SUES FOR $15,000
 A suit was filed in the common pleas court Tuesday when Geo. Musch asks that the court grant him a judgment against Scott Bennett, head of the Medina Bending Works, for $15,000, because of an accident which happened to plaintiff on Nov. 12, 1913, at which time the latter suffered the mutilation of his right hand to such an extent that amputation became necessary.
 Plaintiff alleges that because of a worn put table surrounding a buzz saw at which he was required to work, causing the saw to jerk at times, he slipped and fell upon the saw, with the above mentioned result. He further alleges that on account of the bad condition of the table a helper was usually assigned to the work, but that on the day of the accident he had no helper.

OVER 300 STUDENTS AT THE OBERLIN BUSINESS COLLEGE.

From a copy of the August issue of the Oberlin Business College News which is just at hand, we learn that the Oberlin Business College is having one of the most prosperous years in its history. The attendance of more than 300 students this year has made it necessary to erect another building to accommodate the large attendance. With two splendid buildings this school is now one of the best equipped of its kind in the United States.
 The reputation which this school has gained and the great demand for its graduates, is attracting students to it from all parts of Ohio and other states. Any of our readers who think of entering a Business College should send for a copy of the August issue. Fall Term will begin September 8, 1914.
