The Government We Maintain.

We are in maintaining the Government—the Government of the United States—the Government established by our National Constitution—is all its integrity and efficiency.

That Government consists of three branches or departments—not one—but all of which constitute the Government. These are—First, The National Legislature or Congress, consisting

1st. Of a House of Representatives chosen by the people of the several thirty-four States. To make a complete House, every State should be represented in it according to the apportionment under the census of 1850.

2d. Of a Senate composed of two Senators from each of the thirty-four States. To constitute a complete Senate, every State should have in it its two Senators.

Second, The second branch of the Government is the Executive or President, faithfully causing the Constitution to be obeyed and the National laws executed in each of the thirty-four States. Failing in this, whether it be its fault or not, the Executive department of the Government is to that extent deficient, and so far falls short of being what the Constitution intends it to be.

Third, The third branch of the Government is the Judiciary, consisting of one Supreme Court and such inferior Courts as the Congress has from time to time ordained and established, holding courts, and having its processes, judgments and decrees respected and executed in every one of the thirty-four States. If such be not the case, the judicial department is so far impaired in its constitutional authority and efficiency.

These three departments—the Legislative, Executive and Judicial—this trinity of powers—united in one—all complete in all their parts and all performing their appropriate and legitimate functions, constitute that MORE PERFECT GOVERNMENT, growing out of that MORE PERFECT UNION, which our fathers by the Constitution, ordained and established.

That and that only—nothing higher, nothing lower—nothing greater, nothing less—is the National Government which the mass of the people in this country venerate, love and worship almost to idolatry. They feel, they know that its life, its existence and completeness is so dependent on, and so interwoven with, the life, existence and completeness of the Union, that he who compasses the destruction of the one, compasses also the destruction of the other, and he who lays violent hands on the one, lays violent hands also on the other. Touch but the Government or the Union to injure either, and you touch the apple of the eye of every true American.

This Government in all its soundness and efficiency in every part, and as nearly as possible in all the completeness and perfection the Constitution intends it to possess, the great and mighty mass of the American people have sworn in their hearts—and a hundred thousand have sealed the oath with their blood, and other hundreds of thousands, if need be, are ready for themselves—to MAINTAIN and PRESERVE inviolate, against armed force or secret plots for its injury or overthrow, whether found in one section of the country or another—in the field or in administrative councils.

The London Meeting. We attended the great Democratic meeting at London, Madison county, on Thursday last, and were exceedingly gratified to witness such a monster demonstration. It is conceded on all hands that it was by far the largest gathering ever before seen in that county. The processions of men, women and children—in wagons, on horseback and on foot—were immense. The brights were scared, dumfounded; and some of them frankly acknowledged that the numbers and enthusiasm at this meeting indicated Democratic success.

The people assembled on the grounds of the Madison County Agricultural Society—about half a mile from the town—where two stands had been erected for the speakers, officers and reporters. At two o'clock, speaking commenced from both stands. The assemblage at each was so large; that it was impossible for the speakers to be heard by all the people. Hon. GEORGE E. PUGH spoke an hour at the first stand. His speech was most powerful, most eloquent, and most effective, and was received with cheer on cheer. He was followed by Judge GAZEN, of this city, who made a glorious speech, which excited the liveliest enthusiasm. Mr. Hickman, the soldier who lost his arm at the battle of Stone river, closed the speaking at this stand in a fine and telling speech, which was received with shouts of applause.

Hon. S. S. COX spoke an hour and a quarter from the other stand in his happiest vein. He has no superior as a stump orator; and his speech on this occasion was a master effort. It was full of the inflexible logic of facts, and abounded in argument, anecdote and sarcasm, bristling all over and throughout with sharp points. Mr. Cox was at home among his constituents, whose devotion to him is little short of idolatry. His speech was applauded to the echo from exordium to peroration, and excited the wildest enthusiasm. At its close, there was a scene that is indescribable. Everybody rushed forward to take him by the hand, and full quarter of an hour was occupied with congratulatory and commendatory words around the stand.

At the close of this scene, when order was again restored, Mr. Cox introduced Col. Groves W. Ammons, late of the army, who made an able and effective speech of three quarters of an hour, which was applauded throughout. This meeting, in all that pertained to it, was a magnificent success, and its effect will be, to add several hundred to the Democratic majority in Madison county.

Some of the features of the processions, and incidents of the occasion, ought to be noticed; and we have neither the time to write nor the space to print a more extended notice. The Stranahan flag, with its sentiments and motto, had a prominent place in procession and at one of the stands.

Blackmailing "Loyalty." When the Southern leaders first moved in their revolution they attempted to brow-beat New York into sympathizing with their plans by threatening the "withdrawal of Southern funds." The New York Evening Post, an abolition journal, which is no doubt made independent of legitimate New York support by government contracts, publishes the following: "That the nation opposite to the draft in this city is daily increasing tends to other cities. It is shown by a letter received from one of our best-known citizens and written in Ohio, Hamilton county, Ohio, by an all true Yankee, containing some lines in point. We send the letter, and let you judge."

