Return of the Perrysburg Volunteers.

The reception of the "Fort Meigs Rifles," on Wednesday of last week, was an event long to be remembered by the good people of Perrysburg.—Never have we witnessed greater enthusiasm than was evinced upon that occasion. Long before the usual train time, our citizens began to wend their way to the depot, and at 3 o'clock the whole street in front presented a sea of human faces—a vast multitude congregated to give the brave and gallant soldiers a welcome, thrice welcome home. Imagination alone can picture the anxiety of the fond hearts of parents, brothers and sisters, as they waited and cheerfully talked of the happy meeting they should soon be blessed with.

Three o'clock came, and impatience began to take the place of mirth—for the train was behind time. Four o'clock soon rolled around, when wonders were expressed as to the cause of the delay. Five o'clock came, and many began to think some accident had happened, while others tried to make themselves believe that the train had stopped at Ottawa, on the way up, to allow the regiment to participate in the funeral ceremonies of Capt. Allen. A little after six, however, and the whistle of the distant locomotive was distinctly heard. "The cars are coming," shouted an old man, which was caught up by the crowd and re-echoed along the line with a will—simultaneously every eye was fixed in the direction of the train, which quickly drew up. When the boys alighted there was one grand rush by all present—fathers and mothers, sisters and brothers, wives and lovers, to clasp the gallant braves in fond and fervent embrace. Oh, what a sight was this! What a glorious instance of the gratitude of our people, and the just appreciation of the noble services of our patriotic soldiers! While this proceeding was in progress, those who were not immediately engaged were making the welkin ring with enthusiastic cheering.

By-and-by, however, Capt. Cook got his company formed in line, and, preceded by the Maumee band and followed by the immense throng, they marched to the Court House, where a beautiful supper was prepared for them. On arriving here, they were welcomed home in a short and touching address, by H. H. Dodge, Esq., substantially as follows:

Soldiers of the 21st Regiment—in the name of your old friends, the home friends of the same dear ones who, upon the morning of your departure, thronged around to bid you a fond adieu, while their streaming tears and deep-drawn sighs attested the agony of the parting of those, who, by their affection and sympathy, have seemed to accompany your footsteps, sharing in your sorrows, your joys, your labors and your sufferings, and who night and morn, upon bended knees, have addressed their fervent supplications to the God of battles for your welfare, in the name of your fathers, mother, sisters and brothers, and with a heart full of thankfulness to Almighty God for your safe return, I bid you welcome home—welcome to the town your patriotism has honored—welcome to the firesides you went forth to protect—welcome to the home circle that has been lonely in your absence; and oh! welcome! a thousand times welcome, in view of that sacred cause to which you have sworn allegiance, an allegiance which you were prepared to seal with your hearts best blood.

The speaker then referred briefly to the circumstances attending their departure, the promptness with which they responded to their country's call in the hour of her peril, the devotion which prompted them to hurry forth from their happy homes to encounter the dangers and hardships of war, the heroic patriotism also manifested by their fathers, mothers, wives and sisters in bidding them go forward in God's name and battle in the holy cause of humanity and constitutional government, although they might find a bloody grave upon the field of conflict and be cut down in the bloom and flower of their youth amid the battle's thunder and the battle's carnage, still the cause was worthy of the sacrifice.

Refering to the fact that their ranks remained unthinned and that they had not encountered the foe in the field, the speaker continued: "But boys, you have done your duty, your whole duty. Ready, eager, panting, as you were to do and dare in your country's cause you knew that the first requirement of patriotism demanded obedience to your officers. They led you indeed through scenes of peril; peril upon the lonely midnight watch with deadly foes around you; peril all the more appalling because divest of the excitement and dazzle of military glory which cheer and support the soldier upon the field of carnage, and this you joyfully braved.—Yours would also have been the glory of the battle field, had the rebellious bands who were as much your superiors in numbers as they were your inferiors in valor presumed to abide the issue of a conflict. But the traitor followers of Wise proved themselves as nimble with their feet in fight as they had been audacious with their tongues in idle boasting, and whatever laurels were within your reach you have taken care to gain. In point of discipline, the great test of soldiership, you were we are assured the banner company of your regiment."

