Reports from New Jersey state that the recent wet weather has done incalculable damage to the peach crop. The late varieties, from which the highest prices are realized, have been so much ruined by coming in contact with each other owing to the high winds, that they have rotted and fallen from the trees. In Hunterdon County alone the loss is estimated at $100,000. Some orchards have lost a thousand baskets each.

George H. Daniels, of the New York Central railroad, evidently understands the value of printer's ink as a motive power in business, judging by the following from the Rochester (N. Y.) Herald: "The New York Central was formerly the chief railroad servative advertiser of all the railroads running out of New York. Latterly it has largely increased its space in all the New York dailies, and is doing considerable outside advertising. The new passenger agent, Mr. Daniels, believes in informing the public through the columns of the daily press when the many trains on his road leave, what accommodations they have in the way of sleeping and drawing room coaches, and where the trains go to."

Business failures occurring throughout the country during the week ended September 21 number for the United States 177, and for Canada 21, or a total of 198, as compared with a total of 153 the previous week. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 228.

BOULANGER COUNTED OUT

General belief in Paris that Fraud Was Committed in the Recent Election and That the General was Fairly Elected. LONDON, Sept. 24.—The general belief in Paris is that General Boulanger was elected in the Montmartre district Sunday and counted out. The fact that his election by a good majority was at first concealed by the government's representatives and that there was considerable delay in changing the announcement to one of defeat, gives color to charges that are being freely made to the effect that the ballots were manipulated by the government's agents. The general result of the elections shows that there was no need for the government to resort to such desperate measures as are alleged, for Boulanger did not develop enough strength throughout the country to seriously endanger the continued existence of the present government.

Those who believe fraud was committed, however, point out that at the time the votes for Montmartre were counted the poll had not been received from the province in sufficient number to show how matters were going. The government was alarmed at the strength shown by Boulanger in this particular district and, fearing that it indicated the general feeling of the country, they determined to at least deprive the Boulangerists of the personal leadership of their idol.

It is worth noting that those who make this serious charge include not only Boulangists, but men of all shades of political opinion. The result of the election is considered as satisfactory for the government as there was any reason to hope for. New ballots are required in more than one-third of the districts, and the Republicans expect to win a majority of these. From present indications by the government will come out finally with a small but safe majority.

PARIS, Sept. 24.—Returns from 540 divisions show the election of 224 Republicans and 189 Opposition members. In 177 divisions supplementary ballots will be necessary. The new Chamber of Deputies will probably comprise 369 Republicans and 301 members of the Opposition.

THE ELEVENTH CENSUS.

Collection of Statistics Has Already Begun—Appropriation of the Work and Organization of the Bureau. WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The work of the Census Bureau is now about organized. Although the actual enumeration of the people does not begin until next June, yet that has become the smallest part of the work performed at the decennial census of the United States. The statistics of manufactures, commerce, etc., covering a period of ten years, require the labor of a large number of special agents and an organization of the work that must be complete and exact in order to produce the best results. In order that the system of carrying on the business of the office may be as perfect as possible, Superintendent Porter has apporportioned the entire work among eighteen chiefs of as many divisions and their sub-divisions.

The organization of the office is far in advance of what it was on the 23d of September ten years ago. It is Mr. Porter's purpose to complete the work of the census as soon as possible after the actual enumeration of the population has been completed. He has for this reason finished the preliminary work, completed the organization of the office, and is now prepared for the collection and compilation of statistics. In fact, the collection of statistics has already been begun.

PENSION SWINDLER CAUGHT. Arrest of a Prominent Attorney of Youngstown, O., Who Collected Pension Money by Impersonating a Dead Man.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 24.—A sensation was caused here last night by the arrest of George S. Swanson, a leading and well-known attorney. The arrest was made at the instance of United States Detective F. H. Pipes, of Washington, who charges Swanson with fraudulently collecting pension money by impersonating a dead man. It appears Swanson secured a pension of thirty dollars per quarter for Henry Pope in December, 1886. One year later Pope died. Swanson continued to get his mail at a country post-office and by forging the names of witnesses and Pope's, and as so many acknowledging the same, continued to draw the money for one year after Pope's death.

The Pension Office learned of the transactions through a former friend of Swanson's, who swore vengeance for a certain legal transaction, and an officer was sent here with the above result. Swanson was taken to Cleveland.

ELMHURST, N. Y., Sept. 24.—A young man named Maxwell Straub, of Reading, Pa., who was arrested here on Friday last charged with intoxication, died in jail yesterday afternoon. Proposed Amendment to the Constitution of Ohio.

TAXATION. AMENDMENT NO. 1.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, That a proposition shall be submitted to the electors of this State on the first Tuesday after the first of November, 1890, to amend Section 2 of Article XII of the Constitution of the State of Ohio, so that it shall read as follows:

ARTICLE XII. Section 2. The General Assembly shall provide for the raising of revenue for the support of the State and local governments; but taxes shall be uniform on the same class of subjects. Polling grounds, public school houses, houses used exclusively for public worship, institutions of purely public charity, public property used exclusively for any public purpose, and personal property for an assessed and accruing value not exceeding five hundred dollars for each individual, may, by general laws, be exempted from taxation; and the value of all property so exempted shall, from time to time, be ascertained and published, as may be directed by law.

Section 3. At each election these electors desiring to vote for such amendment
