Heaven.

Suddenly one day
The last life shall fall away
The last little heartfulness that is in our blood
Shall drop from us as the shadow drops from the bud,
And the great spirit of man shall struggle through,
And spread huge branches underneath the blue.
In any mirror, be it bright or dim,
Man will see God, staring back at him.

Dinners.

The Country club, which has seen little or no social payetes for more than a year, was on Saturday evening the scene of a victory dinner-dance at which 100 clubmembers and 60-odd-teen guests were in attendance.
Planned to celebrate the expected coming of peace, the club was gaily in its array of the allied flags which everywhere were in evidence, and the tables decorated in cornucopia filled with fruit, suggested the season of Thanksgiving. Dancing followed the dinner as usual, the program being on the "jive" plan, with a charge for each number on the program. There was an auction and clever features for the purpose of raising money for the united war fund drive. Among the members and guests in attendance were Mesdames and Mesdames Horace J. Anderson, C. W. Bass, G. E. Swanson, Whitney, A. M. Meeks, F. W. Bryant, W. L. Biekey, W. L. Noe, Mercur, Howard N. Cole, J. M. Hayner, William Miller Ross, George S. Bole, Franklin S. Gray, Lynn B. Wallace, Charles L. Waite, Frank I. Lewis, James B. Robinson, Wells D. Montgomery, J. C. Fowler, Harry C. Ashby, Frank H. Greer, Arthur Lippa, L. J. Martin, P. M. Miskell, Earl W. Sinclair, Frank H. Moore, E. Rogers, Kemp, C. W. Wangerin, R. O. McClintock, W. R. Lindsay, Robert M. Moody, Bert H. Collins, Brink, Ray M. Collins, C. D. Colgesshall, Dr. and Mrs. Charles D. P. O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dresner of Bradford, Pa., Mrs. Ennis of New Orleans, Mrs. Adams of Kansas City, Mrs. W.

MUSIC

That's it! That's what puts the "zip" in rejoicing. You should have no reason for not owning a piano. There are pianos suited to the purse of everyone, and there are plans of payment that make the initial cost easy for you. When you have heard the exquisite tone and have scanned the pipe workmanship of the instruments in our display you will realize the truth of our words. The Lyon & Healy Piano takes away your one valid excuse for non-ownership.
We have two slightly used pianos.

Y., in a yellow and white table had covers in addition to those of the honor guest and hostess, for Mrs. Hugh Kink Jr., Mrs. Wallace Carney, Mrs. Arch I. Smith, Mrs. E. Ralph Lockwood, Mrs. P. E. Magee, Mrs. Schuyler Cronch, Mrs. H. A. Smith and Miss Miss Evans.

Clubs.

Shakespeare club opening for the season 1918-19 was held on Friday in the home of Mrs. Frank H. Greer, attended by a group of several members. The meeting was marked by the beginning of the study of "King Lear" which is to be pursued for the next several weeks. Mrs. C. C. Cole had a paper on the play and the parts were taken as follows: Mrs. William Miller Ross, Gloucester; Mrs. Joseph T. Laney, General; Mrs. Hugh King, Jr., Regan; Mrs. Herbert D. Mason, Cordelia; Mrs. Lee Clinton, a knight; Mrs. Charles D. P. O'Brien, Cornwall; Mrs. John D. Hall, the king of France; Mrs. Preston C. West, Edgar; Mrs. James B. Robinson, Oswald; Mrs. John Roy, Edmund; Mrs. C. C. Cole, Jester; Mrs. Albert W. Roth was granted a year's leave of absence to do war and Y. M. C. A. work. The next meeting in two weeks will be with Mrs. John D. Hall.
The Tulsa Women's club opening will be in the form of a tea Monday afternoon in the new home of Mrs. A. H. Craver in Sunset Park. In accordance with the times, every woman is asked to take her own portion of sugar. Those who have cars are asked to meet the members with no way of conveyance, at the end of the Main street car line.
Matrons of the Utopia club assembled for the first time since the quar-antined on Wednesday, with Mrs. O. L. Chancellor as hostess in her home. Knitting was the order of the afternoon and refreshments were served. The club will meet again this week on Wednesday with Mrs. H. L. Seitz, at which time plans will be made for the season's activities in Red Cross work.

Members of the Tuesday Book club will hold a business meeting Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Herbert D. Mason. The club, which for several months has devoted itself to the making of surgical dressings, will at that time make plans for its work in the event that a declaration of peace comes. The women are asked to take their knitting.

Juvenile.

Mary Caroline Cole, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cole, celebrated her sixth birthday on Wednesday when she had the children of the neighborhood in for an afternoon of games and play.
Ann, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Woodard, celebrated her fourth birthday with a party on Thursday, when 25 little playmates and friends were her guests. The afternoon of games was followed by refreshments served from a table suggestive of the Thanksgiving season.

Women of the 16th division of the First Presbyterian church were hostesses to the young women's guild Friday night, entertaining with a "Victory" dinner which was served in the sub-story of the church. There was an interesting program with Bible lesson led by Miss Charlotte Washington, and mission study by Miss Bowen, who reviewed "Women workers of the Orient." Rev. W. H. K. was present and delivered a plan by which the guild might co-operate in the work of the congregation, especially in connection with "Victory meetings," soon
