LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS

A heavy frost visited us Monday night. Stove dealers are having a rush in trade.

Read the report of the First National Bank.

Our weather prophet predicts a cold winter.

Our local detective force is very weak just now.

Mr. S. K. Laundon is still confined to his home.

The hotels have been doing a fine trade this season.

A large crowd of people were here on reunion day.

Milk shake and ice cream signs should be taken down.

Barrett and Waite have a bran new sign. It is a dandy.

Winter wraps have not felt burdensome for the past two weeks.

Not one band of Gypsies has put in an appearance here this fall.

Matrimonial record is extremely light for this season of the year.

The fox squirrel is reported to be quite plentiful in the forest.

The strength of the mirrors is being tested at the millinery shops.

Dr. Holtbrook has decided to settle in Plymouth, instead of Norwalk.

Go and hear General Sheridan at the opera house Saturday evening.

Thanks to J. L. Chapman for a bushel of fine Late Beauty of Hebron potatoes.

The hack drivers have more time to rest since the Bee Line has changed time.

All of the leading railway lines are conducting their train service for the winter.

Teachers' examination will be held in the Union school building Saturday, October 26th.

First snow fell Monday morning, Oct. 7. This time we have a snow storm before the frost.

Inspect the bulletin boards carefully if you desire to attend a first class entertainment.

The farewell base ball game for the season was played here Saturday, Wellington vs. New London.

Our people have been well supplied with papers from Georgia, since the return of our distinguished visitors.

Rev. Mr. Furgerson of Plymouth, will fill the pulpit at the Congregational Church next Sunday morning.

In many parts of the state the boys are gathering muscle shells in the streams, with the expectation of finding pearls in them.

Sunday, Sept. 27th, was the first Sunday in thirty years that Mr. Hiram Welch, of this place, failed to attend church.

During the rainy season last fall the town suffered a wood famine; this year the coal-bins and wood-shed were filled to the brim by October 1st.

Mr. C. W. Horr was the recipient of a box containing samples of the delicious fruits from Col. Thos. E. Blackshear, of Thomasville Georgia, last week.

The Bee Line Company have decided that it would be better for the general good health of our people not to take an outing over their line in the afternoon.

Our Republican commercial travelers should remember that the fall election will be held on Tuesday, November 5th. Democrats and Prohibitionists are requested not to read this.

The town of Wellington is of no more importance to the Bee Line company than towns of half the population and which transacts not to exceed one-quarter of the business, so far as passenger train accommodations are concerned.

Ground was broken last week on what is known as the Kingsly lot, adjacent to Hoyt & Benschoten's furniture store, by C. H. Horton, for the purpose of erecting a two-story brick building 72x33, with a business room below and residence above. S. F. Black secured the contract.

A change in the running time of the trains on the Bee Line took place Sunday, October 6th. See corrected time table on first page. By the change the people have no opportunity of going east after 9:28 in the morning until 8:35 in the evening, except they take passage on the local freight east at 1:43.

The gas failed to work in the opera house Saturday evening, until a quarter before eight o'clock. Quite a number went at the usual hour, half-past seven o'clock, and returned home supposing that there was to be no performance. When the gas failed before it was when Rhea was on the stage at the opening, May 3rd, 1889.

Amusements.

S. Draper's troupe appeared at the Opera House Saturday evening and favored the audience with that old time play, Uncle Tom's Cabin. Every member appeared to be perfectly at home, therefore their several parts were played to satisfy the most exacting. The quartette of Magnolia Jubilee Singers were well worth the price of admission. They were not warblers nor operatic in style, but favored the hearers with genuine soul stirring singing. They were escorted three times in singing one piece and on each return produced a different tenor from their ranks. The quartette are abundantly able to call a larger audience without the troupe, than with, so long as they play the present piece. The troupe were nicely behaved and commanded the respect of our people. The quartette should make it a point to visit us again.

If parents, who have children subject to croup would take the advice of Fred D. Felt the druggist, they would never be without a bottle of Chamberlin's Cough Remedy in the house. It will not only cure croup but will prevent it, if used as soon as the first symptoms appear, which can always be done if the remedy is kept at hand.

The Soldiers of the 14th Congressional District hold their First Reunion at Wellington. 500 Veterans in Line of March.

Thursday Oct. 3rd was the day set apart by the soldiers of the 14th congressional district to hold their first reunion. Previous to 1889 the only general meetings of local interest was the county associations and regimental reunions, but this year an additional local organization was established in the congressional districts in the state. On account of the meeting being appointed for this place and it being the first one, an unusual amount of work was thrown upon the members of Hamlin Post, but they selected men for committee-men that were equal to the emergency and everything passed off like clock work.

