There are many white soaps, each represented by "just as good as the Ivory." They are not, but like all counterfeits, they lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for Ivory Soap and insist upon having it. 'Tis sold everywhere.

NORTHERN WOOD COUNTY NEWS.

Interesting Items from Neighboring Towns, Gathered by Special Correspondents, for the Journal.

ROACHTON.
 Feb. 25.—Joseph Newton of Bowling Green, spent Tuesday with friends in Roachton.
 Miss Nettie Creps has just returned from a pleasant visit with Mrs. T. Quinn, of Toledo.
 Miss Anna Shaller has just returned from a visit with friends in Tontogany.
 Joseph Newton of Bowling Green, has sold his farm to Shipman Bros., for $10,000.

LIME CITY.
 Feb. 24.—Mrs. Goss of Oberlin, agent for the American Bible Society, gave an interesting and instructive talk on the subject of the Bible, to a good size audience last Sunday eve. in the M. E. church.
 Miss Margie Creps returned home from Cleveland this week.
 Isaac Whitson and wife are on the sick list.
 James Russell was in Sugar Ridge last week.
 The dreaded la grippe has not slighted the innocent babe on its journey through this vicinity, and it seems to have no respect of persons, many can be thankful they are not afflicted with the strange disease.
 Miss Lottie Clegg and Miss Kittie Caldwell of Perrysburg, visited Mrs. Minnie Brownsberger on Wednesday.
 Miss Celia Leverton of Bowling Green, visited relatives here the past week.
 It is with regret that our young friend Herman Hanson who has been with us for three years as telegraph operator and ticket agent, is to leave us soon, to take charge of a pump station on the oil pipe line near Bowling Green. A more kind and open hearted young man, with a willingness to help, in all respects, is very seldom found. He will be missed not only in the office, but in the Sunday School and church. His many friends wish him success in his new position.
 Lewis Enach is recovering from a siege of la grippe.

STONY RIDGE.
 Feb. 24.—Business is very dull in this vicinity at present on account of the late heavy rains, mud and bad weather in general.
 F. Noble and family of Swanton, were the guests of their parents and brother J. D. Noble and wife and Dr. H. E. Noble the first of this week. It is understood that they have some intention of moving to the Ridge again.
 M. Weaver and family of Alveta, Mich., accompanied by their niece, Miss Sadie Cook, are visiting their relatives and many friends at the Ridge this week.
 Miss Emma Debbes of Toledo, spent Sunday with her parents, returning to the city on Monday.
 Miss Grace Morse who has been staying in East Toledo for some time, is home again.
 Miss Nellie Hubbell, who has been spending the winter in Toledo, returned home to the Ridge last week to assist her foster mother, Mrs. J. D. Noble, who has been very feeble for some time, but is improving.
 Samuel Swope who has recently returned from Washington Territory, with his wife, were calling on old acquaintances on the first of the week.
 H. A. Kennel and family are visiting relatives and friends in Swanton and Delta this week.
 C. L. Fike of Freeport, was in town on Sunday last.
 Mrs. D. C. VanVorhis who has for a number of years been almost a helpless invalid was most miraculously cured by faith on the first of last week, and is now able to walk around and visit her neighbors, and attend the evening service at the M. E. church on Thursday last.
 It is thought that there will be a number of very brilliant weddings come off in the Spring.
 A young woman of East Toledo was at the Ridge last Saturday hunting a runaway husband. It is very plain that East Toledo is keeping up her end for sensations.
 The saw mill, wooden bowl factory, and stone crusher are all running.
 It is expected that several new buildings will be erected as soon as the weather will permit.
 Frank Noble has moved into Samuel Baker's house.
 Several cases of measles are reported around town.
 Dr. Noble had a consultation call to Toledo this week.

LEMBOYNE.
 Feb. 25.—Business is a little dull and plenty of mud and rain.
 Mrs. Nanny Truman is on the sick list.
 Miss Rana Truman of Toledo, was home over Sunday.
 Frank Vandamine and Miss Minnie Lion of Midias, Lenawee Co., Mich., are visiting friends here.
 On account of the rainy weather last Friday night, the debate was a failure and also the masquerade dance. The debating class will give the same programme this week Friday night.
 The box school held under the auspices of the Sunday school at the church last Tuesday night, the proceeds to go for an organ, was a grand success financially, regardless of the bad weather. The net proceeds were thirty-three dollars. When LeMoynes undertakes anything it generally does it about right.
 Hopsis Bringman has his sawmill set up and is now ready to do work.
 There is a phrenologist holding lectures at the hall this week. If you want your bumps felt, now is the time.