As a proof of the christian spirit and law abiding conduct of our soldiers, Mr. Dodge referred to the fact that when Col. Norton and Lieut. Brown had fallen into the hands of the rebels, a petition for their release was signed by many secessionists who had been prisoners in the regiment. Here was a victory more glorious than could be won with arms; a victory over the hearts and prejudices of these misguided men. Founded as this war is upon giant falsehood and the most unparalled misrepresentation to the southern people of northern aims and purposes, this tribute to the moral worth of our soldiers, heralded to the world upon the testimony of our foes, is of great significance. To the reasonable and reflecting people of the south it will be worth the lives of a thousand men. That those who a few short days before were ready to wing a bullet to our hearts, or plunge a bayonet in our bosoms, should become suppliants in our behalf shows most plainly that if the truth could penetrate to the hearts and minds of our deluded countrymen, this most fiendish attempt to overthrow the most beneficent government on earth, would cease. The address closed with the following well merited tribute to Capt. Cook and Col. Norton:

"Hard as it was, soldiers, to bid you adieu on the morning of your departure, the sadness of that hour was alleviated by our confidence in your officers. Nor have they betrayed their trust. Many of those near and dear to you will clasp the hand of your worthy and excellent Captain, while feelings of affection and gratitude towards him for the constant care and attention to you in sickness and health, in sadness and in affliction, will choke the utterance and dim the eye with tears. The blessings of your fathers, mothers, sisters and friends, must be his rich reward. And one who went forth with you as your commander, in the full glow of health, youth and manly vigor, stricken down by a traitor's bullet, has writhed for weeks in pain and torture, and even now his pallid cheek and faltering step all too plainly attest his sufferings in his country's cause. But the patriot's blood falls not to the earth in vain.—When the news of that sad encounter flashed on lightning's wings across the land, manly cheeks were blanched—strong men with clenched teeth and sinews firm yet, repressed a vow such as man thousand times avenged. Nor will that vow be broken. A few short days and Col. Norton will return, a thousand men around him, some of you among the number, and all bound by a solemn pledge that the sword now drawn shall rest in its sheath no more while treason and armed rebellion stalk unpunished in the land. The fame of your gallant 21st, and its fearless Colonel, has been borne upon the lightning's breath to every loyal fireside in the land, and the memory of hardships and dangers bravely encountered by you while serving in its noble ranks, will cheer you in future years while enjoying the blessings of peace and liberty, which your blood and toil will purchase, and your neighbors and fellow citizens, participating in these same rich blessings, will, through the whole course of your lives, regard you with the same affection and gratitude with which they now bid you an affectionate Welcome Home.

At this juncture, a handsome sword was presented to Capt. Cook, which that gentleman took the stand and responded, first to his brother soldiers, for their kindness, obedience and promptness, and and above all for their universally good conduct. He said he had returned home with a view of returning to private life; but this token of their respect was an emblem of war, and if his country called he would unsheath this sword and rush again to her defense. He recounted some of their trials and hardships, and said that because they were not in the fight at "Scary," was no fault of theirs, for they had repeatedly begged him to let them go, when they heard the booming of the cannon—but a soldier could not go without orders. He then took an affectionate leave of the soldiers—thanked the people for their handsome reception—paid a beautiful eulogy upon the character and bearing of his men, and as an honor to society, returned them safely back to those who had entrusted them to his care.

At the conclusion, they were marched in single file on either side of the tables: when all were bountifully helped, and ate to their satisfaction.—After supper there was some more grasping of hands and a general individual welcome, when all dispersed and sought refuge in "outraged nature's sweet restorer."

Correction.

We were in error in stating last week that it was the object of Conference to establish a Theological Institute in Maumee. The object is simply the location of an Academy.

Peaches

Are reported to be quite plenty out in the vicinity of Woodville. The town people, however, are rapidly "speaking for them," and the probability is that they will all be "engaged" long before they are ripe.

Suspended.

The Cosmopolitan Art Association of New York and Cincinnati have suspended operations and their magazine, owing to a pressure of the times, in which no other "art" than the art of war can flourish, it seems.