Personal. Judge Holman, a distinguished and able member of Congress from Indiana, passed through this city yesterday, on his way home from Washington. Hon. James J. Farns, of the Cincinnati Enquirer, was in the city yesterday. He was at the London meeting, and, hence, failed to see him when he called.

A New "Loyal League" Badge. An eastern paper says it is reported that the "Loyal League" are issuing a new badge—it being a negro's head in India rubber with this appropriate motto in silver letters, "The Constitution is God." It is suggested that an addition to this motto would not be inappropriate, to wit: An American flag with thirteen stripes and thirty-four stars, having inscribed upon it in large black letters GAZEN'S apostrophe: "All hail the flagging lie."

Picnic on the Big Black.

A Victoria dispatch states that a picnic was held on the Big Black on the 24th ult., under the auspices of Colonel CRADLEBAUGH, that called together a great number of rebel ladies, who enjoyed it as much as such things are generally enjoyed. General STRANAHAN and his wife were in the party. While there a flag of truce came in and the Confederate officers joined the party. It was all in all a remarkable sight, friend and foe at a picnic within our plomet lines.

Advantage of Being a Democrat—Young Men! Take Notice. It is highly advantageous to be a Democrat, for after one is worn out, he is eagerly bought up by the opposition party—just as broken pots or leaky kettles are bought for the sake of the metal. Nothing so completely insures a nomination, and the support of the opposition as to have it said of their candidate, "he has been a life long Democrat." No matter if he has proved false and recreant to every political principle he ever before professed. The greater the renegade the better tool he makes till after the election. BROOKS is a strong case in point.

New Democratic Paper at STEUBENVILLE. The first number of a new weekly paper, bearing the name of the Steubenville Courier, just started by Messrs. Danchoo and Steep, editors and publishers, has just reached us. It is well printed and of a large size. The editors say in their introductory address: "We embrace the faith and shall advocate the principles of the old-fashioned Union Democracy." They accordingly accept the platform of the Democratic party of Ohio, as laid down in the late State Convention, and hoist the names of the nominees at that Convention at the head of their columns—Vallandigham and Pugh heading the list. We wish the new enterprise success.

Mr. LINCOLN is reported by telegraph as saying, in his recent Springfield letter, to the opponents of his negro policy: "I certainly wish all men could be free, while you, I suppose, do not." Would it be a retort unconscious to respond to Mr. LINCOLN: "We certainly wish all men—white men—could be free, while you, we suppose, do not."

How Concepts are Got to their Places of Destination. A private letter from New York city speaks of the marching for over a mile down Broadway of some fourteen white concepts, who were chained together by a chain attached to a wrist of each. Over one hundred armed soldiers brought up the rear. The concepts were dressed in citizens' clothes. Spectators on the sidewalks were general in their condemnation of the Administration, and thought they might have been spared such a sight, by putting the concepts in omnibuses. One of our citizens, who has just returned from Philadelphia, informs us that he witnessed a similar sight in Philadelphia last Sunday. A number of white concepts were marched through the streets, chained together by two, preceded and flanked by files of soldiers, and the rear of the procession brought up by a troop of cavalry. The effect on those who witnessed the humiliating spectacle was any thing but agreeable; and expressions of denunciation of Lincoln & Co. were universal. What a sight! White men dragged in chains from their State to aid in freeing the negroes at the South—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Highland County Ticket. The Democracy of Highland county at their Convention, put in nomination the following excellent ticket: For Representative, Capt. Charles F. Sheaff; Probate Judge, Albert G. Mathews; Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas, John A. Trimble; Sheriff, A. T. Cook; Treasurer, G. W. Lawrence; Recorder, John Hanks; Prosecuting Attorney, E. T. Johnson; Commissioner, William Conard; Infirmary Director, Adam Miller; Coroner, Christopher Bishop.

We are personally acquainted with every man on the ticket, and know them to be capable and worthy. Captain Sheaff, the nominee for Representative, is a warm personal friend. He is now, and has been for two years past, with the army of General Grant. He is an excellent officer, and has borne himself well and gallantly through many a hard-fought battle. The whole ticket will be elected by a handsome majority.—Dayton Empire.

Our Candidate for Senator. The nomination for State Senator from the district of Montgomery and Preble having been referred by the Conventions to the Central Committees of both counties, they have performed the duty assigned them by making a most excellent nomination. It gives us great pleasure to announce that by unanimous consent, A. Cahill, Esq., has been agreed upon as the candidate.

Mr. Cahill is not at present in the city, but we have no doubts he will yield to the urgent desire of the Democracy, and consent to the use of his name, for in times like these the country needs the services of such men.—Dayton Empire.

Extremes have seldom met more singularly than in Mr. Lincoln and Jeff. Davis.

The Government cannot and does not mean to have slaves and half free, said Mr. Lincoln. "A Union between free States and slave States is impossible," responded Jeff. Davis. And it was the co-operation of these extremists and their parties that produced the attempt to separate the free and slave States. Let not the guilty escape their just responsibility.
