"The Tiger's Coat," Feature Play Tonight

The Grand theater tonight will have as its principal attraction the latest W. W. Hodgkinson Corporation release, "The Tiger's Coat," a Dial Film company production, which is said to be an unusual and dramatically told story.

Myrtle Stedman, Lawson Butt and Tina Modotti are featured. The story revolves around a young Mexican girl who determines to assume the identity of a pure-blooded white girl. Tina Modotti, an Italian beauty who has only recently taken up screen work in America, is seen as the fascinating little heroine.

Before coming to America Miss Modotti had achieved a successful career both as a dancer and a cinema actress. Myrtle Stedman, always a great favorite, has the role of the wife who regards her husband with infinite patience tempered with a tolerant amusement which permits her to love him without being unhappy over his numerous love affairs.

Those who have viewed an advance showing of "The Tiger's Coat" declare that Miss Stedman has never given a more finished or subtle performance, and that Lawson Butt, well-known and admired, is particularly good as "Mac," the strong-willed man who finds his ultimate happiness in caring for the Mexican girl who comes to him "out of the storm."

A Snub Pollard comedy, "The Morning After," and a Pathe News are the added attraction. Regular prices and two shows.

Geo. Wingfield Plans New Nevada Industry

George Wingfield, Reno banker, visited Fallon Friday and Saturday, says the Fallon Standard, looking over his properties in this valley in company with his local manager, G. R. Leidy. Mr. Wingfield is one of the men possessed of money who believes implicitly in the splendid future of this valley and has made heavy investments in lands which he confidently believes will return him a handsome profit in due time.

Mr. Wingfield stated Saturday that he would introduce into this valley within the next few weeks a 500-lot of dairy cows which he will sell to project farmers on easy terms and that he will not abate his cow importations until he has forced the number to at least 5,000. He figures that this number of milkers will consume about 35,000 tons of alfalfa hay annually and that his agency will act to relieve in a very substantial manner the hay marketing situation here.

Another project entertained by Mr. Wingfield concerns a cannery in Fallon and along with other competent men he characterizes this valley as the ideal place to furnish the succulent garden stuff for the entire state of Nevada. If he has his way there will be nothing used in Nevada but Nevada products and in fulfillment of this aim he hopes to see local effort directed at gardening

Lloyd George Refuses to Divulge Conference Results

(By United Press)
LONDON, July 25.—A movement today in the house of commons to force Lloyd George to divulge the details of the secret Irish negotiations. Pressure of the opposition in denouncing dealings with Sinn Feiners and a desire of the house of commons to take a part in the Irish peace parley, are believed to be factors in the effort to make Lloyd George reveal his plans.

Those informed, however, refuse to comment. From a reliable source it was today stated that Lloyd George's plan includes home rule for Ireland, familiar to South Africa, with fiscal autonomy, but all foreign affairs, and the army and navy will be under British control.

ADOPTS ORDINANCE

At the session of the city trustees held Saturday evening the proposed ordinance regulating the laying of a number of concrete sidewalks was adopted. The list of the territory embraced was published several days ago within the near future. To this end he has announced his intention of financing a cannery undertaking here that will furnish a ready market for all of the varieties of produce possible here. This covers a very wide range and includes asparagus, celery, cauliflower, spinach, small fruits and most everything that can come to mind as a product from a land where soil, climate, and abundance of water and long growing season combine.

and the ordinance itself appears in this issue of the Appeal.

A chance to protest was given, but none appeared to register a "kick." It is evident that the property holders are willing to meet the emergency and provide this general improvement to their properties.

The work of the past two years has made it possible to get about Carson in the winter without carrying a load of mud home. It is one of the most substantial improvements adopted in this city.

Een Gill and "Billy" Sibeck, well-known people of Goldfield, accompanied by J. A. Murphy, mining man of Reno, were visitors in this city today.

Governor Sends Message to People of Missouri

Governor Boyle, in reply to an invitation to attend the 100th anniversary of the state of Missouri, hit the following happy chord in his reply:

"Carson City, July 23, 1921. "Mrs. La Flesh, Sedalia, Mo., "Dear Madam—Noting from your letter that Missouri is to celebrate the 100th anniversary of her admission to statehood at a Centennial Exposition at Sedalia in August, I take great pleasure in sending this small message of congratulation and good will in which I am sure, every Nevadan joins.

"The first regularly appointed territorial governor of Nevada was Honorable James W. Nye, a former police commissioner of New York, who was sent to Nevada by President Lincoln in 1861 to prepare the territory of Nevada for admission to the Union in order that Father Abraham might have another loyal state to ratify the thirteenth amendment abolishing slavery. "With Governor Nye as his private secretary came Orion Clemens, and with Orion—as a sort of excess baggage—came Sam Clemens, his brother, who, for a time, injected his peculiar genius into the journalistic life of the new state. He was later to write the "Jumping Frog of Calaveras" and enter in undying fame as Mark Twain. Missouri, as his birthplace, and Nevada, as the theater of his earliest literary efforts, may jointly lay claim to him.

"Nor was he the only Missourian who helped hue the ashlar of this sovereign state. We have many who have chosen this as the commonwealth of their adoption. It may be said that they know all about mules and that they exhibit generally that wholesome canny quality of mind which requires that they be shown."

"Our best wishes to Missouri for many more centuries of progress. Very cordially yours, "EMMET D. BOYLE."

CLOSE CALL FOR SEVERAL PEOPLE

Saturday afternoon the Fred Cliff team, which was tied on the side street entrance of the Walsh store, ran away and after livening up affairs along Carson street wound up by damaging the Jim Yerington touring car.

The team, which was chained, was frightened by a small boy with a cart loaded with bottles, the latter rolling off under the horses' feet. From that moment on it was a scramble and the only object that stopped them was the parked automobile in front of the Armory.

Several narrow escapes of women and children on the street were chronicled, while Mrs. Yerington only escaped being in the wrecked car by a minute or two. He had been sitting in the car waiting for the train to pull in.

when thinking of a telephone message she must send, she left the car and was in the act of telephoning when the accident occurred.

Mr. Yerington figures that at least $1,000 damage was done his big 8-cylinder car as the tonneau is a complete wreck, likewise the top. The horses and rig escaped without damage.