Dowling.
 Feb. 23.—Dowling is still booming. Our little town still has several pipe-line men on hand, though a good many of them have gone to the burg.
 M. R. Gorrill was in Toledo last week on business.
 I see that our Lime City correspondent and his friends offer to help us out of the mud, though I see they don't come at a very lively rate. It is my opinion that Lime City should enforce the laws in regard to selling liquor to minors, as I see several minors who boast that they can get liquor in Lime City, if they cannot purchase it any place else.
 J. C. Hayes, our Ticket Agent, says that Dowling is bound to make a fine little town, and it is my opinion that if all the citizens of Dowling were just as energetic as Mr. Hayes, we would have one of the best and finest looking little towns in Northwestern Ohio in a short time. Our business places seem to be doing a rushing business. E. S. Townsend, our boot and shoe dealer, says that if the work keeps coming in at the rate that it has for the past few days he will have to have a clerk as it will be impossible for him to supply the wants of the people.
 D. J. Shoemaker says that it keeps himself and wife and two clerks busy handling goods over the counter to customers.
 L. Williamson still keeps business lively in his line in spite of the mud. His sign reads—highest prices paid for No. 1 corn.
 M. R. Gorrill is fixing up the machinery in his stove works, and will soon be ready to start things booming in his line of business.
 Prof. Alexander, who has been lecturing at the M. E. church for the past few evenings closed on Saturday evening.
 Jacob Kinzig and wife intend moving to Toledo in the near future.
 A son of Mr. Linamy died on Tuesday of lung trouble, and was buried on Friday. Mr. Linamy has the heart felt sympathy of the entire community in his sad affliction.

You are in a Bad Fix
 But we will cure you if you will pay us. Our message is to the Weak, Nervous and Debilitated, who, by early Evil Habits, or Later Indiscretions, have trifled away their vigor of Body, Mind and Manhood, and who suffer all those effects which lead to Premature Decay, Consumption or Insanity. If this means you, send for and read our BOOK OF LIFE, written by the greatest Specialist of the day, and sent, sealed, by addressing Dr. Parker's Medical and Surgical Institute, 153 North Spruce St., Nashville, Tenn.

Notice to Correspondents.
 Please send in your letters early. We would like to have them reach us not later than Wednesday, of each week.

OUR COUNTRY.

WHITTIER'S LATEST POEM.
 Our thought of thee is glad with hope,
 Dear country of our love and prayers;
 Thy way is down no fatal slope,
 But up to freer sun and airs.
 Tried as by furnace fires, and yet
 By God's grace only stronger made;
 In future tasks before thee set
 Thou shalt not lack the old-time aid.
 The fathers sleep, but men remain
 As true and wise and brave as they;
 Why count the loss without the gain?
 The best is that we have to-day.
 No lack was in thy primal stock,
 No weakening founders built here;
 There were the men of Plymouth Rock,
 The Puritan and the Cavalier.
 And these whose firm endurance gained
 The freedom of the souls of men,
 Whose hands unstained in peace maintained
 The swordless commonwealth of Penn.
 And time shall be the power of all
 To do the work that duty bids:
 And make the people's Council Hall
 As lasting as the Pyramids.
 The lesson all the world shall learn,
 The nations at thy feet shall sit;
 Earth's furthest mountain tops shall burn
 With watchfires from thine own uplift.
 Great, without seeking to be great
 By fraud or conquest—rich in gold,
 But richer in the large estate
 Of virtue which thy children hold.
 With peace that comes of purity,
 And strength to simple justice due,
 So owns our loyal dream of thee,
 God of our fathers, make it true.
 Oh, land of land to thee we give
 Our love, our trust, our service free:
 For thee thy sons shall nobly live,
 And at thy need shall die for thee.

A Correction.
 In the article last week "The Farmers' Alliance," the types made it say "the tariff on intoxicating drinks is now as it ever has been, the eternal enemy of good government, the home and mankind." What the Alliance did say was this: "the traffic in intoxicating drinks is ever as it has been the eternal enemy &c."
 We wish to quote its words correctly, first, because of their truth squarely expressed; next, because of the credit which is its due of speaking honestly upon an issue which political parties have been wont to evade or ignore.
 I have been thinking, let me say what I thought right here:
 What a grand leadership both civic and military, has been granted our noble State of Ohio for the entire Nation. See its names, Grant, Sherman, Sheridan, Garfield, Chase, Waite, Windom and our ex-president Hayes who still lives to be a leader in all benevolent and philanthropic works. It is not best to say we are proud of these leaders. We thank God we had them, the Nation had them when we could not do without them. They are gone now. Their glory remains and it is our inheritance.
 We are thinking of that other leadership, in another line and of a different gender. When the women good and great struck to the front, and with true heroism would pray the saloons out and the reign of temperance in.
 They did good for the time and set an example. They were leaders and will find a following in all the years to come. Because they had one bright, right idea, which all the people, male and female may well and will soon take up, that to sell or to use intoxicants as drink is evil, all evil and no good.
 The farmers in their convention say much of the burden of the liquor traffic rests on them. Taxes, building penitentiaries, jails, almshouses to shelter the paupers and courts to try the criminals which the business engenders. It is as good as a discovery. They have found it out and are willing to stay so.
 We see nowhere, in any State, this declaration better made or more plainly and manfully, than in this convention of the farmers of Ohio. Leaders they are and as somebody must lend why not the working men and farmers of the good State of Ohio? Who better than they may invite and inspire the same classes in other States and lead on their organization? They have a new party. Why not have their platform large enough to make standing room for all right-thinking people who are willing to stand with them. And they are a multitude, a strong host which will be constantly increasing in numbers. It will be a grand majority when we all are brave enough to stand together for truth and right.

