BUNCHEN NEWS PARAGRAPHS

As a result of the Indian outbreak, some heart-rending scenes occurred in the vicinity of Wilson's town, New Mexico, where a number of persons were killed, including a number of women and children. The outbreak started when a party of Indians, under the leadership of a man named Johnson, attacked a group of settlers and destroyed several houses. The settlers, numbering about 50, were forced to retreat to a nearby fort for protection. The Indians then set fire to the village and killed several of the settlers. The bodies of several of the victims were later found and identified. The Indians were then driven off by a force of U.S. soldiers and the area was declared secure.

Pandora wants to spread out.

The following announcement was made by the President of the Board of Education: "We have received a letter from Mr. Pandora, who desires to spread out his business. He has been doing a good business in this town and is willing to give it up if the proper terms can be agreed upon. We have been in correspondence with him for several months and have come to the conclusion that it is best to extend his privileges. We are willing to grant him a lease of the premises under the condition that he will pay rent as agreed upon and will use the premises for the purpose for which they were originally intended. We hope that he will take advantage of this offer and that we may have a pleasant and profitable relationship with him."
