vs.
Lake Erie, Alliance and Wheeling R. Co.

David Jones and all other persons holding bonds or said Railroad Company not yet presented to the referee (the true name of said person and their places of residence being unknown) will take notice that on November 20, 1880, the defendant Clinton B. Fink trustee, filed a supplemental cross petition in said action against them and all other defendants in said action setting forth that the indebtedness of said railroad company on the day its property was sold, on its bonds and coupons, was $35,710.35; that there was paid in full of said indebtedness $11,215.00; and that there was on hand and due to said company, leaving $24,495.35 to be paid on its bonds and coupons amounting to $11,215.00; and that the balance of said bonds and coupons should be distributed amongst the bond and coupons already presented.

That there are no more of said company's bonds and coupons that were then on its property or rights to them in said bond and that the balance of said fund should be distributed amongst the bond and coupons already presented.

That the person above described claim to hold some of said bonds and coupons and to be entitled to have said fund, and praying that said persons be made defendants and required to answer setting up their claims; That the court will determine the validity thereof and will divide said fund and pay the same to that party who may be entitled to it and that any balance of said fund may be divided pro rata amongst all the parties who may be entitled to it, or shall, by answer day, be presented.

Said parties must answer said supplemental cross-petition before March 21, 1881.

LEGAL NOTICE.

Rachel Commaidier, John Commaidier and Catherine Leeden, who reside at No. 243 Livingston street, New York, N. Y., will take notice that Henry C. Hoffman as plaintiff on December 15, 1880, filed his petition in the Common Pleas Court of Stark County, Ohio, against the said Rachel Commaidier, Frederick Hoffman and Michael Deenan, defendants, setting forth that William Hoffman, Jr. died in 1867, leaving a will which was probated August 1, 1868, in said county by the terms of which he devised to said Rachel Commaidier the farm in said county containing 160 acres, upon the death of testator's father and mother, under and subject to the life of said Rachel Commaidier, and to said Catherine Leeden $200 when she became 18. That said testator's mother died in 1868 and his father August 5, 1879.

That said Rachel Commaidier accepted said devise. That said Leeden refused to accept her claim under said will to said plaintiff. That there is due said plaintiff under said will $100 and interest from August 1, 1880, which she refuses to pay although payment was demanded.

That the petition of said $200 is a charge upon said land. That the other defendants claim some interest in said land. That said John Commaidier is the husband of Rachel Commaidier. And praying the court to find the amount due the plaintiff from said Rachel, and in case she is not paid to order said land to be sold to pay the same. That said other defendants be required to set up their claims or be forever barred, and for a proper relief.

Said Rachel and John Commaidier and Catherine Leeden are notified that they must appear and answer said petition on or before February 15, 1881.

THE SONG OF THE CAMP.

BY HARVARD TAYLOR.

"Give us a song!" the soldier cried,
The outer trenches guarding,
When the heated guns of the camp allied
Crew weary of bombarding.

The dark Redan, in silent scoff,
Lay grim and threatening, under,
And the lawyer mounds of the Malakoff
No longer belted its thunder.

There was a pause. A guardman said:
"We storm the forts to-morrow;
Sing while we may, another day
Will bring enough of sorrow."

They lay along the battery's side,
Below the smoking cannon,
Brave hearts from Severn and the Clyde,
And from the Shannon.

They sang of love and not of fame,
Forgot was Britain's glory;
E. ch heart recalled a different name,
But all sang "Annie Laurie."

Voice after voice caught up the song,
Until its tender passion
Rose like an anthem; rich and strong,
Their battle ere confession.

Dear girl, her name he dared not speak,
But as the song grew louder,
Something upon the soldier's cheek
Washed off the stains of powder.

Beyond the darkening ocean burned
The bloody sunset's embers,
While the Crimean valleys learned
How British love remembers.

And once again a fire of hell
Rained on the Russian quarters,
With scream of shot and burst of shell,
And belching of the mortars.

And Irish Nora's eyes are dim
For a singer dumb and gay;
And English Mary mourns for him
Who sang of "Annie Laurie."

Sleep, soldiers! still in honored rest
Your truth and valor wearing;
The bravest are the tenderest—
The loving are the darest.

THE SONG OF THE CAMP.

BY HARVARD TAYLOR.

"Give us a song!" the soldier cried,
The outer trenches guarding,
When the heated guns of the camp allied
Crew weary of bombarding.

The dark Redan, in silent scoff,
Lay grim and threatening, under,
And the lawyer mounds of the Malakoff
No longer belted its thunder.

There was a pause. A guardman said:
"We storm the forts to-morrow;
Sing while we may, another day
Will bring enough of sorrow."

They lay along the battery's side,
Below the smoking cannon,
Brave hearts from Severn and the Clyde,
And from the Shannon.

They sang of love and not of fame,
Forgot was Britain's glory;
E. ch heart recalled a different name,
But all sang "Annie Laurie."

Voice after voice caught up the song,
Until its tender passion
Rose like an anthem; rich and strong,
Their battle ere confession.

Dear girl, her name he dared not speak,
But as the song grew louder,
Something upon the soldier's cheek
Washed off the stains of powder.

Beyond the darkening ocean burned
The bloody sunset's embers,
While the Crimean valleys learned
How British love remembers.

And once again a fire of hell
Rained on the Russian quarters,
With scream of shot and burst of shell,
And belching of the mortars.

And Irish Nora's eyes are dim
For a singer dumb and gay;
And English Mary mourns for him
Who sang of "Annie Laurie."

Sleep, soldiers! still in honored rest
Your truth and valor wearing;
The bravest are the tenderest—
The loving are the darest.
