Chronic Ulcers and Catarrh.

Mrs. Christian Zelle, aged sixty-three years, of Carondelet, St. Louis, Missouri, had a chronic ulcer on her leg which had been running for forty-three years. To use her own language, she had "tried all the doctors," but without perceptible benefit. Two of the most noted of this city advised her, as the only alternative from death, to have the leg amputated below the knee. She was troubled with an intolerable itching sensation, which only gave way to a distracting pain, which made death her daily wish. She could not sleep or rest. On March 21, this year, she commenced using Dr. Hartman's PERUNA, and to-day the leg is entirely healed, and the thankful old lady says she has slept more during the last three months than she did in the previous forty-three years.

Miss Alice Brady, of East St. Louis, Illinois, suffered from catarrh ophthalmia for five years. On April 27 she began treatment under Dr. Hartman. For a year before she was a patient of two of the best known oculists of this city, but they signally failed to help her. After one month under Dr. Hartman and his PERUNA, her eyes have almost entirely healed, and, according to her own statement, he has done more for her in this short space of time than the oculists did in the previous whole year. PERUNA, of course, did it.

Miss Annie Baker, First Avenue, Milwaukee, writes: "I take great pleasure in recommending PERUNA. For years I have suffered from Asthma. I was induced to try PERUNA. It promptly relieved the paroxysms, and its continued use renders their recurrence less and less frequent. I am confident it will cure me completely."

Walker Brothers, druggists, Batavia, O., write: "Dr. S. B. HARTMAN, Columbus, O., Dear Sir: Some two weeks ago I had a very peculiar case, and after a few questions were answered, I came to the conclusion it was catarrh of the stomach of the worst kind, of ten years' standing. The patient had consulted every physician far and near. I persuaded her to try your PERUNA and MANALIN. She had been having spasms every three or four days, and the fifth dose kept them off, and they have not returned since."

W. M. Griffith, Ashland, Ky., writes: "The large chronic ulcers of fifteen months' standing, are entirely healed. The swelling, pain and itching have all subsided, the leg is healed, and I am perfectly well. PERUNA is a wonderful remedy."

Sandwiches.

A small leak may sink a great ship and a raw onion break up a court ship.

Beau: "Why do you prefer a wood fire?"

She: "Because it pops."

What is a great deal worse than raining cats and dogs? Hailing omnibuses.

Beware of frauds. Be sure you get the genuine Dr. Thomas Electric Oil. It cures colds, croup, asthma, deafness and rheumatism.

President Arthur goes out of the White House with a dark secret in his bosom. No man knows who sews on his suspender buttons.

Young ladies who had just returned from a court of justice wished they were Bibles, because they saw so many fine looking witnesses kiss the book.

George Campbell, Hopkinsville, Ky., says: Burdock Blood Bitters is the best preparation for the blood and stomach ever manufactured.

Out West it is proper to speak of a party as "a great occasion," but Chicago ladies look offended if you say anything about "a big fete."

After a thorough test Wooster & Adams most positively assert that Acker's English Remedy is the best medicine for asthma, croup, coughs, whooping cough and all long troubles that can be found. Ask them about it; for they fully guarantee it.

"Say, Mr. Snobby, can you play cards?"
 "Why, no, Johnny, I can't play very well."
 "Well then, you'd better look out, for Ma says if Emma plays her cards well she'll catch you."

Constipation is the father of more ills than any other diseased condition. Cheney's Stomach and Liver Regulator absolutely cures it. Try it.

"Susie, darling," said a mother to her little daughter of five summers, "what would you do without your mamma?"
 "I'd put on just such a dress as I pleased every day," was the affectionate reply.

News about Town.

It is the current report about town that Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs is making some remarkable cures with people who are troubled with coughs, asthma, bronchitis and consumption. G. A. Schroeder will give any person a trial bottle free of cost. It is guaranteed to relieve and cure. Price 50 cents and $1. 5yl-7

A servant girl who had been admonished by her mistress to be very careful in washing up the best tea set was overheard shortly afterwards indulging in the following colloquy while in the act of washing the sugar basin: "If I was to drop this 'er basin, and was to catch it, I suppose I suppose I shouldn't catch it; but if I was to drop it and wasn't to catch it, I reckon I should just catch it."

