

MAKE HARD FIGHT ON TUBERCULOSIS

New Dispensary for Colored People Is Opened at 21 North Greenwood Street.

FREE CLINICS EACH WEEK Colored Doctors and Colored Nurses Are in Charge of All Patients and Direct Clinics' Affairs.

As usual, Tulsa is first, and this time it is in the way of a tuberculosis dispensary operated exclusively for the colored people and located just off Archer. It is the only one in Oklahoma.

The new nurse, Mrs. Emma Robinson, went into one house last week and found a negro woman ironing clothes for a white family and laying each piece on the bed in which her husband, coughing and expectorating, and in the last stages of consumption. Aside from the great goal to be derived by the colored race, all others will benefit from the campaign to educate and train them to treat and prevent this disease.

The new dispensary held its first free clinic last Sunday and will continue to hold them on Tuesday and Thursday each week from 12:30 to 2 o'clock. There are 35 afflicted ones already indexed with the nurse.

At 2 o'clock on that night this week the nurse called on a woman whose husband had abandoned her to die, stating in parting that there wasn't any use in both of them dying—she was willing. The sick woman had been allowed to sit in a rocking chair at a neighbor's until help could come, but the neighbor was afraid of the disease and wouldn't let her in. This sick one was moved to a cot in the country and a part of the $4 a day earned by the husband is made to go toward her support.

Tuberculosis dispensary No. 2, as the new one is called, is under the supervision of the Tulsa Tuberculosis Association, and the salary of the nurse and rent of the house, $75 a month, respectively, are borne by them. Colored doctors and colored nurses, however, are in direct charge, reporting through their representative at the meeting of the general association once a month.

Dr. C. E. Smith was elected by a joint meeting of the board of directors and the colored county medical society to be in charge of the dispensary. He will attend to the dispensary on every clinic, and in rotation one out of the following 14 doctors will assist each time: A. J. Whitley, president of the colored medical association; H. J. Watson, B. A. Wayne, J. M. Key, R. H. Robinson, R. F. Bridgewater, H. E. Smith, H. W. Motley, H. M. Calvert, J. Smithers, Charles R. Williams, Ham, Wesley Jones, A. J. Jackson and A. F. Bryant.

Dr. H. T. Price and Dr. O. A. Ferguson, who have given their services at the dispensary on Fifteenth street on clinic days, will visit the new dispensary regularly, and Miss Jessie M. Richardson, nurse for the tuberculosis association will often be there. Miss Richardson will attend to sending off sputum samples for examinations by the state organization at Oklahoma City, and all necessary X-ray examinations will be made at the original dispensary. Miss Richardson states that as a rule the negroes afflicted with tuberculosis have such marked cases that X-ray pictures are not needed. She also states that the resistance power of the colored race is so feeble against this germ that almost the entire hope rests with educating them on how to prevent the disease and not how to cure it, although there is every chance in the early stages.

World Photographer Has Had Long Career With the Kodak

A varied career in the photographic world, regarded as one of the best news and action photographers in the country, is the record of Alvin T. Krupnick, staff photographer for the Tulsa World, and manager of the Kodak department of Harry Hiebman jeweler.

ALVIN KRUPNICK (World Staff Photographer)

Krupnick has served as staff photographer for some of the biggest newspapers in the middle west, spending several years in St. Louis as photographer for the Post-Dispatch, the Republic and the Star. During his service with these papers he has snapped some of the biggest news in national affairs, including striking and riots in St. Louis, and from senators to presidents. Krupnick has served for several months with photographic division of the air service in France, and was overseas at the time the armistice was signed.

Krupnick's work has taken him into all kinds of action, capturing baseball games, mass meetings, strikes and riots with equal interest. He was official photographer for the Liberty loan organization for the eighth federal reserve district in St. Louis during the entire campaign for the third Liberty loan, and his work was officially recognized all over the country.

During the strike in East St. Louis in the spring of 1917, he was on the scene of action at all times, furnishing pictures, remarkable for their clarity and accuracy, to the St. Louis papers, setting graphically the story of the slaughter of the negroes by the white workmen. He was also on duty during the street car strikes in St. Louis in February, 1918.

An official Liberty loan photographer he took hundreds of pictures of campaign demonstrations and meetings, and his work was commended as being a big factor in the successful termination of the third campaign in St. Louis.

At last July he made application for have investigated, report that a typhoid epidemic is eminent.

The nurse walks to the homes of her people, and on her rounds talks sanitation, cleanliness and ventilation to them. At 6 o'clock Wednesday morning she walked 3 miles to see a patient who was reported to be in immediate need. A pastry cook in one of the down-town restaurants was discovered at his work while having the disease in a pronounced form. He was made to leave the restaurant by the nurse, for the safety of others, and is being cared for by the association.