New Dress.

Capt. Locke has treated his fine little boat to a new dress, during the past week. The Belle now looks as pretty and neat as a pin. We suppose the ladies will all be wanting to take a ride. Well, now's the time.

Smash up.

A couple of steers attached to a wagon loaded with wood, undertook to make "2:40" time, coming in town on the pike, on Friday last, when the driver, in his efforts to "head them in," ran them down the side of the road—smashing the wood bed and wagon literally to pieces. It was bad for the wagon, but fun for the steers.

The Gilead Volunteers,

We understand, had a fine reception on their return home last week. The company won golden opinions, during their three month engagement, and it is confidently believed a large proportion of the members will re-enlist for the war. Col. Norton went up to pay them a visit on Tuesday.

Lieut. Col. W. T. Wilson.

We are glad to observe that the Governor has promoted our old editorial friend, Capt. W. T. Wilson, late of the Wyandot Pioneer, by appointing him Lieutenant Colonel of the 15th regiment. The appointment is 'O. K.' in every respect, as the Colonel has proved himself to be one of the most efficient officers in the service.

Camp Vance.

This camp, which was named in honor of the Ex-Governor of Ohio, is located at Findlay, Hancock county. The 21st regiment will be reorganized at this camp, as soon as the various companies report themselves. Each company must have 101 men, including officers, and the regiment will contain 1040. It is expected that the entire regiment will be ready for marching orders about the fifth of September.

Calling for Help.

The Fremont Messenger calls loudly for aid from its subscribers. It says the business men of that place are withdrawing their advertising from it because of its opposition to the Union movement, and because the editor will not cease giving aid and comfort to rebellion. On looking over the paper we find less than one page of advertisements. It must be agreeable to the readers to find three full pages of reading matter, but it is death to the editor.

Wheat in Western Virginia.

We learn from some of our returned volunteers that the wheat crops will not amount to much in this State. In many cases whole sections were entirely abandoned, and cattle and horses were helping themselves at will. In addition to this, that which would be left was so badly rusted that much of it would scarcely be worth cutting. This is a great pity, as this region is the only loyal part of the rebel State. It will be the duty of the loyal States to furnish their brethren in want, with breadstuffs.

The Grain Market.

The farmers will rejoice to learn that there is a growing demand for grain, and that the prices have a decided upward tendency. But a few weeks ago wheat found a dull market at 80 cents per bushel; now it commands 95 @ 1,00. We presume there will be no difficulty now in getting one dollar for good wheat, of any of our merchants. Corn, too, is looking up. From this on, provisions will undoubtedly begin to grow scarcer, and, as a consequence, prices materially advance.

New Company from Elmore.

The Fremont Messenger learns that Amos E. Wood has received a commission to fill up a company for the 21st regiment, to be encamped at Camp Vance, Findlay. This company is intended to form a part of Col. Norton's old regiment, and Mr. Wood expects to recruit most of his men from Seaman's old company. His head quarters will be at Elmore.—Those wishing to enlist will find Col. Norton a gallant man, and Capt. Wood worthy of their confidence should they enlist in his company.

Funeral of Capt. Allen.

The last remains of Capt. Allen, of Company D, of the 21st regiment, was consigned to the tomb near Ottawa, on Sunday last. Capt. Allen, it will be remembered, was killed at the Scary fight, on the Kanawha, and his body fell into the hands of the rebels, but was subsequently delivered up and sent home to his friends. He was universally respected by all who knew him as a brave and kind hearted man, and his death cast a gloom over the entire regiment. The officers with a number of soldiers of Company C, went down on Saturday to pay a last tribute of respect to the dead. His remains were attended with masonic and military honors to the grave. Requiescat in pace.

New Stamped Envelopes

Have been introduced by the post-office department, and old ones will soon be permitted to pass through the office no more. New ones will be exchanged for old ones, on application at the post-office. It is also designed to introduced new postage stamps, which will be exchanged for old ones in like manner. The exchanges have to be made at the office from which they were purchased. The exchange should be made immediately by those having them on hand. This is made necessary to prevent deception. The department has been compelled to take this step, owing to the fact that the postmasters in the South have large supplies of these stamps and stamped envelopes, for which they have never paid. Of course no exchanges of new for old stamps will be allowed in that quarter.