Keynote to Health.

Health is wealth. Wealth means independence. The keynote is Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup, the best cough syrup in the world. Cures coughs, colds, pains in the chest, bronchitis and primary consumption. One dose gives relief in every case. Take no other. Price 50 cents in every case. Samples free. Sold by Wooster & Adams. 5yl-1st.

A woman can look a man square in the eye, blink and talk to him for an hour, while all the time she is pulling Mrs. Puffman's new bonnet to pieces mentally and decorating her own. No mortal man can do it.

Truth is mighty and must prevail. So, also, must Mishler's Herb Bitters prevail over all forms of kidney and liver diseases. Dyspepsia and indigestion likewise yield to the magic of its power. Read what Millard Moshier, of Barclay street, New York, says: "After suffering torments from dyspepsia and indigestion I found a complete cure in your remedy. My wife was also cured of severe neuralgia."

WEBSTER'S LAST SPEECH.

Delivered in the Senate in June, 1850, on the Relics of Washington.

[Ben Perley Poore.]

Daniel Webster's last speech shows the high respect which he entertained for the fathers of our liberty, and his desire to treasure all memorials of their greatness. Henry Clay had introduced a resolution providing for the original copy of Washington's farewell address, and in advocating its passage he said that in his parlor at Ashland he had a broken goblet, used as a drinking cup by Washington during his campaign, and in that parlor there was nothing so dear to him, or to those who visited it, as that old broken goblet. Mr. Webster followed, standing almost motionless, his body bent slightly forward, and his hands generally behind his back, as he uttered his patriotic and dignified words.

He said he most cordially approved of the resolution; hoped it would pass. He believed it would gratify the country. He believed it would be gratifying to every man to have the farewell address of Washington, written by his own hand, placed in the National Library. He agreed with the remarks of the Senator from Kentucky in all he had said about the pleasure which he conceived there was in feeling more universal. He arose principally to state an incident corroborative of what the Senator had related. About twenty-five years ago there was offered for sale to Congress a small cabinet of medals which had belonged to the cabinet of Washington. There were seven or eight of these medals voted by Congress to the Generals of the Revolution. They had been struck in Paris, and the largest of them was to Washington, who had chosen for the obverse the scene of his entry into Boston after its evacuation by the British; the others were to Gates, Knox and other Generals. There were also some to Dr. Franklin and other men of civil life. Washington had collected these and had placed his own likeness in the center, and twelve others around his own, making, in all, thirteen. This collection Washington had kept; after his death it had passed into the hands of his executor, and finally, from some cause, was offered for sale to Congress. A resolution was offered that they be bought. The matter was debated in the other House for two days, and finally was laid on the table by those who believed Congress had no constitutional power to buy them. He had kept his eye on them, and when Congress had refused he sent a person and bought the cabinet. They were now at his house, and when persons from all parts of the country visited him there was no object more interesting, and the first thing asked for by that small cabinet of medals collected by Washington. As Mr. Webster collected tangible mementos of Washington, so Americans now treasure up mementos of the "Expounder of the Constitution."

BOUND TO SEE A HANGING.

The Pleasant Way in Which They Stood by Their Rights.

[Arkansaw Traveler.]

In one of the Southern counties of Arkansas recently a man was sentenced to be hanged; but a few hours before the time of execution a dispatch from the Governor announced that the sentence had been commuted to imprisonment for life. The large crowd of people that had assembled to witness the tragedy exhibited great disappointment at the shameful action of the Governor, and threats that the prisoner would be lynched were made. Some time during the afternoon, when the excitement was at its height, the Sheriff received the following communication: "My dear Sir: As I am about the only scholar of any note in this great concourse of folks, I have been appointed to read here a document expressive of our feelings. We have come here to see a fellow hung, and we're glad to see him hung if that's money enough in the crowd to buy a rope. We don't know whether he's guilty or not; we don't care a fig for his sins, and if he's guilty of our business, there's many young women in this here crowd who, if disappointed now, won't never have a no young fellow in high character that has just married the prettiest kind of a gal on the strength of fetchin' her to this here shindie, and if the thing don't turn out to be a success, blamed if I don't think she will apply for a divorce. That young fellow is no an, that young gal is my wife."
