

Mr. Beecher's Church at Brooklyn. Harper for July has a sketch of a forenoon at Henry Ward Beecher's Church, which we copy.

Over the Fulton Ferry and follow the crowd, was the opinion given by one who knew, to an inquirer who asked how to find Mr. Beecher's Church in Brooklyn.

At the corner of Hicks street, (if that is the name) the throng turned and pushed along with varying eagerness as if they were already too late.

There were already dozens wedged about the doors upon the inside. The seats of the pewholders were protected by the rain, and the church was a large plain building with a gallery on both sides, two galleries in front, and an organ and choir in the rear.

Presently the streets were full. The church was a large plain building with a gallery on both sides, two galleries in front, and an organ and choir in the rear.

At the opening of Tuesday, April 4, Sir Charles Trevelyan, Finance Minister of Great Britain, made a statement in the House of Commons.