The Teacher's Association.

We received a letter on Monday evening, signed by the Secretary and President of the Wood County Teacher's Association, taking us to task for saying a little more promptness in the matter of delivering to us the proceedings of the meetings of the Association. We suppose the it was written by the President, as it alludes to a conversation we had with that gentleman on the 4th of July. It will find a place in our next issue. To prepare the public mind to meet the shock, we will simply remark that it is a powerful letter, and entirely annihilates the editor—completely chaws him up!

Forgot his Religion.

An anecdote is related of a preacher, who served as a lieutenant of one of the companies under Col. Norton's charge in the Scary fight, which is too good to keep. It seems the lieutenant was rather a dull appearing fellow, and withal remarkably pious. When the engagement commenced, the preacher got excited. He rushed up to the charge manfully, and the Colonel found himself agreeably deceived in his pluck. Suddenly the rebels began to retreat on the left, when the excited lieutenant shouted out at the top of his voice, "Give them h—ll boys; d—n their souls; I've forgot all about religion now; see the d—n cowards run; give them h—ll boys," at the same time brandishing his sword in the air. No wonder the Colonel laughed even in the heat of the engagement.

Volunteers Wanted!

Lieut. McMahan has a commission for re-organizing Company C, of the 21st regiment for the war and he has published an appeal in hand-bill form to his late companions in arms to come forward and "rally once more around the glorious Stars and Stripes, with the determination not to return from the conflict until our banner floats over the Capital of every Southern State." A rendezvous is now opened at this place for the purpose of recruiting. It is his desire to have the Company report at Camp Vance by the first of September, at least.—Lieut. McMahan is a well drilled officer, and by his attentive and gentlemanly conduct, stands high in the estimation of his fellow soldiers. We hope his Company may rapidly fill up, and he be honored with the command.

Col. Gibson's Regiment.

A letter from Tiffin to the Sandusky Register, dated August 13, says that Col. Gibson's Regiment is rapidly filling up. The following companies were then at Camp Noble, near Tiffin:

Hancock Rifles—Capt. Langworthy,
Adjutic Guards—Capt. Porter,
Fremont Company—Capt. Bartlett,
Wyandot and Seneca Company—Capt. ——.

Mr. G. Y. Wise, of the Tiffin Exchange, is acting as Commissary. Capt. Mills, of the U. S. A., is at the camp for the purpose of mustering in the companies. Four other companies were expected on Monday. Col. Gibson will receive his blankets and camp equippage this week. The Fremont band accompanies the regiment.

The Col. Lowe Affair.

We have taken some pains to investigate the matter of "cowardice" and "incompetency," which has been preferred against Col. Lowe, as evidenced in the Scary fight, but do not learn anything to warrant us in pronouncing the charge in every particular false. In the "evidence of eye-witnesses," sent us from Dayton, it would appear that Col. L. was a quarter of a mile behind, at the time Col. Norton made the charge upon the enemy; that he had "several times sent orders to have the charge properly supported, and that he did not know why his orders were not obeyed." If this be true, the duty of Col. Lowe was plain. He should have gone forward, himself, and seen that the order was obeyed.

Whether it was "cowardice" or "incompetency" that prevented him from taking the lead of his column, as Col. Norton did the five companies under his command, we of course cannot determine. However we are willing to drop the matter entirely, if interested parties are, for we think that the more it is stirred the worse it will get.

A Gallant Soldier Boy.

It is an admitted fact that patriotism is the great ruling sentiment of the soldier's heart, in this war. Many of those who served three months, and returned home only to hear of new outbreaks against their Government, have enlisted again, the first opportunity, for the war. Some have undergone hardships in their eager desire to serve their country, which is truly commendable. We have a case in point. Company C, of the 21st regiment returned home on the eve of the reception of the news of the great battle in Missouri, in which we lost the gallant Lyon. After partaking of the repast prepared by our citizens, this news became the subject with many of conversation. A young man, named James Marsin, a member of the Company, listened patiently for a while, when he gathered his satchel and declared his purpose to re-enlist immediately. He bid his comrades good-bye, and walked that night to Toledo, where he took the cars for Columbus next morning, and is now a soldier again in Camp Chase.

