GRAND.
With almost an entirely new company, a complete new scenic production, new features, songs and much new and original fun, Neil O'Brien comes back to the city on his fourth annual visit at the Grand theater today, matinee and night.

No minstrel comedian has visited here in many years with a greater following among minstrel lovers than Neil O'Brien. His previous appearances here at the head of his own company established him and his organization firmly with local theatergoers. It is Mr. O'Brien's avowed purpose to always present clean and classy minstrelsy. He believes that
