MONTANA has been admitted as the forty-first State in the Union.

THE PRESIDENT is busy preparing his annual message to Congress.

GOV. ELEC. CAMPBELL will receive numerous applications for positions.

THE General Assembly of Georgia can not agree on a day for adjournment.

GOV. FORAKER has issued his proclamation for Thanksgiving, Thursday, Nov. 23.

THE election matters in Montana have not yet been settled. This is rather of a poor showing in starting out.

THERE appears to be no lack of timber for candidates for the United States Senate among the Democrats.

EX-TREASURER SPINER predicts a financial panic if the United States continues the use of silver dollars as currency.

WE have received no statement of the Prohibition vote cast, but it was large enough to assist in defeating Governor Foraker.

THE Commercial travelers are making a desperate effort to bring about the two-cent mileage system over the railroads in all the States.

THE Western Reserve turned out her old time Republican majorities, but the southern part of the State played the school-boy act.

EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND was not eligible to cast a ballot this year, as he had not gained a residence in the ward where he now resides.

THE reports from Cincinnati on Sunday last, must have been highly gratifying to the luke-warm Republicans. The saloons were thrown open and unmolested during the day.

GOVERNOR Foraker will return to Cincinnati in January next and resume the practice of law. He will doubtless find it more lucrative than the present salary received.

THE Republicans elected a Lieutenant Governor in 1878 when the Democrats elected Governor Allen, and the symptoms are favorable to electing one this year. History repeats itself.

If the State is restricted this winter we may expect that Holmes County will be made the tail of the Fourteenth Congressional district, which will insure a Democratic member.

THE Roman Catholics are enjoying a spiritual feast at their centenary, now in session in Baltimore, Md. They claim wonderful progress has been made through the instrumentality of their church.

ASHLAND county is determined to have a Republican custodian of its funds. T. C. Harvey has been elected treasurer to a second term, against a Democratic majority of six hundred. Harvey must be a "poplar tree."

QUITE a number of predictions are being made as to the course the next General Assembly will pursue in regard to the Dow law. Some think that it will be repealed forthwith, while others claim that additional props will be added in the way of temperance reform.

BRO. HILDEBRAND, of the Ashland Times has been elected State Senator. The Knights of the Quill will get there if an opportunity is offered. If the brother's aspirations still continue in that direction at the close of his Senatorial term, we hope he may reach the top of the political ladder.

PRESIDENT HARRISON has issued a proclamation for the admission of Washington Territory as a State. The forty-second star can now be placed upon the American flag. The elector of forty-five years can well remember the admission of Kansas in the winter of 1861, as the thirty-fourth State; then comes Nevada, W. Va., Nebraska, Colorado, the Dakotas, Montana and Washington. What territory next?

THE WEEKLY GAZETTE of Cincinnati (the weekly edition of the Commercial Gazette) stands in the front rank of weekly newspapers of the Nation. For general news at home and abroad, correct market reports, sketches of travel, short stories, adventures, for boys and girls, it is not surpassed East or West. It is strictly speaking, a Family paper, and worth several times the subscription price. A large number of attractive premiums are being offered with the Weekly Gazette this year.

It appears that Ohio, although a Republican State, cannot have two Republ-can Senators. This is a strange state of affairs, as the majority should be represented by a representative of their own party. Benjamin F. Wade and John Sherman were the last to represent us at the same time, the former was succeeded by Hon. A. G. Thurman, March 4th, 1869. He served two terms, Geo. H. Pendleton one, and Henry B. Payne's time will expire March 4th, 1891, to be filled by a Democrat.

Death of Col. Goodloe.

Thursday evening, October 31st, Col. W. C. Goodloe, of Lexington, Ky., appeared at the opera house in this place and delivered the last Republican speech of the campaign. On Friday he spent a portion of the day at the American House with his political friends in social conversation as he had to wait until the afternoon train before he could leave town. Saturday morning's papers contained the announcement that Col. Goodloe and Col. Swope, two leading Republicans of Kentucky, and residing in Lexington, had met in the post office on the previous day and engaged in a deadly encounter over an old grudge that had been in existence since May, 1888. Swope shot Goodloe in the bowels, and Goodloe in turn slashed him with his knife fourteen times, causing instant death. Goodloe walked to a physician's office and immediately commenced preparing for death. He died at 1 o'clock Sunday. Col. Swope was a bachelor, and Col. Goodloe was married and had eight children.

It is too bad for his wife and children, but for the two men we have no sympathy. This thing of keeping up that old-time, ruinous "code of honor" should become a thing of the past. It is something that belongs to the dark ages and not to an enlightened community. Now that these two noted men have carried out the full text of the code it will probably be the means of arousing the good people of Kentucky to a sense of a better understanding. The shotgun, revolver, pistol and bowie knife should be done away with so far as using them as a means of so-called self-protection is concerned. Let them learn to love God and keep His commandments, and all will be well with them.

The Election.

