Washington Letter.

[From Our Regular Correspondent.]
WASHINGTON, Nov. 15, 1889.

Secretary Blaine's response to the toast of "Our Country and Her President" at the banquet which followed the dedication of the Catholic University in this city Wednesday, was one of the happiest efforts of his life. This is high praise, I know, for the Secretary seems to be possessed to a greater extent than any other living man, of the peculiar and fortunate faculty of always saying the right thing at the right time, and in just the right way, but it is deserved. Only two men of the present generation besides Mr. Blaine could have done equal justice in the same number of words to the toast. One of them—Henry Ward Beecher—is dead, and the other—Robert G. Ingersoll—would hardly be likely to attend the dedication ceremonies of any institution controlled by a church, Catholic or Protestant. The President, Vice-President and all the members of the cabinet attended the banquet and were interested listeners to the remarks of Mr. Blaine.

America truly leads the world in inventions. The new smokeless gunpowder adopted by several European governments is, according to the annual report of Brigadier General Benet, Chief of the ordnance, the invention of one American. It is surmised that it was taken to Europe instead of being offered to our own Government because more money could be obtained for it over there.

Secretary Rusk gave the members of the Association of American Agricultural Colleges and Experiment stations, which has been holding a convention here this week, a reception at his residence Wednesday night.

The Jefferson club, a small Democratic organization which was started during the early days of the Cleveland administration, has given up the ghost. It could not exist without Government pap.

The All American Congress is back in Washington, having finished its forty days excursion. It is probable that the members will rest until Monday when regular sittings will begin. Among the subjects to be discussed will be customs regulations and Customs Union; Extradition; Sanitation of Ships and Quarantine; Lighthouse dues, Weights and Measures; Patent Rights; Copyright; and Trade and Transportation between the United States and Spanish America. Reports on each of these topics have been prepared, each written by an expert in the line treated of, from the best data obtainable.

A new candidate for the clerkship of the House has entered the field in the person of ex-Representative Guenther, of Wisconsin.

Mrs. Harrison has returned to the White House. She has entirely recovered from her recent indisposition.

Good News. We want every mother to know that croup can be prevented. True croup never appears without warning. The first symptoms is hoarseness, then the child appears to have taken a cold or a cold may have accompanied the hoarseness from the start. After that a peculiar rough cough is developed, which is followed by the croup. The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse; a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy would prevent the attack. Even after the rough cough has appeared, the disease may be prevented by using this remedy as directed. The only safe way is to keep a 50 cent bottle of the Remedy in the house for use whenever the symptoms of the disease appear. For sale by Fred D. Felt, Druggist.
