Deafness Cannot be Cured
By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

WASHINGTON LETTER.
A Weekly Budget of Interesting News from the Capital.

WASHINGTON, July 21. Representative Mercer, of Nebraska, secretary of the Republican Congressional Campaign committee returned this week from a trip to Nebraska. He is enthusiastically over the promising republican outlook, from both presidential and congressional points of view. Speaking of his own state he said: "The republicans will carry Nebraska. I believe it will be a hard fight, owing to the fact that the Democratic nominee is from Nebraska, and the republicans will win, and we have a safe majority, too." Everybody is bustling around the committee headquarters to meet the demand for sound money literature, which is becoming greater every day. The committee is prepared to supply the demand, no matter how great it may be.

Senator Faulkner, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign committee, is supporting Bryan and the Chicago platform, but he isn't much in love with either. He says of the candidate: "There is one great trouble with Bryan. He likes to talk, and in my opinion he talks too much. He should be kept quiet until the campaign opens, and then should not be allowed to speak without careful preparation. His recent speeches are not up to the standard of his Chicago speech, and they will not be unless he is given ample opportunity to prepare himself. I have noticed considerable criticism upon some of his offhand efforts. His enemies are on his trail, and they are ever ready to pick up and make use of any silly or injudicious remark he may chance to let fall. His play now is to remain silent and bottle up some of the personal joy he feels over having been selected as a candidate." In plain English, Mr. Faulkner thinks Mr. Bryan needs a guardian to keep him from making a mess of his life.

Mr. P. E. Studenbaker, of Indiana, who has just returned from Europe, says he proposes putting in a lot of active work for McKinley and Hobart and honest money. Speaking of the situation he said: "I know the farmers of the west, for I have done business with them for thirty years. They are intelligent and honest, and I cannot believe they can be influenced by sophistry to lace themselves in a humiliating position before the eyes of the world. I know Mr. Bryan, too, for I discussed the silver question with him several years ago. It will require more than high sounding phrases to catch the farmers votes this year. You must convince the average farmer that he, and not some wealthy mine owner, will be benefited before he will vote for the free coinage of silver, which would really be disastrous to the farmers."

The Modern Woman's Pastimes.

There is truly no lack of genuine muscular enterprise among the women of society this summer. Besides playing polo with wonderful long handled sorts of tennis racquets and rubber balls, on their bicycles, at three of the most famous seaside resorts they are to have bicycle tournaments. The admission fee of five dollars is really meant to bar out the rough public; and, in fact, one can buy a ticket only if well known or guaranteed to belong to what is known as the "smart set." The money taken in at the gate, in every instance will go for charity. The tournaments undoubtedly will be worth seeing, for only expert women cyclists will appear, and they are all to contest for prizes worth winning.

Every rider will be obliged to wheel her way in and out a complicated path six inches wide, marked out by hens' eggs at every turn, and according to the number of eggs left intact or crushed after wheeling over the course, one will win or lose the offered prize. To every wheel woman will be given a bicycle taken to pieces and apparently in a hopeless muddle; whoever in the shortest space of time puts the parts most correctly together again, will fall heir to the handsome cyclometer. In all the competitions an impartial committee of men and women will give judgment on comparative skill displayed.—Demorest's Magazine.
