WANTED TO SEE WORLD; RAN AWAY IS CAUGHT HERE

Martin Vogel, Missing From Home In Pittsburgh, Found Near Mt. Vernon

BOY TELLS STORY FULL OF INTEREST

Given Money By Local Sunday School And Sent On His Way Rejoicing

Martin Vogel, 16, who disappeared from his home, No. 8 Luella street, Pittsburgh, Pa., last July, was found late Saturday night by Sheriff Mosholder and Juvenile Officer Patrick Purcell sleeping peacefully in the hay-mow at the home of George Bennett, just east of Mt. Vernon on the Gambler road.

About 11 o'clock Saturday night Mr. Bennett saw someone enter his barn. He immediately called the sheriff. The officers responded and upon entering the hay-mow found the boy asleep in the hay.

The lad had quite an interesting story to tell.

He stated that he was the son of Henry Vogel, living at the above address in Pittsburgh. He stated that he wanted to see the world and ran away from home last July. He stated that he had $9 when he left home. Young Vogel stated he fell in with a man and journeyed to Steubenville, Ohio. There he left his companion and journeyed on alone. He told the officers that he finally obtained work on the farm of Floyd B. Vanausdale at Shelby, Ohio.

Recently the boy was seized with homesickness and last Friday he left Shelby, intending to return to his father's home. The boy told the officers he walked all the way from Shelby to Mt. Vernon. He said he was trying to reach Orrville, for he knew the way from there to Pittsburgh.

Young Vogel was brought to the city and placed in the detention ward at the county jail. Early Sunday morning the boy told Officer Purcell that his parents were members of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Juvenile Officer Purcell, immediately called R. L. Jones, superintendent of the M. E. Sunday school. Mr. Jones directed the officer to take the lad to the session of Sunday school. This was done and during the session sufficient money was raised to purchase a ticket to Pittsburgh for the boy and give him a little money for meals.

Juvenile Officer Purcell took the boy to the Pennsylvania 2:05 train Sunday afternoon, purchased him a ticket to Pittsburgh and sent him on his way rejoicing.

JAMES M'GOUGH DIES ON TRAIN WHILE ON HIS WAY TO CANTON

Was A Visitor In Mt. Vernon Sunday; Well Known Former Resident Dies Suddenly.

James McGough, the first linotype operator in Knox county, died very suddenly on a Pennsylvania train at Orrville Sunday afternoon while returning to his home in Canton from a visit with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Grant Payne, of this city.

According to word received here from Canton Monday morning, internal hemorrhages were the cause of death. Mr. McGough had a severe attack of influenza last winter and it is thought that the hemorrhages were a result of this.

The deceased was alone at the time of his death. Although his wife frequently made the trip to Mt. Vernon, she remained in Canton this particular time.

The remains were to arrive in Mt. Vernon Monday afternoon and the funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. McGough was about 45 years of age. He was a native of Knox county and after serving his apprenticeship as a printer, worked at this trade until the time of his death. After leaving Mt. Vernon, he went to Newark and, about a year ago, went to Canton, where he was employed on the Canton Daily News.

He was a member of the Knights of Pythias.

He leaves no children.
