

GOMPERS SEES GRAVE DANGERS AT SESSION

Labor Leader Asserts Demands Will Be Made That Must Be Carefully Studied—Wants Rights.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—The nation is in grave danger now than at any time during the war, because peace conferences are no longer dominated by a spirit of justice and democracy, declared Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in an address here Saturday at a "jubilee" meeting of the American alliance for Labor and democracy.

It had occurred before, he said, that people who had secured a certain amount of freedom in their own countries were forced to yield of their own volition these rights at the peace table.

He asserted that when the senate ratifies a treaty with another country provisions of such a treaty become a "contract law," and said that the working classes of America who had succeeded in getting some excellent laws on the statute books would be in it that none of these rights were taken away at the peace conference.

The next of kin of each Oklahoma who gave his life in war will receive an engraved expression of condolence and gratitude on behalf of the state for the sacrifice.

OKMULGEE REFINERY CLEARS UP FINANCES

Optimistic Report Filed in Answer to Receiver Suit Started by E. W. Kimbley.

Financial difficulties of the Okmulgee Producing & Refining Co. have been solved, according to the officials, and they are sending the stockholders a statement of the company that reflects credit upon the management, in the opinion of men who have seen it.

Recently called into court by E. W. Kimbley of Okmulgee in a suit for $250,000 alleged to be due him for leases and properties sold the company, attorneys have transferred the matter to the federal courts and in the words of the officers of the company, that aside from the notoriety which attaches to the suit, the matter has in no way embarrassed the company in any of its operations.

The corporation has just had a complete audit of its affairs by Marwick, Mitchell, Peat & Co., and the American Appraisal company, and both show above $5,000,000 net assets, with practically all of the obligations of the corporation taken care of.

Suit for receiver was filed by Mr. Kimbley, giving as a basis for his claim that he sold the company oil and gas leases, and for which he had not been entirely paid. He claimed the affairs of the company were badly managed and that the properties were being dissipated.

The company insists that there is a balance due it from Mr. Kimbley and is filing a counter claim in federal court.

LIBERTY GIRLS HAVE RARE MUSICAL TREAT

Instrumental Numbers Will Be Reinforced by Readings by Wilda Good

Music lovers of Tulsa will enjoy a rare treat tonight in the concert of the "Liberty Girls" lyceum attraction. This is one of the best musical numbers that could be bought by the community committee.

Violin duets and solos, cello and violin trios, saxophones and piano will be heard from these four versatile young women. Aside from these musical features are the readings by Wilda Good, who has the reputation of reaching over the footlights and holding her audience spellbound.

Practically all the numbers will be introduced in costume with repertoire representing the different allied nations.

Miss Good, who is manager of the group, was asked last night if they would change the name of the company now that the war has been won, and her answer was typical. "Indeed not," "Liberty" is the one word that is in vogue in a land like America.

Mayor Hubbard Wants Uncle Sam to Return Dog Catcher at Once

Will Uncle Sam please listen? Mayor Hubbard wants his dog catcher back, and right now. The ex-dog catcher gave up his job a few months ago to go over and catch the Kaiser, but because of international complications and the end of the war, he's going to be disappointed on that job. Incidentally, the dog catcher wants to come home.

The dog catching business in Tulsa serves three purposes: It makes money for the city, makes money for the dog catcher, and gets rid of an over-plus of canines.

Take it from the mayor, the ex-dog catcher was 100 per cent efficient, and his place has been filled with difficulty.

READY WIT NEVER FAILS IRVIN COBB

Saturday Evening Post Hero Speaks at Convention Hall Tomorrow Night.

"What kind of a person is this Irvin Cobb?" asked a stranger of Irvin, himself.

"Well to be frank with you," replied the genius, "I should say that in appearance he is rather bulky, standing 6 feet high and not especially beautiful. His figure is peculiar with black mane. His figure is undecided, but might be called bumpy in places. He belongs to the Yonkers Pressing Marching club, and is a member of the Hill Democratic Club and The Park Club."

The above statements are indicative of the straight forward manner, the plain, understandable English, and the ever active wit with which Cobb expresses the lights and shadows of a colorful life.

At any time the coming of Cobb would be an event. At this particular time it is epochal for the paramount interest in the national mind today is the affairs and conditions of western Europe, and no person in America is better qualified to furnish reliable, first hand information than Irvin Cobb.

The Saturday Evening Post hero will speak at Convention hall on December 4, at 8 o'clock. Tickets will be 50 cents for school children and those persons holding lyceum tickets. To others the price will be $1. There will be no reserve seats.

GUARANTY COMPANY MUST PAY WALKLET SHORTAGE

Judgment for $1,022.60 to cover the shortage in the books of H. C. Walkley, former register of deeds, was entered in the district court by Judge N. E. McNeil yesterday afternoon, August 2, 1918, when the state and Guaranty Co., which furnished Walkley's bond to the county.

