ARCHBISHOP DENOUNCED RECALL.

Archbishop Ireland, in speaking at the Grant celebration, denounced the recall of judges and judicial decisions in the strongest terms.

On the political problem the Archbishop declared that the main question was how are the people to govern, whether directly or through representatives, acting under constitutional limitations. He sketched the framing of the constitution, and said in part:

"Stability of constitution and law is the vital condition of social order, of continuous economic progress. What becomes of this stability when a small percentage of voters may at their caprice suspend decrees of legislatures, call for alterations in existing laws, propose as projects of law their wants and fancies? It is the road to social revolution. Into it we may at any moment be cast by a small minority of the people—often the precise minority which least deserves the protective hand of government."

TO SAVE FAMILIES FIRST.

The unwritten law of the seas, "Women and children first," as observed in the Titanic tragedy, is wrong, according to Mrs. Donald H. Hooker, prominent in society and women's club circles of Baltimore. Mrs. Hooker said:

"I believe it is just as important to save a man as a woman, and so the law of the sea, 'Women and children first,' is not applicable, at least until the unity of the family has been preserved. No other arrangement is durable until the last whole family has been saved or decided to die together, then the question of chivalry may give preference to the woman, though the question is so great that no one has a right to say. Tickets should be issued to each passenger taking passage, assigning them to a certain lifeboat in families, as they purchase their passage. Then in the moment of disaster families should be sent into the boats together."

In view of the fact that only one woman on the Titanic declined to take advantage of the prerogative accorded her sex, it is doubtful if a very large per cent. of women will agree with Mrs. Hooker.

It is said the State Dairy and Food Commissioner expects to make Ohio a hot place for food adulterers and short weight dealers, but so many bluffs have been made along this line that we expect the adulterations and short weights will, like the brook, "go on and on, forever." In Wood county we have an official appointed to look after the weights and measures, but nothing has been heard of him since he was appointed. A law was passed requiring vegetables to be sold by weight, but nobody has been able to purchase anything in that manner. Who knows if there are any inaccurate scales in Wood county? Nobody! Who knows anything about the enforcement of the laws pertaining to pure food and dairy products in Wood county? Nobody! What's the use of enacting such laws if they are not to be enforced?

William Jennings Bryan, three times candidate for President, will make a call at Tontogany, Tuesday, May 7, at 6 o'clock p. m., and make a 40 minute speech.

J. D. Conklin, one of Weston's most prominent citizens, has entered the race as a candidate for Commissioner. Mr. Conklin has been one of Weston's most prominent and capable business men, is a staunch Republican and a most worthy representative of the people.

The wife of a Milwaukee barber sued for a divorce, and as an exhibit in her petition, introduced a memorandum book of her husband's, in which is a list of 50 of his affinities. Hubby comes back with a counter charge in which he declares that wife had an equal number of "crushes," and the court is now to decide which should have the divorce. Certainly theirs was a very busy family.

Keep the boy on the farm by giving him encouragement in his work. Let him know that his work is appreciated and that he will have a direct share in the results of his labors. This is one of the problems that must be solved by the farmer, and the State board of Agriculture is trying to encourage the boys by planning and conducting a party of Ohio boys on a tour to Washington, D. C. Those who go will be the successful ones in a corn raising contest. Any boy who wishes to enter this contest can secure information by calling at the Journal office.

A FINE RECORD.

Forty nine years of attendance in the public schools without a single tardy mark. Mr. J. Davis and his children are those who have reason to be proud, for in all their school years—forty nine in all—the children have not one tardy mark to mar their records. This fact alone would make an exceptional recommendation for business purposes or in character. We are inclined to think that not another such record can be found in Perrysburg.

STONY RIDGE.

On last Monday occurred the marriage of Corwin Waggoner, 45, prominent merchant and storekeeper of this place to Kathryn C. Hahn, 46, dressmaker of LeMoine. It was a quiet affair and came as a surprise to many of their friends. Mr. and Mrs. Waggoner will occupy the house owned by Ira Shook and recently vacated by Gus Elliot. They have the best wishes of their many Stony Ridge friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Bal-langer.

Mrs. Chas. Davis who resides on a farm south of here underwent an operation at a Toledo hospital a week ago Sunday. Her condition is reported improving.