Thursday morning the business houses were all dressed in flags and bunting, presenting a beautiful appearance. The Sons of Veterans were in line ready to meet the arrivals from the morning trains; also the officers and the committee of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. were in waiting at the depots to extend a hand of welcome. The forenoon was spent in receiving, greeting the old comrades and escorting them to head quarters to carry out the programme for the afternoon. It has been said that no one but a soldier knows how to shake hands, and after witnessing the meeting that day, the writer was fully convinced of the fact. An individual who has nerve enough to leave home with all its comforts and voluntarily enlist for war, exhibits an unusual amount of nerve, and the relations formed while in camp and on the march are such that are not easily forgotten.

At half-past one o'clock the line of march was begun to be formed on the square and in front of the Opera House and at half-past two the order was given to "Forward, March," which continued east on Mechanic street to Courtland Avenue, then south to the school ground, where the grand review took place. C. L. Pyke was on hand and photographed the brigade while in line; at three o'clock they returned to the opera house where the exercises were carried out according to the program.

Fun and Good Night.

MAYOR HUSTED'S ADDRESS OF WELCOME.

FELLOW SOLDIERS AND COMRADES OF THE GRAND ARMY:—As citizens and soldiers we are met today to cherish the memories of the war waged in defense of the Republic and to strengthen the ties of sympathy and comradeship formed by a companionship in arms. It is well that we should thus meet, and in this and kindred organizations, with thinking ranks as the years come and go, as we approach the last roll call and final muster out, that we should revive the friendships born of common privations shared in a common cause.

It seems fitting upon an occasion like this that the whole people should unite to voice the welcome that belongs by right to the men who suffered that the Nation might live.

Such a welcome we tender you to-day; we assure you our hearts are in it. On behalf of every man, woman and child of our little city of Wellington, I say to you, we feel honored by your presence, and greet you as heroes every one. The freedom and hospitality of the Cheese City is hereby tendered you without restrictions, and not to be measured by the strictures of her chief executive officer, but by the ample proportions of my friend, Maj. Williams of the 4th Ohio, who sits on the stage.

I trust you will enjoy to the utmost this first brigade reunion of the Grand Army of the 14th district.

The opera house was filled to overflowing, both afternoon and evening. The exercises in the evening were scarcely complete without the Kimberley Trio, but they were detained and could not come and all accepted of the situation and a royal good time prevailed with what material was present. The W. R. C. representatives were present from the following named corps, Norwalk, Elyria, Oberlin, Bellevue, Lorain, New London, Milan, Townsend, Steuben, La Grange and Avon. Eighty-one registered at the reception room. The following persons were elected as officers of the district society, Mrs. Gertrude B. Williams of Norwalk department, Chaplin of Ohio, presiding at the meeting. Mrs. S. Alice Burgess, of Collins, president, Mrs. Josephine D. Wolverton, of Norwalk, vice-president, Mrs. Susie A. C. Warden, of Avon, Treasurer.

In the evening the meeting was conducted on the plan of a conference meeting, a number were called upon to give their experience in army life. Dan White of New London always has experiences to relate which are very interesting. Dan makes them laugh. A majority of the Posts in the district were represented. The largest representation from any one post was from Elyria. At half-past nine o'clock the exercises closed, all feeling good and a general good-bye hand shake was indulged in, and the boys in blue took the evening trains and private conveyances for their several homes.

Council Proceedings.

Council met in regular session Monday evening. Mayor Husted, Clerk Goodwin, and all of the councilmen except Vischer and Bennett; minutes of previous meeting read and approved. The following bills were reported, favorably upon, and an ordinance passed for the payment of same.

Table listing council bills and amounts: E. E. Husted, salary, $25 00; R. N. Goodwin, salary and postage, 25 00; J. White, lighting lamps, 18 00; Robert Clark & Co., book, 2 50; W. E. Peirce, Oil, etc., 22 50; C. Williams, mowing park, 3 75; C. W. Horr, water for cisterns, 4 50; Clarkfield Stone Co., 222 50; W. H. Serage, repairing lockup, 2 62; S. A. Williams, 45 40; W. H. Serage, labor on streets, 96 20; Material for same, 13 50; Labor on walks, 30 04; Material for same, 21 64; Labor, laying stone, 15 20.

The usual number was ordered to repair and build sidewalks. C. H. Horton appeared and requested that the sewer from the American House, crossing to the Kingsley lot, now owned by him, be removed. Referred to committee on streets. The Mayor turned into the treasury four dollars and fifty cents as fines and licenses collected. There being nothing further the meeting adjourned.

Real Estate Transfers.

Death of Marshall C. Gates.