The colored people have bought a tent and placed it out on a hill ready to receive anyone afflicted who has no home to go to. In the new and worthy work now undertaken it has been brought to light that there is the first organized charity for the negroes in the city, and the nurse is appealed to by scores afflicted with diseases other than the dreaded white plague. In so far as she is able she responds to all. Practically a public nurse because of the demand of the people.

performed photographers of recognized ability being admitted.

Krupnick is 26 years old and has been in Tulsa for four months, coming here from St. Louis after his release from the army. He was, shortly before his enlistment, connected with the Krupnick & Mabel Photographic bureau in St. Louis with offices in Washington, Chicago and London.

He's a World Man. During the time he has been in Tulsa he has supplied the World with pictures of every event of importance in the city and the World has been able to present its readers with graphic illustrations in addition to the news stories.

The reception of the Tulsa ambassadors and the engineers, and the scenes snapped the morning after the flood were in many ways remarkable pieces of news photography, presenting to the World readers a clearer idea of the event. Perhaps the most talked of picture of Krupnick in Tulsa was that of the arch-bishop taking the parade of the engineers. This picture was taken under the poorest lighting conditions and necessitated a flashlight exposure but in spite of the handicap Krupnick not only got a clear picture but so timed his exposure as to include the speeding airplane.

Troops Home. NEW YORK, June 28.—Nearly 7,000 troops arrived here today from French ports. The Anelus from St. Nazaire arrived in the harbor shortly after sunrise with 6,354 soldiers on board and she was followed by the Santa Paula, also from St. Nazaire with 2,603 and the Santa Rosa from Bordeaux with 1,961.

ARMENIA! In them were our children, STARVING! STARVING! Instead of Armenian children, it would not take us two weeks to go to their relief, when seventeen cents a day would keep them alive. WOULD IT? Then dear Tulsans, before you eat your Sunday dinner, make it possible for these poor little children of the Bible land to have a little of your bounty.

Not only give your MONEY but your TIME, by coming to headquarters at 9 o'clock Monday and Tuesday mornings, you will be assigned territory to canvass.

For Spavinaw. "I want the bonds to carry and Spavinaw, which brought to Tulsa," said Mrs. Mattie Golay, secretary of the home service of the Red Cross. "I can't look into the details of those big questions myself, but the people that are supporting Spavinaw are men I personally trust and whose judgment I respect. I know they are working for the future growth of Tulsa."

When the county home agent, Miss Carrie C. Lovette, visited the school last year and saw a classroom of boys and girls if any wanted to form a class for bread lessons, one boy held up his hand and said he wanted to join if any of the other boys would. Ten boys entered and are making good progress. There are 13 girls in the class also.

The Boys Make Doughnuts. "Miss Lovette, I made some doughnuts and they'd knock a nigger down." No doubt they have a lot to learn. Fairview and Red Fork are to make bread at the fair this fall and contest for a prize.

Manual Training Next Year. The school is splendidly equipped for its science departments, and provision has been made for manual training to be put in the course this year. The domestic science rooms are in the basement, which is well up out of the ground, and very dry and attractive with its dimly curtains and pots and pans. A large auditorium has a place in the new building and a lecture course brings capable men and women there throughout the winter. The school is the center of social, civic and educational life.

The superintendent for the past two years is W. E. Kerr, but he has left in his place H. J. Jones, who has been in charge of the schools at Jenks for three years.

Also, Boys Will Be Cooks

If Ever They Are Needed to Help Prepare Food for Uncle Sam's Army, They Can Be Found in the County School at Red Fork.

Next time Uncle Sam needs cooks to feed his army he can get 10 of them from the county school at Red Fork. When the county home agent, Miss Carrie C. Lovette, visited the school last year and saw a classroom of boys and girls if any wanted to form a class for bread lessons, one boy held up his hand and said he wanted to join if any of the other boys would. Why Hesitate? Why Delay? WHY NOT START YOUR COURSE TODAY

Young people who are able to start to school now should by all means do so. If you wait two months that time is gone forever and just that much is shorn from the sum total of your life's possibilities.

It is not necessary to wait until cold weather to start to school. The head should control the heat, and not the heat the head. Our rooms are cool and comfortable. They are especially well equipped with both cooling and oscillating fans, and our students are doing just as good work as they did in the early spring months.

Every Monday is Entrance Day and the sooner you begin your course, the sooner you can enjoy the benefits to be derived from your training. A month's delay means a month's salary lost and a month's salary is equal to the cost of your course.

What you do next year all depends on what you plan today. Decide NOW to enroll MONDAY.
