GAUNTLET IS THROWN IN HOUSE

BATTLE STARTS BETWEEN INSURGENTS AND ADMINISTRATION

REPRESENTATIVE MILLER SHOWS UP HITCHCOCK

Veiled Threats to Coerce Recalcitrants By Withholding Patronage

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, Jan. 5.—War without quarter will be waged between the Taft administration and such Republican "insurgents" in congress as are now opposing and who oppose in the future the Taft legislative program. The battle is not with those tariff insurgents who, quietly sheathed their blades after defeat, but with those who have nursed disappointment and are whetting their knives publicly in anticipation of continued conflict.

The battle broke suddenly yesterday afternoon. At first it was a single shot, then a scattered firing; swiftly the thing spread until it had taken on the aspects of a general engagement, the consequences of which cannot be foretold. The substance of it is that the senators and congressmen who have taken a stand against the present administration and who continued to align themselves with the opposition to the president's policies are to receive no consideration in matters of patronage.

Miller "Blows Lid Off"

Representative Miller of Minnesota was a man chiefly instrumental in "blowing the lid off" of the situation. He did it in a statement declaring Postmaster General Hitchcock informed him that his (Miller's) recommendations were being held up because of his insurgent activities in the house. He quoted the postmaster general as saying in substance:

"A great deal of pressure is being brought to bear upon me to withhold from the insurgent Republican congressmen the patronage in their districts. I am very loath to do this and the matter is still uncertain."

Mr. Miller told the postmaster general he intended to carry the matter to the floor of the house; Mr. Hitchcock urged him to defer action until the subject could be further considered.

Following the congressman's statement, the postmaster general called him on the telephone and took him to task for not having regarded the conversation as confidential, to which Mr. Miller replied that he had not so understood it and felt that he had violated no confidence.

Wants A Good, Square Fight

On the other hand, inquiries among other congressmen generally classed as insurgents failed to disclose any apparent active antagonism to them on the part of any one connected with the administration. Representatives Murdoch and Madison, of Kansas, had not suffered from "unpleasant animation" in their patronage recommendations.

When Mr. Madison was informed that the fight apparently had started, he said:

"Good, I am glad of it. Nothing suits me better than a good square fight."

Congressman Hayes, of California, who, presided over the only meeting of the house insurgents held this year, declared that he was "in the fight to stay. If no one will call a meeting of the insurgents to mark out a plan of battle, I will do it," he said. "And if there are others who are backwards in this battle I will go it alone. I am an insurgent until it is over."

Cannon Ready For The Fray

Speaker Cannon remarked if he were to express his own views on the situation they would sound "cheerful." He denied knowledge of any specific determination to crush the insurgents. But he turned to a copy of a speech which he delivered in Kansas City on December 3 last, and quoted from it the following paragraph:

"When Lincoln found an army marching on the national capital from the south and a body of sympathizers in the north encouraging that army, he said it was difficult to determine which was the most threatening to the welfare of the nation. History repeats itself, and when Senators Cummins, La Follette, Brewster and their so-called 'progressive' following join hands with Mr. Morgan in waging war upon the Republican members of congress who passed the tariff bill, and upon President Taft, who signed it, in that contest I know of but one way to treat them, and that is fight them just as we fight Mr. Bryan and his followers."

WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT

At a meeting of the National Home Economics association in Boston last week Miss Ellen M. Richards, the president and professor in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said that the greatest bugaboo of the American people at the present time is the "draft." They are afraid of it, because they may have to sit in a draft, and she hoped there would be some education on the subject. She spoke of the injustice that is done students by making them listen to lectures in air from which every bit of the life has been taken and in this vitiated atmosphere they are heavy and dull, with clogged with heat and humidity are the most dangerous products of still life because they so endanger the activity of the cell and raise the body temperature.

A School for Wives.

A school for wives is to be established in New York, according to certain announcements to that effect. Mrs. Andrew Carnegie is said to be backing the scheme. It will be called the "Wifehood Guild," and has just been incorporated. The guild will hold its meetings at Huntington Manor, Long Island, where an estate of several acres has been obtained and $125,000 raised to erect a building. Inquiry has brought out the fact that at least half of the unhappy marriages among working girls is due to the fact that they do not know how to keep house. The guild will try to make up for this so that self supporting girls may learn the things that wives need to know.

Social Extremes Meet.

Rose Schneiderman and Miss Anne Morgan worked together and side by side to make the big mass meeting at Carnegie hall on Sunday night for the benefit of the striking shirt waist girls a success. Mrs. Belmont asserted that each one of the striking girls should be given at least $2 a week, and as there are 9,000 of them a nice little sum of $18,000 a week will be necessary. Consequently it was only right that the sale of seats should attract attention, the boxes going to the highest bidder. Miss Morgan buying the first one sold.

The Outdoor School.

New York will spend $6,200 next year in making over twenty rooms in regular school buildings, a first step in an entirely new plan of ventilation in order that children, sick or well, may have outdoor air. All children affected with tuberculosis are excluded from the New York school, and in order that these children may not suffer for want of an education, there are special schools for them, which must be so well ventilated that the dangers from augmentation of the disease will be minimized.