The shortage was discovered by Evans A. Nash and I. H. Stafford, deputy state examiners and inspectors, in the course of their audit of the county records in the autumn of 1917. Suit was instituted by the county attorney against Walkley and his bondsmen. Although Walkley is said to be living in Oklahoma, officers were never able to get service on him.

The examiners found the funds on which suits were entered were not reported by Walkley while he was register of deeds and that he had failed to account for this amount during the month of July, 1912. He retired from office in January, 1913.

PHOENIX INSTALLS INSURANCE

In noting the item that the Gulf Life company had installed had a system of insurance for its employees, we overlooked the fact that the Phoenix Refining company some time ago put into effect a system of employees' insurance plan for the Phoenix and its associated company, the March Oil company. This insurance applies to every employee of the two companies and goes into effect as to each one upon six months service. The initial benefit being $1,000 and increasing semi-annually up to a maximum of $3,000.

It is the highest amount ever paid in one risk by the insurance company. This gives protection to the families of all the men employed in the field and at the refinery, and was

SEES TARIFF AS BIG AFTER-WAR PROBLEM

Managing Director of Austrian Bank Says Main Problem is Free Trade or High Tariff.

VIENNA, Saturday, Nov. 30.—Dr. Alfred Treicht, managing director of the Anglo-Austrian bank which has a working capital of $50,000,000 and branches throughout the former Austrian empire, in an interview today with the Associated Press said:

"The biggest question the world is now facing is whether the free trade or the high tariff principle shall be applied between the nations, and in particular, what the United States will do for the economic prosperity of the former political happenings and possibly their political happiness."

The dimensions of their war certainly have been more disastrous for Austria. We are overloaded with war debts though it must be remembered they are largely internal, with two or three billion crowns owed to German and also small loans obtained in the United States before that country ceased its neutrality.

We have among ourselves merely exchanged materials for paper money, notes and bonds. One problem we are facing is for each of the new republics to make up its accounts and divide the war debts so that each will know where it stands.

"Never in history, however, has any enterprising people been crushed by debts. If we can produce we can pay back all our debts in 10 years. But the great difficulty is how to start production."

"What we need in Austria is food and raw materials for manufacturing which are in the hands of our former enemies."

Everybody's Column

Appreciation. Abilene, Tex., Nov. 20. Editor Tulsa World: Dear Sir: Permit me to express to you my appreciation and gratitude for a recent editorial appearing in The Tulsa World entitled, "Justice to Denmark." There are in the state of Oklahoma a number of political exiles from Sleevig (German: Schlesswig) and each one of them, I am sure, appreciate the fact that there is at least one paper in this state with knowledge of world affairs sufficient, and courage and determination for fair play, to speak a hard word for the little nation, which in 1848 became the first to oppose Prussianism and the German propaganda of world conquest.

After three years of hard fighting the Germans and Prussians are driven from our border. In 1864 the Germans, aided by Austria again declared war on our nation and while our boys fought bravely we had to succumb to the forces and superior numbers. During this present war Danish soldiers by the thousands in both the French, English, as well as the American army and navy, have fought for the cause of our lives for freedom's cause. I could give the names of many of that allies, and many have given their lives nothing else could do to the minds of the public.

With a population close around the 100,000 mark, with the many modern and up-to-date office and other buildings, innumerable homes, almost 75 miles of paved street, good schools, churches and city organizations, commission form of government, no saloons, and never will be, a cosmopolitan but spirited and progressive population coming from foreign lands, all doing their bit to make a better city, why should there be any doubt as to the future of Tulsa?

No town or city ever existed without a knacker, but knackers but is the fellow that "Don't know nothin", haint got nothin' and don't want nothin'" sort and the sooner a city is rid of him the better off it is.

The soul owes no man a living. If a man has energy, health he can get along in the world and he will not find a better place to get along than right here. When we stop to think of the good salaries and wages paid to the employed in and about Tulsa is it any wonder that they flock here from everywhere?

Honest to goodness now would you want to go back where you used to live, where wages were less than half what they are here, where you work about half the time? Would you rather pay $5 rent for a house and five back there? Just be honest with yourself if you have been the least bit pessimistic about Tulsa.

In our business we meet almost daily people who have lived in Tulsa, gone to other cities or towns, perhaps back to their old home, and who have again returned to Tulsa to live. Always their remarks are the same: "I never want away, never want away. It just can't be helped, once they get the Tulsa spirit they are never satisfied anywhere else and like the proverbial man, "I never want away from Tulsa, but I don't like to live here."

With the war ended, the restrictions removed as to building and with a prospect of cheaper materials and a substantial reduction in the commodity prices of every day use and with the ever increasing population we are just optimistic enough to believe that we will prosper from this time on if we all pull together, all doing our share to not only help our city, but to help the other cities and helpfulness to all worthy causes. All we have to say is just you watch her grow! Be sure, however, that you helped rather than hindered so that you can be a part of it.

E. G. CUNNINGHAM.