The Union Movement.

The Union movement in Ohio, for giving encouragement and support to the Federal Government, is fast spreading and gaining favor with the mass of the people. Republicans adhere to the movement with a will, and Democrats all over the State are falling into the ranks on the side of the Union.—Sixty-one Democrats of Dayton have issued a protest against the action of the State Convention, and call upon their loyal brethren to join them in one grand rally around the standard of our nationality. In Fremont one hundred and twenty Democrats have joined the Republicans in a call for a Union County Convention, and the sentiment seems to be taking root so fast that the editor of the Messenger is fairly shaking in his boots—at least we judge so from the tone of his paper. In our own county, with a very few exceptions, the people are a unit upon the great question of "Union for the sake of the Union." At a meeting held in Perry township on the 10th inst., irrespective of party predilections, it was resolved to support none for office, at the coming fall election, who are not true and firm supporters of the Administration, the Constitution and the Laws. Let the ball roll on.

Feeling of Perry Township.

At a meeting of the citizens of Perry Township, irrespective of party, held on the 10th of August, for the purpose of considering the propriety of holding a Union Convention, the following resolutions were adopted without a dissenting voice:

1st. Resolved, That, as true patriots, we should lay aside all partizan feeling and party strife as dangerous to the welfare of our country in the present crisis.

2nd. Resolved, That as a basis in the election of candidates in the coming county election, we will support none but true and firm supporters of the Administration, the Constitution and the laws.

3d. Resolved That we recommend these section of Union delegates from the several townships of the county to meet in convention for the purpose of nominating candidates for the several county offices, to be selected from both political parties.

4th. Resolved, That we recommend to the Central Committees of both parties to use their influence to bring about a Union Convention in Wood county.

5th. Resolved That the Secretary be requested to furnish copies of the foregoing resolutions to the papers of Perrysburg and Fostoria. Also to the Chairman of each of the Central Committees.

F. R. STEWART, Sec'y.

Wash the wounds clean, and the Cerate freely applied will cure them in a few days. It will cure ere-cked hands heels and Cancer in the tongue, canker or sore mouth, affections of the skin, falling off of the hair, &c. Sore teats and caked udder in cows are soon cured by this Cerate. Sold by medicine dealers generally. 14w4

GIVE THE DEVIL.—As a general thing the best article is the cheapest in the end, and especially is this the case with D. R. De Land & Co.'s Cheamical Saleratus, an article which every one who has tried it will say is just the thing for the purposes it was made for. It is manufactured and for sale, at wholesale, by the proprietors, at Fairport, Monroe Co., N. Y., and for sale by most wholesale dealers everywhere.—W. J. Hitchcock, Perrysburg. 1w

The following flattering notice is taken from the Portsmouth (Ohio) Scioto Valley Republican, of April 3, 1858:

SCANDINAVIA.—A friend writes to us for our real opinion of Dr. Rosack's Scandinavian Remedies,—where he can obtain them—and why they are called "Scandinavian," and we are frequently asked the same questions. Scandinavia is the ancient name of Sweden and Norway, and a Scandinavian, that is, a Swede or Norwegian, affectionately calls his country "Scandinavia," in the same sense as we speak of "Columbia," or "the Union." By this we are over run with Thousand Scandinavian families in Dane county, Wisconsin. Although a citizen of this country for many years, Dr. Rosack is a Swede by birth, and compounds his medicines of Swedish herbs; we think the name is very appropriate. We have the very highest opinion of the medicines, and of Dr. Rosack himself, who is not only a singularly skillful physician, but a gentleman of the Old School, as we know personally. Our advertisement columns will answer the rest of our friend's letter. See advertisement. 15w1

A Family Blessing.