TRUNING OF GRAPE VINES.
 On the above subject, in an address before Ohio Horticultural Society, E. H. Cushman of Euclid, Ohio, gave the following:
 Before planting we will take the young plant and trim the top to three or less buds, and the roots to eight inches. This will start both top and root growth near what was the first cutting, making a compact plant the first season. The time to prune is while the vine is in the dormant state. In our latitude this is from the first of November to the middle or last of March.
 The first two years we trim the vine for wood, or what amounts to the same thing, to get it in the right shape and condition to bear fruit. The first summer a vine should make three or four canes six or more feet in length, with very few laterals (little limbs from the main cane.)
 In vineyard planting the first season's growth is allowed to lie on the ground, but for the amateur it would be more satisfactory to tie to stakes. The stakes should be five or six feet above ground.
 In either stake or trellis training, the first pruning after the vine has been set should bring our vine back to one cane, with from three to eight buds, and about twenty inches long. When these buds start in the spring, rub off all but three or four of the topmost. This will give a clear neck or stem to the vine next to the ground, which greatly facilitates clean cultivation and clean fruit. From this stage of growth pruning has for its object shape of vine and concentration growth and fruiting capacity.
 Of all our fruit plants there is not one that can be as readily trained to suit the fancy of its possessor as the grape vine. There are many forms of training the grape, but I will speak more particularly of the one most generally in use in the eastern states—the three or four wire trellis. This is to me the most practical and readily understood.
 Having grown our vine the second summer with three or more canes, we are ready to prune it for its first crop of fruit.
 We will leave two canes with about eight buds each and one three-bud spur—this above the canes if possible. In this operation we have removed about six-sevenths of the past season's growth, thus concentrating the fruiting and coming growth to a very small portion of our vine. Now, with our two canes tied to the lower wire, one out each way, we are ready for the next year's growth.
 The spur buds will, in all probability start vigorously, as may all of the buds; but on the arm canes some buds start vigorously, while others are weak. These last should be rubbed off; also any secondary buds which may start. Should there be no choice in the buds to rub off, destroy the under ones. This will leave them evenly distributed along the arm, tying them to the upper wires as they become long enough.
 All after-treatment of the vine, under this system, is to cut back to from one to five spurs and two fruiting canes, which should start near the main stem.

March Magazines.
 A decided acquisition to the staff of the COSMOPOLITAN MAGAZINE is Mr. Bradner Mathews, President of the Nineteenth Century Club, the well known litterateur, who takes charge of the department of book reviews. The keen critical taste of Mr. Mathews, and his fine judgment in literary matters, will make his opinion valued in every household. Mr. Mathews' name, added to that of Edward Everett Hale, in charge of "Social Problems," Murat Halsted reviewing "Current Events," and Miss Bissland with her European articles, gives the COSMOPOLITAN a departmental staff of exceptional brilliancy.

"THE HOUSEHOLD FRIEND."—A glance at the contents of PETERSON for March will prove that it deserves the above title. The new Fashion plate is an immense improvement on the old style one and will be a welcome change to all the ladies. The opening article, "Housekeeping in India," is admirably illustrated and written by one who had personal knowledge of the information which she gives so pleasantly. "A Snow Shoe Tramp," by W. Blackburn Hart, is an intensely interesting tale of a Canadian winter. Miss Alice Bowman's serial, "The Mystery of Dulace Domain," begins charmingly, and "The Queen of Diamonds," by Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper, reaches a happy and effective conclusion. The short stories are all capital; Alice Maude Ewell's "Tale of an Old Town" deserves special mention. "The Little Queen of Holland" is a reasonable sketch with a series of good pictures, and "A page of French History" is both entertaining and instructive. The household, needlework and fashion departments could not be fresher and more complete. Terms, Two Dollars a year. Address PETERSON'S MAGAZINE, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