Miss Joice Karg, of Tiffin is visiting her aunt Mrs. Feighner.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Elliot are visiting the parents of Mrs. Elliot who reside in the southern part of the state.

Mr. Elliot has recently purchased the house and lot in town owned by E. F. Metzger of Bowling Green.

It has been reported that Geo. Bean, his mother and sister Ethel who have been spending the winter in California expect to start for Ohio about May 1. They went west last fall to benefit Miss Ethel's health and have spent most of the time in California and New Mexico.

NEW RACE NEAR THE POLE

Explorers Steffanson and Anderson Find Men With Red Beards in Victoria Land.

Tidings of a hitherto unknown race has been received in dispatches from Steffanson and Anderson, who are conducting an expedition in the far north. The strange race was located in Victoria Land, north of Cape Bexley. One theory of their origin is that they may be descendants of an ancient Icelandic colony from Greenland. Of unusual interest is the fact that the natives bear names that can be translated into English, suggesting that survivors of the Franklin expedition may have lived among them. They have some Scandinavian characteristics and are different from any other American aborigines. Two of them wore beards of a reddish color and all had light eyebrows. Nothing learned from them indicated that the race as it exists today had ever seen a white man. The courier who first went forward to parley with them almost lost his life, when a native attacked him with a knife. Friendly advances were finally successful, and by means of the sign language and the assistance of native guides communication was held. The race was an aboriginal one called A-ku-lla-kat-tag-mi-ut. It had been believed that the territory was uninhabited.

THE WITCHING HOUR.

A drama of exceptional strength by Augustus Thomas, and which enjoyed a phenomenal run at the Hackett theater, New York, will be offered Toledoans by the Hackett company at the Lyceum next week, starting Sunday night. This will be the first showing of this play in Toledo in stock. The subject of the piece is mental telepathy, the communication of thoughts from one mind to another. The principal character is a highly intellectual man, John Brookfield, a gambler, who, on the development of the plot, finds himself to be possessed of extraordinary hypnotic power. That faculty he exercises upon a jury engaged in the trial of a youth, who in a sudden frenzy of inherited aversion to a cat's eye jewel, has killed a man for obtaining that offensive jewel upon his notice. Brookfield, likewise through the medium of the press, inflames the public mind against the prosecuting attorney in that trial and it is intimated that the jury is hypnotically impressed by the transference of thought from the community. The young man, at any rate, is acquitted. The discredited prosecutor thereupon tries to murder Brookfield but that gifted man's hypnotic power serves to protect him.

Mr. Norman Hackett in the role of John Brookfield will be seen to splendid advantage and the entire supporting company have been cast in such a manner that their individual qualifications stand out strongly. There will be matinee performances of "The Witching Hour" on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

The teachers have been receiving congratulations since the program. The exercises of the third grade and the fifth grade for Arbor Day were held Friday p. m. No special invitations were sent out for these yet some interested parents were present and were well repaid for their attendance. The spirit of Arbor Day was present and birds, trees and flowers will have better friends in the children who took even a little part in the exercise.

SCHOOL EXERCISES.

The parents who responded to the invitations sent out by the children of the first and second grades of the schools listened to a most delightful program on the afternoon of the 20th of April.

Mother Goose and the most of her family were present. There was the Old Woman, who lived in a shoe, Jack Horner, who sat in her corner, Humpty Dumpty, who sat on a wall, Bo Peep who lost her sheep, Miss Muffit who sat on a tuft, Tommy Tucker, Simple Simon who met a pieman, the contrary Mistress Mary, Jack and Jill, Boy Blue with his horn, Mother Hubbard with her poor dog, King Cole and his daddies, Jack the nimble, Little Polly, Queen of Hearts and the Knave of Hearts—yes, they were all there and they sang and played their parts beautifully.

Following "Mother Goose" was a pretty and dainty Flower Garden. What a wonderful garden it was! The little gardeners raked and planted and then the flowers grew and grew until sunshine and rain brought the precious blossoms—nasturtium, jack-in-pulpit, poppy, forget-me-not, buttercup, sweet pea and rose. What a bouquet they made! How happy the gardeners were! And the audience was just as happy, and the children the happiest of all.
