Settlers from southern Kansas are said to be moving into "No Man's Land."

The dining room at the Frisco hotel seemed to attract quite a crowd last Sunday.

The Ladies' society of the Congregational church meets at Mrs. F. L. Decker's next Saturday afternoon.

The remarkable sale of last week's issue of the CHIEFTAIN leads us to believe it was a pretty good paper.

Mrs. G. W. Green will soon make her home among us again. She will be warmly welcomed by her many friends here.

A circular has been received stating that a national sheep shearing will be held at St. Louis on the 7th and 8th of April.

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad company has a surveying party at work in this territory, south of Arkansas City.

Green & Clark bought about fifty live prairie chickens the first of the week, which will be sent to New London, Connecticut.

It is estimated that there are 5,000 head of dead cattle between Dodge City and Coolidge, and that it is but a fraction of the losses caused by the recent storms.

Quite a number of Shawnees met here last Monday to consider the advisability of sending a delegation to Washington, but no decided action was taken.

The Congregational church social will be held at the residence of Mrs. F. L. Decker Friday evening. The ladies will do all possible to insure a pleasant evening, and hope all will come.

Since it has become evident that both the Frisco and Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe are going to be built through this territory, Sherman, Texas, has decided on attempting to secure one of the lines.

A note from Chelsea informs us that on the 24th of December, John Thomas and Kate L. Ryder were married at the home of the bride's uncle, B. W. Ryder. Also that Rev. John Keys has married a Delaware woman.

We have received a subscription this week from Maurice Dolen, of Lindale, Ohio. We now conclude Mr. Dolen is a very pleasant gentleman and hope he will not think too harshly of us for a different opinion expressed last week.

Chief Bushyhead has notified the sheriff not to sell the city parks to satisfy the Tittle judgments, and the sale will not be made. The chief, in his order says that with the same propriety the streets might be levied upon and sold.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the brand of William Little—T L connected. Any cattle having this brand on either side or hip should be handled cautiously by any unauthorized person. The ranch is on White Oak a few miles above Hall's.

The public school opens next Monday morning and the pupils should be on hand promptly. All of the former teachers have been re-employed. Last term the aggregate enrollment was 140 and the average attendance ninety. Not more than ten pupils were non-citizens.

George W. Green received a dispatch last Monday morning stating that his brother-in-law, Ben Ingram, had just died at West Plains, Missouri. Mr. Green left the same evening for Springfield, where the funeral and interment was announced to take place the following day.

Says a correspondent from the western ranges: "In one instance I saw a herd drifting so rapidly that in crossing a small stream thirty head of those in the lead were crowded into the bog and smothered. The balance of the herd passed over their bodies as they would a bridge."

Bass Reeves, a notorious and unprincipled ex-deputy marshal is now in jail at Fort Smith charged with murder. Reeves, who is a negro, killed his camp cook, of the same race, in the Chickasaw nation, in April 1884. He reported the killing at the time to have been done in self defense.

In another column will be found the law card of Judge R. F. Wyly. This gentleman's experience, both on the bench and at the bar, have given him opportunities beyond those of most members of the profession in this nation. The judge's postoffice address is Maysville, Arkansas.

Another demonstration of the virtue of advertising (in the CHIEFTAIN) was given last week. David Taylor offered a house for rent, at an outlay of twelve cents per week, and a response was received from a party in Indiana that he wanted the house and would move out here in a short time.

Mrs. Emma, the wife of Beecher Chamberlin, died last Monday evening at Pheasant Hill, a few miles north of here. The deceased was twenty-seven years of age, and was born at Vandalia, Illinois. The bereaved family will receive the sympathy of a large circle of acquaintances.

It is related that when Gen. Sherman was at Fort Bayard he was asked by an Indian chief for an old field-piece that stood out in the enclosure. "Can't have it," was the answer. "Why not?" "What do you want with it; to kill soldiers?" "Soldiers? Ugh, no. Use 'em kill cowboys. Kill soldiers with club."

