LONDON, Oct. 6.—(10:15 p. m.)—Even the greatest battles of the war may prove to have had less weight in deciding the future of Europe than the events of the past few days in the southeastern kingdom.

King Constantine, of Greece, brother-in-law of the German emperor, appears to hold the balance of power of the near east in his hands for the hour.

King Ferdinand of Bulgaria has rejected Russia's ultimatum demanding that he break with the central powers and expel German officers who have taken charge of Bulgaria's army staff...

Premier First, Then King, Is Way that Sentiment in Greece Sways; Constantine Leans to Teutons

THE FOLLOWING WAS WRITTEN BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT AT ATHENS SOME TIME BEFORE THE RECENT DEVELOPMENTS IN THE BALKANS AND THE RETIREMENT OF PREMIER VENIZELOS:

ATHENS, Sept. 29. Every citizen that has been made to induce Premier Venizelos to indicate what the future foreign policy of Greece would be under his premiership has proved futile.

He has disapproved, even forbidden, a premature announcement of his policy. When he is ready he will make his intentions public. And when he does his word will be final—

For the situation in Greece is very simple, but the feeling is very poignant. Greece, it is apparent, cannot be against the central allies. They are lords of the Mediterranean and Greece is wholly a Mediterranean land.

On the other hand, however, there are three classes of people in Greece who oppose very insistently any open leaning of the country to the side of the allies. The first consists of the king, the general staff and the court.

King Constantine is undeniably very popular, though not at all in the way that his first minister is popular.

Venizelos and the king (and that is the usual order in which the two are mentioned) are both essential to Greece," said one of the most thoughtful men in Athens to the Associated Press correspondent.

England May Resort to Conscription to Fill the Weakened Ranks.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—(10:10 p. m.)—There is little change in the military situation on any of the various war fronts. Reports which remain unconfirmed are to the effect that an Austro-German force variously estimated at from one million to five million men with two thousand guns is proceeding through southern Hungary to attack Serbia.

Observers say that the Germans are not in a position to withdraw many troops from the Russian side as the armies of Emperor Nicholas are making desperate efforts to assume the initiative in the fighting.
