstanding with Great Britain, it was reported today in high political circles. In such an event it was considered likely that Premier Millerand would be elected president and M. Briand would be appointed premier.

Virginia and Truckee Suffers Big Loss by Fire In Gold Hill Tunnel

Fire this morning in the Jacket tunnel just this side of Gold Hill and a mile and a half out of Virginia City stopped traffic at that end of the road and caused a big financial loss to the Virginia and Truckee railway.

The fire, which started near one of the portals, was discovered about 4 o'clock this morning after it had been burning some time. An alarm was immediately given and firemen and apparatus from both Gold Hill and Virginia City, together with railroad employees, responded at once and fought like demons to quench the flames, which aided by the draft that had been created made a fiery furnace of the tunnel.

At 6 o'clock it was reported that the flames were practically under control, but later reports said the fire had gained new headway and at noon it was stated it was again burning fiercely.

The tunnel, 500 feet long, will be a wreck so far as the timbers are concerned and a number of caves from the roof developed as the supports gave way, nearly filling the tunnel in various places with large amounts of debris. What the loss will amount to General Manager Ardery was unable to estimate this morning.

This is the second fire that has occurred in the same tunnel, a former one happening in June, 1903. A heavy loss occurred at that time and it was a couple of weeks before it could be put back in shape for use.

What caused this morning's blaze has not been determined, but an investiga-

Bryan Discusses Cox and Harding

Former's Stand On League Much More Definite Than Latter's

LINCOLN, Aug. 13.—Bryan, in a signed editorial in the August issue of his publication, the Commoner, says: "Senator Harding wants to go back to normal, and Governor Cox wants to go forward." Bryan devotes most of his comment to a discussion of the position taken by the two candidates on the treaty and the liquor questions. He regrets that neither took a firm stand for a dry plank. He says the stand taken by Cox on the League of Nations as framed in Paris is much more definite than an "association of nations" as advocated by Harding. Discussing the

Plan Reservoir Site On Truckee River

In order to afford relief for the water users of Western Nevada, who are now dependent upon Lake Tahoe storage, and to make possible the irrigation of at least 50,000 additional acres of land in this section of the state, Governor Boyle and State Engineer Scroggins have proposed to the irrigation service and peacock blue abound in the debut construction of a large storage reservoir of flood waters of the Truckee river that are now going to waste each spring and winter.

It is estimated that such a reservoir and its main canal system can be built for approximately $2,000,000, one-half of which cost, it is proposed, shall be advanced by the state of Nevada and the remainder by the federal government, all of which would ultimately be repaid by the present users and new settlers upon future reclaimed land.

The irrigation service has already indicated a favorable attitude toward the project but has not yet given definite assurances as to the amount of money that the government would advance in co-operation with the state.

Two sites for such a storage reservoir are being considered and have been given preliminary examination, Lemmon valley, directly north of Reno, and Spanish Springs valley, lying north of Sparks, both of which are capable of large storage.

Lemmon valley, according to Engineer Scroggins, is capable of several times the storage capacity of Spanish Springs valley, but as the latter, if dammed, would contain at least 500,000 acre feet of water and could be converted into a reservoir at a much less cost than the former, it is believed to be the better selection. Engineer Scroggins left this afternoon for Spanish Springs valley to continue a reconnaissance of the site there. Later a complete survey of both sites will be made which will be participated in by L. H. Taylor of Reno and B. G. McBride of Elko, who will assist the state in the matter.—Reno Gazette.

"For After Six"

(By "Marjorie," written for the United Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Evening gowns of the fall and winter season seem to promise more scope for individuality than the street and afternoon dresses which so dogmatically declare that slinkiness is absolutely the only silhouette.

It is true that the swathed effect takes little role even in evening gowns, but there are a few exceptions. The very top-notch evening gown—the sort that would be worn at a Blue Bird ball, if such a social event should happen all over again, is merely a very few yards of shiny material bound round and round the figure.

Such a model of jet over a fitted underslip of black satin is the piece de resistance of a Fifth avenue house which specializes in "clothes for after six." Complying with the vogue for some covering over the epidermis, the sleeves of this model are of sheer chiffon and even envelop the wrist. There is no back, but a long train atones for any seeming deficit. A novel note is given by the sash of tulle which floats over the hips and is caught in a wired bow as wide as the entire frock. The streamers of this sash float to the floor. A corsage of deep-toned artificial roses is the only touch of color on the gown.

The more bouffant evening gowns are shown for the debutantes who have not sufficient maturity of bearing and face to wear the Theda Bara gown. A charming model is shown on the avenue of dove chiffon over coral satin. Soft bands of deeper-toned marabou finish the top of the bodice and are used for shoulder straps. The Turkish racem effect is retained by the shirred-in-skirt hem.

Combinations of net or lace with taffetas and softer silks are much in the vogue for these panned and puffed soubretish dresses. Bright shades of flame, canary, emerald, and turquoise fish harem effect is retained by the shir-tante gowns, while black laces, nets, jet and satin are the more mature woman's favorite.
