EIGHTY DEAD IN TERRIBLE TRAGEDY

(Continued From Page 1.) Red Jacket village hall which was turned into a morgue. It was many hours before all the bodies were identified. During the confusion several bodies of children were wrongly identified by mothers and taken away only to be returned later by the parents who had found their own offspring safe. In other cases parents ran about sometimes uncertain whether their children were dead or alive. Many mothers fainted while fathers cursed all those who interfered with their mad search for lost girls and boys. For hours frantic women ran the streets calling for their little ones. Efforts were made to calm the women and many were taken into homes that had not been bereaved so that they might have attention. Of the 700 persons in the hall, more than three fourths were children many of them having gone without their parents. Those fathers and mothers soon rushed to the scene and added to the confusion. They did not understand what had taken place and hindered the rescuers by insisting on information as to what was the matter. There was a fire escape at the rear of the building but only those who were very near it could make any use of it until after the fatal rush was over. Probably not more than a hundred persons escaped the first rush by way of this fire escape. About a score more jumped from the windows near which they sat. As it was not many feet from the ground, the jump did not cause injury. The Italian hall was built about five years ago and was well provided for emergencies. It was thought. The entrance was a hallway about ten feet deep. A stairway about 8 feet wide led up from this vestibule to a small landing about eight by ten feet. The main door of the hall opened on this landing. There is a small cloak room about ten feet square to one side of the main door. The loss of life was heavy at the small door of this room. The rush apparently turned many against the door of this room and crushed them to death within the door way. The greatest number of dead in any one place, however, was at the bottom of the stairway. Those who reached the stairs first evidently were hurled to the bottom by those behind and in this fashion the stairway was filled almost to the ceiling. That death in most instances was due to suffocation under the weight of those who fell last was indicated by the fact that few of the corpses bore marks of injury. Bodies were crumpled and broken but the features were not cut or bruised.

WILSON, Okla., Dec. 24.—The big oil well, recently brought in, in the Hamilton field, by the Skirvens of Oklahoma City, continues to be an exceedingly satisfactory producer for its owners making 200 barrels every 24 hours. The Skirvens are still busy in the field and expect to bring in others as satisfactory.

SWEEP FEDERALS FROM THE BORDER

REBELS BEGAN LONG EXPECTED CAMPAIGN AGAINST OJINGA.

TORREON BATTLED UP

Rebel Forces Again Won Series of Victories in the North of Mexico.

CHIHUAHUA, Mex., Dec. 24.—Forty-two hundred rebel cavalry with ten cannon and six machine guns have left Chihuahua to begin the long delayed attack on the federals at Ojinaga opposite Presidio, Texas. The rebels, commanded by General Ortega, have been ordered to exterminate the federals or drive them across the United States border. "Sweep the border clean of federals and do not take any prisoners," was General Francisco Villa's order to General Ortega. "There must not be a federal left alive on this side of the border."

General Villa said if the federal general Ortega and Rojas are captured they are to be shot as traitors. Landed in six trains with large supplies of ammunition, the Ojinaga expedition left here purposing to travel by train as far as Hermosillo and thence march overland to Ojinaga. General Villa witnessed the departure of his soldiers and expressed confidence over the outcome, saying the federals either would be driven across the border or broken up into small bands. The battling up of the federals in the city of Torreon, 200 miles south of here, the occupation by the rebels of part of the city and the rebel capture of Lerdo and Gomez Palacio, important adjoining towns, were confirmed in reports received today. General Monclova Herrera, however, was not wounded as had been reported.

The rebel dispatches said General Herrera now and Torreon practically controlled with little loss of life and that he would wait further reinforcements before attempting a rout of the federals under General Refugio Velasco. The federal telegraph to Monterrey and Saltillo was cut, and should General Velasco be driven eastward, it is said he would have no alternative but a desperate retreat. Torreon has been often captured or lost by either side. Its importance lies in its being a railroad center. General Villa purposes remaining here pending the establishment of the Ojinaga campaign. One million pesos in rebel money has been issued under the seal of the state of Chihuahua. This greatly relieves the financial situation brought about by the lack of small currency.

May Cross the Border. PRESIDENT, Tex., Dec. 24.—United States army officers today received word of the rebel advance toward Ojinaga, opposite here. It is feared the Mexican federals if driven hard will attempt to cross into the United States rather than fall into the hands of the rebels, from whom they could expect no mercy.

Withdraw the Outposts. HERMOSILLO, Dec. 24.—All federal outposts about Guaymas were withdrawn today, according to information received here. Withdrawal of the outposts will be interpreted as having been caused by continued desertions from the garrison. Federal soldiers came straggling into the insurgent camp every day and it said that the most of them escaped while on outpost duty. Lieut. Colonel Pablo Pedrosa and fifteen soldiers surrendered today to the constitutionalists. It is reported that General Velasco some time ago recovered Torreon from the rebels. Since then the war office here has announced that Velasco was preparing in direct expeditions in the surrounding country, although the indications were that many thousands of rebels were hiding him in.

Get the Spirit of the Day —By Telephone

The demands of business and social affairs prevent many from going back to the old home for the family reunion on Christmas day. But for the telephone they would miss the home-like spirit of the big dinner, the cheerfulness, good feeling and friendliness of the family circle. If you are to be away from home on Christmas day, why not bring happiness to the home folks by calling them over the telephone? No matter where you are, you, too, may get the spirit of Christmas by telephone. Long distance lines reach everywhere.

About 8:20 last night burglars attempted to gain entrance to the Rightway laundry, according to Bert Applegate, who was in the building at the time. He heard the men pry up at a window and went out to get a revolver and phone to the police station. When police officers arrived no trace of the burglars could be found.

RECEIVE TURKEYS AND SALARY RAISED

STEEL CAR COMPANY AND CORPORATION EMPLOYEES WELL REMEMBERED. A big fat turkey and a substantial increase in wages were the Christmas presents tendered the employees of the Public Service corporation and the Tulsa Street Railway company yesterday by the managers of the two companies. Yesterday morning Paul Galloway, manager of the Public Service corporation, distributed 155 gobblers among the employees and then helped the Elks deliver their Christmas presents to the poor of the city. Manager McCreath distributed turkeys among all the employees of the company and then announced that a new and higher wage scale had been determined upon. A CHRISTMAS WISH

To retain the friends that I have made and to acquire new ones as the days go by; to wish health, happiness and prosperity to the operators every where for the coming year; to be a part of the greatest business on earth. To be able to write the news of this business for the future as in the past, without fear or favor, uninfluenced by any person or interest, so that a 10-barrel well is a 10-barrel well and a dry hole is a dry hole. To make the oil column a daily necessity. To work a little harder and make results count for more. To discuss the live issues of the business as I honestly believe them to be and to retain the esteem of those who happen to disagree with me. Finally, to see all the dry holes eliminated or at least drilled by those who can afford them, to see the little fellows grow prosperous and the big fellows grow rich and that at the close of another year will find the oil men happier and more prosperous than in the one just at its close.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a tablespoonful of Sals or Back hurts or Bladder Bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble. The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system. When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Sals; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in uric acid so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders. Jad Sals is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.—Adv.