The election is over and, contrary to the expectations of the most sanguine Republicans, we have been completely routed. There may be some chance for Lieutenant Gov. Lampton and some of the State officers being elected, but that will probably not be determined yet for a number of days. Governor Foraker had his faults, like all other men in public places. He occasionally manifested strong points and occasionally weak ones, but in main he was an executive who was not afraid to use his prerogative to preserve law and order. The people of Ohio have felt perfectly safe under his administration. When he took his seat the morals of the Queen City of the State were in a desperate condition. The laws were disregarded in every way, the Sabbath was a day set apart for all kinds of rowdiness and vice, and the result was it was actually depopulating the city; but the gallant Governor came to the rescue of the mayor and the Sabbath was respected and the once good name of the city reinstated. The reasons for his defeat may be summed up in a few words. The determined stand taken by the Governor in behalf of the Sunday law during the fight between the law and order people and the saloon, caused a revolt among the saloon element in Cincinnati and that city, which Foraker carried by over 6,000 plurality two years ago, gave Campbell a plurality of 7,000 votes. This revolt was general among the saloonists throughout the State. The third term cry also had some effect and lost the head of the ticket many votes. All in all, the fight was made desperate against Governor Foraker by the opponents of the Sunday law, and this was the chief reason for his defeat. Now the Democrats will have all their own way, and we will see how matters stand two years hence. The following is a letter received from the Governor by Col. Couch, which shows how manly he accepts of the situation, and that he is still ready to do all he can for his party:

COLEMBUS, Nov. 8th, '89.
Col. Geo. L. Couch, Wellington, Ohio:
DEAR COLONEL—Many thanks for your very kind letter. Do not harbor any feeling of revenge against anybody; that does not help the matter, but only has a tendency to make matters worse, particularly for the party. Defeat is hard to bear, of course, and particularly when one falls alone and the rest of the ticket goes through, and the causes are so exasperating, but, nevertheless, it must be borne manfully and without complaint. I shall find consolation in my law practice, where I can do much better for myself and my family than I have been doing here or could have done, had I been re-elected. I shall be always ready to help my party and my friends, who have been so loyal and so devoted to my interests. All that I ask of them is that they bear manfully the reverse that has come and support the party only the more loyally in the future; thereby they will show the quality of Republicanism that I have tried to represent.
Very truly yours, etc.,
J. B. FORAKER.

Rheumatism

is undoubtedly caused by lactic acid in the blood. This acid attacks the fibrous tissues, and causes the pains and aches in the back, shoulders, knee, ankles, hips, and wrists. Thousands of people have in Hood's Sarsaparilla a positive cure for rheumatism. This medicine by its purifying action, neutralizes the acidity of the blood, and also builds up and strengthens the whole body.

Literary Notes.
SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE for November contains a third African article—a valuable addition to the notable papers of professor Henry Drummond and Joseph Thomson; a discussion of some startling problems in International Law affecting the United States in the event of another European war; the description of an old Spanish university by a well-known novelist; an explanation of the relation of electricity to health by a high medical authority; an army surgeon's account of the modern Sanitary Corps which relieves the sick and wounded; and interesting essays, fiction, and poems. Most of the articles are richly illustrated.

WINTER

Is coming on, and with it Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis and Consumption.
Drs. Gatchell of 174 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, publish a little book on the prevention and cure of such troubles by home treatment; this they will mail for one two-cent stamp.

JOSEPH JEFFERSON.

"The Century Magazine" in 1890—Joseph Jefferson's Auto-biography—Novels by Frank R. Stockton, Amelia E. Barr, and others—A Capital Programme.

DURING 1890 The Century Magazine (whose recent successes have included the famous "War Papers," the Lincoln History and George Kenner's series on "Siberia and the Exile System") will publish the long looked-for Auto-biography of Joseph Jefferson, whose "Rip van Winkle" has made his name a household word. No more interesting record of a life upon the stage could be laid before the public. Mr. Jefferson is the fourth in a generation of actors, and, with his children and grandchildren, there are six generations of actors among the Jeffersons. His story of the early days of the American stage, when, as a boy, traveling in his father's company, they would settle down for a season in a Western town, playing in their own extemporized theater,—the particulars of the creation of his famous "Rip van Winkle," how he acted "Ticket-of-Leave Man" before an audience of that class in Australia, etc.—all this, enriched with illustrations and portraits of contemporary actors and actresses, and with anecdotes, will form one of the most delightful serials The Century has ever printed.

Amelia E. Barr, Frank R. Stockton, Mark Twain, H. H. Boyesen, and many other well-known writers will furnish the action for the new volume, which is to be unusually strong, including several novels, illustrated novellas, and short stories. "The Women of the French Salons" are to be described in a brilliant series of illustrated papers. The important discoveries made with the great Lick Telescope at San Francisco (the largest telescope in the world) and the latest explorations relating to prehistoric America (including the famous Serpent Mound, of Ohio) are to be chronicled in The Century.
Prof. George P. Fisher of Yale University is to write a series on "The Nature and Method of Revelation," which will attract every Bible student. Bishop Potter of New York will be one of several prominent writers who are to contribute a series of "Present-day Papers" on living topics, and there will be art papers, timely articles, etc., and the choicest pictures that the greatest artists and engravers can produce.

Every bookseller, postmaster, and subscription agent takes subscriptions to The Century (100¢ a year), or remittance may be made directly to the publishers, THE CENTURY CO., of New York. Begin new subscriptions with November (the first issue of the volume) and get Mark Twain's story, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," in that number.

CABINETS $2 PER DOZ.
13 CABINETS, NICE FRAME AND MAT FOR $2.38.

Thanking our patrons for their prompt and kindly response to our ad. of last week, we will further say we have arranged direct with the manufacturers so that we can supply to all who wish 13 cabinets their choice of four frames, including mats, all excellent in design and quality, for the low price of $2.38. We are enabled to do this and get as much for our work as those who charge $2.75, as by booking our own orders we save 25 cents, also the agent's commission on the sale of the frames. We prefer to give our patrons, rather than strangers, the whole benefit; and you can have frames or not, as you prefer. We believe this is the best offer in this line ever made in this vicinity. It is no shoddy work, but for $2 we will make as good cabinets as have been or can be sent out by other parties here for $4. in order to serve our customers as promptly as possible a large part of the work will be done outside of the gallery. How long this offer may last we do not know. All orders booked will be filled according to agreement. Let everybody get all the pictures they want. Place your orders early. Remember the place, at SAUNDERS'.