A letter was received this week by S. S. Bluejacket, from Commissioner Atkins in which that gentleman very curtly says: In reply to your communication dated January 21, 1886, you are informed that it is not considered necessary that a delegation of Shawnees should visit this city, and permission for that purpose is therefore refused.

DEATH OF MR. GENTRY.—Their will be many expressions of genuine regret in this locality at the death of Hon. Joel B. Gentry, of Hughesville, Missouri, which occurred on the 24th of last month. The deceased was at the head of the leading firm of blooded stock raisers of the state and many fine herds in this territory are their quality to this source. Mr. Gentry had, if we mistake not, a number of relatives in

THAT SETTLES IT.—St. Louis merchants have examined the bill extending civil jurisdiction of the federal courts over residents of this territory and conclude it is a good thing. President Cobb, of the Merchants Exchange writes Representative O'Neill, their member of congress, to that effect, and asks in the name of the association that the gentleman give the bill his consideration and support. The bill is now in charge of Hon. J. H. Rodgers, the member from Arkansas.

BRIDGE COMPLETED.—The Frisco's great bridge at Van Buren is practically finished, and will be ready for trains next week. This will be a great advantage to the company, as it will then be relieved from the use of the boats of the Little Rock and Fort Smith ferry. The bridge consists of one draw span of 360 feet, three fixed spans of 256 feet each, and four fixed spans of 165 feet each, resting upon ten stone piers. It was built at a cost of $500,000, and work on the structure was commenced April 1, 1885.

TRACKLAYING BEGUN.—The work of grading the ten mile extension of the Frisco west from Red Fork has been completed and the teams and construction outfits have been shipped away. Track laying begun last Monday and will be completed as soon as possible. A depot and other terminal facilities are to be built at the end of the track, and the station will be known as Sapulpa, after an Indian who lives there. All bridges on the extension are of iron and the masonry is first-class and very heavy. We presume the future operations of this road depend to a great extent upon the turn of territorial affairs.

IN CUSTODY.—Kit Ross, who killed Jonathan Davis at Chouteau on the 20th of last December, is in custody, and was last week bound over by Commissioner Tufts to answer in the federal court to the charge of murder. He was arrested near Shawneetown by Wiley Beaver, a deputy United States marshal. Ross is probably under twenty-five years of age and without a family. As the killing was deliberate and cowardly, the victim having been shot in the back, it is more than likely Ross will pay the penalty of his crime on the gallows. Though the day of the killing he had been drinking, but that night was sober and well knew what he was doing. Davis had, some time previous, put Ross out of a house where he had no business, or was creating a disturbance, and it was this circumstance that probably led to the killing.

PERSONAL.—A few weeks ago a subscriber doing business out west of here gave us an order for some letter and bill heads. In remitting for the same he says: "It is a good job and I am well pleased. Your paper reaches me regularly, and we consider it the best paper in the territory. Will send an order when I want more work and will do all I can to secure you the orders of my friends." The same mail brought a letter from Ed D. Hicks with two subscriptions and an order to continue and notify him, at the expiration of his time. "Couldn't do without the paper," he says. It is not to be expected that Ed or any of the balance of our friends could do without the CHIEFTAIN. We are going to continue printing such a paper that no one will have the hardihood to try and dispense with it. Letters of this character make us feel proud and we don't care who knows it.

THE LECTURE POSTPONED.—Owing to the inclement weather, and the snow blockade of railway causing the absence of Prof. Frigon, the lecture advertised for last night, at the Opera house will be postponed until the blockade is removed. Due notice will be given of the time at which will be shown upon canvass in startling brilliancy, Joseph Sold, Joseph's Coat, Joseph Meets his Father, Rebecca at the Well, Eleizer at the Home of Bethuel, Arrival of Rebecca, the Finding of Moses, Moses and the Daughter of Jethro, Pharaoh's Host Drowned, the Annunciation, the Three Wise Men, the Star, the Babe of Bethlehem, the Baptism of Christ, Christ entering Jeruselem, the Sermon on the Mount, the Last Supper, the Rejection, the Crucifixion. The above are only a few of the many equally interesting and instructive shown in life size. All who fail to attend will regret it. Guaranteed as represented or money refunded.