"In lifting the kettle from the fire it caught and scalded my hands and person very severely—one almost to a crisp. The torture was unbearable. It was an awful sight. * * * * The Mustang Liniment appeared to abstract the pain almost immediately. It healed rapidly and left no scar or account. Charles Foster, 420 Broad Street, Philadelphia." It is truly a wonderful article. It will heal any case of swelling, burns, stiff joints, eruptions or rheumatism. For horses it should never be dispensed with. One Dollar's worth of Mustang has frequently saved a valuable horse. It cures galls, sprains, ringbone, spavins and founders. Beware of imitation and counterfeits. A counterfeit was put in circulation from St. Louis and duly suppressed. All genuine will hereafter bear the signatures of G. W. Westbrook, Cincinnati, and D. S. Barnes, Proprietor, with the words "Trade" Mark," in two Medallions of the Federal currency. Three sizes. Sold everywhere.

Mothers, read this.

The following is an extract from a letter written by the pastor of a Baptist church to the "Journal and Messenger," Cincinnati, Ohio, and speaks volumes in favor of that world-renowned medicine—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING:

"We see an advertisement in your columns of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Now we never said a word in favor of a patent medicine before in our life, but we feel compelled to say to our readers, that this is no humbug—WE HAVE TRIED IT AND KNOW IT TO BE ALL IT CLAIMS. It is, probably, one of the most successful medicines of the day, because it is one of the best; and those of your readers who have babies can't do better than to buy a supply. 49-1y.

The Benefit of Good Advice.

Thanks to Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. We have for years been relieved from sleepless nights of painful watching with loss suffering, teething children. Unlike all the preparations of opium which are usually got up to make children sleep, and which simply stupefy the child, the Soothing Syrup gives not only rest, but vigor and health; the little fellow wakes up bright, cheerful and refreshed. It is sure, moreover, to cure Wind Colic and regulate the bowels. As we freely received the advice which calls forth the above thanks, we freely give it to others, and say to all mothers, go purchase Soothing Syrup for your child, and you will thank us for this advice. Sold everywhere, at 25 cents per bottle. Office, 13 Cedar-st reet, N. York. 14md

☞Read the certificate of a regular practitioner: This may certify that I have used Perry Davis' Pain Killer in numerous cases, and believe it to be a very valuable medicine. I have prescribed it in bowel complaint (particularly for children,) and it is in my opinion superior to any preparations I have ever used for the relief of those diseases. When given to children, I have always combined it with the syrup of gum arabic, say ten drops to a teaspoonful of the syrup, well mixed. Others have mixed it with milk and molasses, equal parts.

FARMERS, LOOK TO YOUR INTERESTS!

GRAIN DRILLS!
GRAIN DRILLS!
GRAIN DRILLS!

The subscriber is now ready to furnish Farmers with either of the two best Grain Drills in use, and will warrant them to give entire satisfaction. They will sow Wheat, Rye, Barley, Oats, Buckwheat, Flax, Hemp, Timothy, Clover, Millet-seed; also, Corn, Peas and Beans equally well

It is, perhaps, the only machine a Farmer can use that in the increase of yield, over and over again, in a year or two.

I have abundance of testimony showing that the increase of Drilling over broad-cast sowing, is on an average from three to five bushels per acre, and the difference is often much greater. But taking the lowest estimate, (3 bushels) if you put on 40 acres, it will give you increase of 120 bushels, which would pay for two Drills. Call on me if you want a Drill, in preference to buying of a stranger that you may never see again, and if the Drill don't prove good, it will cost you all it is worth to get your money back.

In addition, I keep the very best makes of

Seed Plows, Subsoil Plows,
Harrows, Road Scrapers,
Corn Shellers, Straw Cutters,
Clover Hullers, Horn Rakes,
Horse Pitchfork, Fanning Mills,
Sewing Machines, Sugar Evaporators,
Cider Mills, Thermometer Churns,
Cider Presses, Threshing Machines,

of Pitt's Celebrated Manufacture, and in short everything a Farmer needs on his farm to help him through with his work and put money into his pocket. D. KREPS.

P. S.—I have just received Gibbs & Bro.'s Celebrated Cylinder Plow. This is undoubtedly the best plow in this county or any other. It has received the First Premium at every State and County Fair where it has been exhibited, for its good work and easy draught.

Call and see it. No charge for showing goods.
