COMPARE VALUES AT STATE RATE HEARING

Special to The World.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 4.—Comparison of valuation of property of the railroads as fixed by them and then by the corporation commission for use in the trial of the Oklahoma 2-cent rate case to be resumed next Monday, will be of some interest when brought out at the trial according to Commissioner George Henshaw, who has returned after a check-up of the property of the Santa Fe. Mr. Henshaw gives a few instances. He says the stock pens at Guthrie, which the railroad company values at $28,000, actually cost between $1,500 and $2,000. The station building at Britt, a small place just north of this city, which the railroad company has valued at $10,000, Mr. Henshaw says cost $1,500. In numerous instances, the cases involving valuation by the railroad company at between $8,000 and $25,000 were not more than $1,500 to $2,000 to build. Representatives of the corporation commission have been checking up the various railroads involved in the 2-cent rate litigation, the corporation to be used in the trial of the case. There is no telling how long the trial will continue. What is considered the most important part, to the state at least, is to come. The more the corporation or which experts have been employed, it is to be placed before the court at this session.

ABOLISH 10-DAY STORAGE LIMIT

Special to The World.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 4.—Marketing conditions in the Heddon oil field, south of Ardmore, may possibly be benefited in the action of the corporation commission, to relieve producers of the 10-day limit in which they can store oil in tanks. While the conservation plan as worked out by the commission has in the main been approved by the oil men in that field, the fact that carrying pipe lines have refused to become common carriers for consignments of oil less than a certain amount has worked a hardship upon many of the smaller producers. No formal complaint has been made to the commission, but members of that body saw the condition into which it placed those less fortunate in owning large producing wells. Investigation has been made by the commission and the plan to abolish for a time at least the 10-day storage limit was reached. An announcement probably will be made of this action in a day or two. While the commission will relieve the producers of the 10-day limit, the same system of pipe rate production as specified in the conservation rules will remain in force. The taking off of the 10-day limit simply allows the producer to tank his oil instead of running it through the pipe line. But cracks followed the conclusion of the final round. Gardner and Charles Evans Jr. of Chicago were victorious in the best ball foursome with Jerome Traverser of Upper Montclair, N. J., open class champion, and Francis O'Connell of Woodland, Mass., the retiring amateur titleholder. Evans and Gardner won 2 up. Evans had the best medal score, going out in 36 and returning in 37 for par 73. Traverser had 40 out and 36 in, 76 out and 47 in. The previous holes did not affect Gardner's play to any great extent. He claimed a neat 78, shooting the first nine holes in 35. The winners received a silver trophy from the Detroit Country club.

SKELETON MAY SOLVE MYSTERY OF 8 YEARS

Special to The World.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 4.—The finding of a skeleton of a man in a ravine near Britton, a few miles north of the city, has solved, by some, the mystery of the disappearance eight years ago of W. W. Crabtree, a farmer residing in that community at that time. Nothing but the bare bones remain of the body. The skeleton shows a perfect set of teeth and this cause acquaintances of the man to believe they are his bones, as he had perfect teeth of which he was proud. Crabtree was a successful farmer and lived alone. Searchers on entering his house a day or two after his disappearance found some articles on the table where he had left them. He had purchased some plow shares and it is supposed was in the field adjusting them when what happened caused his disappearance. Happened on the skull of the skeleton found was a dent, as if made with a blunt instrument. Near the plow on which he had been working, when the first search was made, was found a monkey wrench.

DEFEATS SCOTT IN THIRTEENTH ROUND

Harry Lindsey Puts Up Great Fight; Many White Fans Present.
More than three hundred fans journeyed to the Lincoln theater in the segregated section Friday night to see Harry Lindsey, the Joplin Volcano, who defeated Jack Scott in 13 rounds of the fastest fight seen in Tulsa for many a day. A score of more of well-known white fans were at the ring-side and hugely enjoyed the contest, which was staged by Billy McClain of the Palm Garden Athletic club. It was the fastest bout between colored fighters ever seen in Tulsa. Lindsey led all the way, with Scott covering up to avoid punishment. Although game to the core he met his master and took a licking that would put three ordinary men away. Battling Boon and the Fighting

STATE FIRE LOSS IS DECREASING

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 4.—With 100 fires during the month of August amounting to a total fire waste of $112,229, as against 39 fires in July with a loss of $129,000, the report of the state fire marshal, C. C. Hammonds, issued today, shows some results of advice given for the protection against fire. Loss on buildings during August was $48,920 while that on contents was $63,299. A feature of the report is that during the month only $75 loss occurred that can be traced to incendiaries. This is the smallest amount of loss from that source since the establishment of the department. The oil waste during August was $59,709 all of which was caused by lightning, and a major portion of which occurred in the Cushing and Tulsa fields. The department is making arrangements for the proper observance of Fire Prevention day October 9. A close inspection of property will be urged on that day as a part of the program. The department reports two deaths from burning during the last month.