A CHEROKEE CONVICTED.—Blue Duck, a Cherokee full blood, was convicted last Saturday night at Fort Smith of murder. He and William Christie were both on trial for the same offense, and each of the defendants hoped to secure an acquittal by showing the other to have been the guilty party. The victim was a man named Wyrick, living in Flint district. Blue Duck was very drunk, and was determined on having blood. After killing Wyrick who was plowing in a field, the murderer shot at a boy named Billy Wolf who came riding up and then proceeding to the house of Hawkey Wolf fired at him two or three times. The killing occurred in June 1884, and on one occasion after being arrested Blue Duck was released, the grand jury failing to find an indictment. Subsequently he was rearrested and evidence sufficient to convict was produced. The trial being a triangular one, and engaging the services of three sets of lawyers and witnesses consumed considerable time.

NO COURT TO TRY HIM.—The action of the federal authorities at Fort Smith in liberating, without trial, George Edwards, who killed Quilla Fleetwood, has been the basis for considerable speculation as to possible results. These parties, nephew and uncle, respectively, were claimants to the rights of Cherokee citizenship, but the nation had decided adversely. When arraigned in court this citizenship claim was so successfully set forth as to secure the prisoner's liberty. As the Cherokee nation will exercise no authority in the premises, this man goes scott free without a trial. It is not clear that the killing was murder, but had such been the case the result would have been the same. This is the remarkable phase of the affair. Should the class to which Edwards and his victim belong conclude to open war upon one another and even upon Cherokees, under this ruling they would stand in no danger of punishment. It truly seems that the question of citizenship needs adjustment. For the Cherokee nation to try this man would be to admit the the genuineness of the claim of both families, and this they will not do.

PERSONAL MENTION.

—L. W. Marks started for Fort Smith last Monday.

—Capt. W. G. Nelms left via the Missouri Pacific last Friday night for Washington and New York.

—Joseph Hunt has gone to Tom Green county Texas, and will not return before the last of next week.

—Nat Skinner and W. C. Chamberlin were at Neosho this week and came home on foot—part of the way.

—Mrs. W. O. Williams, wife of the Frisco's roadmaster, has been suffering with pneumonia but we understand is improving.

—C. Hayden, Esq., of Chouteau, was weatherbound here a short time last Tuesday. He did not expect cattle would put on much flesh for some days.

—Rev. W. P. Haworth, now of Tulsa, conducted services at the Presbyterian church in this city last Sabbath. He speaks very enthusiastically of his new home.

A BLIZZARD AND NO MISTAKE.

This Territory Visited by the Most Severe Snow Storm Ever Experienced.

The prize snow storm of this country set in last Monday night and for about twenty-four hours it blowed the very hind sights off any of its presuming predecessors. On Tuesday there was a general suspension of business all over town and if in the country the rule was reversed, the fact remains to be reported. Very few people, save the printers, came down town. With the latter, however, it was compulsory, for storm or no storm, the CHIEFTAIN must be issued.

Throughout Monday night the snow fell rapidly, but it was not until near daylight that the wind began drifting the same. By eight or nine o'clock its effects were plainly shown and by night wonders had been worked. In many spots the ground was bare and perhaps ten feet away there would be a drift half as many feet in height. Although the temperature was not extreme, it seems improbable that no disasters nor suffering occurred. None however have thus far been reported. The loss which to range cattlemen is sure to be very heavy, will in this section be of little consequence. The men who are feeding, and we know of very few exceptions in this nation, have little to fear in this direction, for at this writing (Wednesday evening) the weather is fine with a prospect for continuing so.