The residents of the north east part of the township were greatly shocked at nine o'clock Sunday morning to learn of the death of their neighbor, Marshall C. Gates. Saturday morning Mr. Gates told his sons he had some business matters in town which required his attention that day and he would go down and see to them. Late Saturday evening his sons returned from their work and not finding their father there, they concluded he had been detained here and came down town to look after him, and to their surprise found that he had not been here. They returned and notified a few of the neighbors and at day-light they began to look for him. Diligent search was made and at nine o'clock his body was found in the forest about three-fourths of a mile south of his home, dead—his life being taken with his own hand, with a bullet which entered his left temple, a revolver being found by his side with one chamber empty. The alarm was given and a messenger was sent for E. E. Husted, Justice of the Peace, to hold an inquest. The Justice repaired to the spot and decided that an inquest was not necessary as everything went to show that the act was premeditated. The body was removed to his late residence to be prepared for burial. The deceased was born in Montville, Medina Co. O., Feb. 22, 1834. He married Miss Mary Warner of Penfield, who departed this life June 14, 1889. Three children, viz. Burton, Orrin and Fanny, now Mrs. G. B. Yocum, survive them. They had resided on a farm owned by Mr. Homer Allyn for the past five years. It is now said that Mr. Gates had been suffering mentally ever since he lost his companion and his death by suicide was not unexpected. His funeral was held at two o'clock Monday afternoon, Oct. 7 at his late residence, Rev. S. D. Gammell officiating and his remains were interred by the side of his wife in the south cemetery, followed by a large concourse of people.

Obituary.

Died, in Brooklyn, N. Y., after a sad and suffering life, Miss Annie Ogden, eldest daughter of Mr. James Ogden, formerly of this place, who was for many years with Baldwin, Laundon & Co., now living in Knoxville, Tenn. After the death of her mother Annie went to England, hoping she might have a chance of recovery from the asthma to which, all her life, she had been a victim. She found, after staying a year and a half, that the winters were too damp, and returned to N. Y. quite sick. She then went into St. John's hospital for treatment, where she remained some two years as a patient. Then she joined the society called the Sisters of Charity under the auspices of the Episcopal church. This society consists of young ladies who, through sympathy for the sick and afflicted, give their time without remuneration. This she did, and it was one of the brightest spots in her life. She died of pneumonia, after a very short illness.

Col. S. K. Donavin, of Delaware, will deliver his eloquent lecture on John Brown, His Raid, His Capture, His Trial and His Execution, Friday evening, Oct. 11th, under the auspices of Col. W. F. Herrick Camp, Sons of Veterans.

Col. Donavin was an eye witness of the stirring events of that time. He saw the attack and the capture. Was present and reported the trial and accompanied John Brown to the field of execution.

His lecture is full of tragic and dramatic incidents, and many of the facts which he will relate have never been told before.

He has met with great success and all are unanimous in praising him. The press pronounce it a lecture of wonderful power and eloquence.

Announcements for the Opera House.

T. K. Donovan, Friday eve., Oct. 11. Gen. Sheridan, Saturday eve., Oct. 12. James Whitcomb Riley, Monday eve., Oct. 14. Dr. Helwig, Wednesday eve., Oct. 16.

It won't bake Bread.—In other words, Hood's Sarsaparilla will not do impossible things. Its proprietors tell plainly what it has done, submit proofs from sources of unquestioned reliability, and ask you frankly if you are suffering from any disease or affection caused or promoted by impure blood or low state of the system, to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The experience of others is sufficient assurance that you will not be disappointed in the result.

MARRIED.

HELMAN-CRANE.—In Wellington, on the evening of Oct. 5, by Rev. S. D. Gammell, at the residence of the bride's mother, in the midst of gifts, flowers, congratulations and friends, Mr. Walter Helman and Miss Luella A. Crane, all of Wellington.

DIED.

BAKER.—Died at his residence, in this place, Oct. 1st, 1890, Charles Baker, aged 37 years.

"Charley," as we used to call him, was a kind-hearted, social, well-cultured, good fellow. He leaves a wife and one child to whom we offer condolence for the loss of a loving husband and kind father. Through his long period of sickness and suffering he exhibited the heroism of true manhood. Many will miss the annual courteous visits of Charles Baker, the nurseryman. Thanks is hereby tendered by his grief-stricken wife for sympathy and financial aid extended to husband by his many friends during his last sickness, death and burial.

We are willing to bear personal testimony to the efficacy and value of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which we have been advertising some years in our paper, having used it for blood impurities with great success. It is a preparation of standard merit, made of perfectly pure ingredients, and thoroughly effective in cleansing the system. For eruptions, boils, etc., it can be relied upon every time. Our own experience with it has been most gratifying, and we are glad to give it this endorsement.—Athol (Mass.) Transcript.