The mails reached us on time up to Tuesday noon, but points west and south of here were not so fortunate. The south-bound Missouri Pacific which passed here about daylight proceeded almost to Chouteau, encountering considerable trouble, and was there permanently hung up in a snow bank. On the Frisco the passenger came in promptly on time a short distance behind the freight. An effort to proceed west with a locomotive and caboose terminated by the former being jammed securely into a cut one-half or three-quarters of a mile from town where it still remains we believe. Operations on that road east and west were thereupon abandoned for the day and all attention was turned to keeping the remaining engine at this place "alive." The Missouri Pacific, due at 4:40 p. m., got through from the north some time after dark and yesterday morning with the help of a snow plow ahead of two engines, the early passenger reached here at 6 o'clock. The wind having subsided this practically cleared that road [illegible]. The special dispatch from Chouteau, found below, gives a very clear idea of the situation south of here.

CHOUTEAU, I. T., February 2.—Snow has been falling hard for last twenty-four hours and no sign of clearing off yet. It is now about two feet deep with heavy and cold north wind blowing and is drifting in places from five to eight feet high. It is the worst storm that has ever been known here and many of the already weak cattle will perish. The south bound Missouri Pacific passenger train has been in a snow drift two miles north of here all day with part of a freight train ahead of it and a freight train behind it. The north bound passenger was stuck in a snow drift about a mile south of here with a freight train behind it from noon to-day until eight o'clock to-night, when a force of men reached there from south and pushed it into Chouteau.

SNOW BALLS.

—The show was postponed.

—No school Tuesday nor Wednesday.

—Six below zero Wednesday morning.

—"Pavey" was the only man in town to sell a hundred dollar's worth of goods the chilly day.

—Yes, thank you, there is a plenty of snow to suit us.

—The first train from the south since Monday night was a "double-header" which reached here at 6:15 last evening.

—It must be Esq. Millers fault. He built a cutter after everybody else was arranging to have their gardens plowed.

—Only one team was seen Tuesday and that was the one sent out to bring back the mail from the train in the snow bank.

SEVEN SENTENCED TO HANG.

In the federal court at Fort Smith last Saturday Judge Parker passed the death sentence upon seven murderers, for crimes committed in this territory. Robinson Kemp, a Chickasaw, was also to have been sentenced, but was given two week's time to procure evidence in support of a motion for a new trial. Should it not be forthcoming he will be sentenced to be hung with the balance on Friday, April 23rd, 1886. The unfortunates were James Wasson, Meredith Crow, Joseph Jackson, Robert Wolf, one Wiley, Luce Hammon and He-Wah-Nuck-ee.

James Wasson, a desperado, goes to the gallows for killing Hen Martin. Wasson was also to company with one Jerry Lewis, the murderer of Almirene Watkins, a wealthy stockman, and it was the reward offered by Watkins' widow that led to the arrest of Wasson and Lewis. Lewis is now in jail at Tishomingo.

Joseph Jackson is a negro, who killed his wife on March 9 last, at Skullyville. He had previously been tried for the murder of a white man, but was acquitted.

Robert Wolf, colored, killed another negro named Stockbridge. He never denied the killing, but claimed it was accidental. He was at the time, in the employ of Mrs. Almirene Watkins the lady mentioned in the Wasson case, who paid a lawyer $600 to defend him. He was convicted July 26 last.

Meredith Crow will hang for the murder of Cub Courtney, committed in the Chickasaw nation.

Luce Hammon, one Wiley, and He-wah-Nuck-ee, three half-civilized Creek Indian boys, were convicted on December 4, 1884, of murdering a white man named Owens, who was traveling through the nation with no companion but his horse. The three boys visited him in his camp, asked for tobacco and received it, went away, came back and shot Owens, inflicting wounds from which he died. Their boasts of having done the killing put the officers on their track.

Robinson Kemp, an intelligent Chickasaw Indian, and his step-son, Edmond Jefferson, were arrested about a year ago for killing a white man named Henry Rich. First trial resulted in a hung jury. On second trial Jefferson was acquitted and Kemp convicted.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times symptoms of indigestion are present, flatulency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A moisture like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching after getting warm is a common attendant. Blind, bleeding, itching piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching and effecting a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Sold by M. Frazee & Co.
