GOING TO SEE BRYAN

BIG CROWD OF CHICKASHA PEOPLE WILL GO TO OKLAHOMA CITY TOMORROW

REDUCED RAILROAD RATES

Fare will be $1.70 for Round Trip—Special Train on Return Trip

Tomorrow the hosts of admirers of William J. Bryan from all over the new state will assemble at Oklahoma City to hear and see the great Nebraskan statesman. The special train bearing the Bryan party will arrive in Oklahoma City at 8 p. m. and Mr. Bryan will begin his speech very soon after its arrival.

Much interest has been taken by the democrats of Chickasha in Mr. Bryan's visit and an effort was made to bring him here but the campaign committee has placed him where, it is thought, he can do the most good for the party, failing to get Mr. Bryan here, Chickasha will do the next best thing—she will go to him. A big crowd is going and both railroads will sell round trip tickets for $1.70. You can go in the morning or afternoon and the Frisco has agreed to run a special train after the speaking, so that Chickasha people can return the same evening.

PROHIBITIONISTS WIN

Stillwater, Ok., Sept. 25—The prohibitionists controlled the republican convention held here today to nominate a candidate to the constitutional convention. J. E. Sater was named.

The anti-prohibitionist were led by Dod Lowry, who walked out of the hall.

Resolutions strongly favoring a "dry" plank in the constitution were adopted. There will be no contest.

The home team is fully prepared to meet the enemy and the contests will undoubtedly be the warmest ever pulled off on the local diamond.

Game will be called each day at 3:30.

ANARCHY IN CUBA

INTERVENTION

(Associated Press.)

Havana, Sept. 26.—Cuba is today practically without government and the landing of American forces to restore order is believed to be the necessary outcome. The governing party has decided to abdicate everything to compel the United States to intervene. Opposition party denounces the action of the Palma administration as treason but conservatives welcome the idea of American intervention.

HUGHES NOMINATED

THE NEGRO PROBLEM

IS THE GREAT OVERSHADOWING ISSUE IN THE SOUTH SAYS HOMER BASSFORD

SOUTHERN TOWNS IN PERIL

Every Night—Expecting Repetition of the Terrible Scenes Enacted in Atlanta.

Homer Bassford, the well known staff correspondent of the St. Louis Republic, who was detailed to accompany Mr. Bryan and has been with him for several weeks, in a report to his paper from New Orleans says:

One week ago today, sitting in the lobby of the big Roanoke Hotel, at Roanoke, in Virginia I heard a native citizen of good repute say that the only problem his state faced was that of the negro.

The day before that, at Radford, I heard Governor Tyler, one of the cleanest, finest men of the Old Dominion, say that, owing to the Bryan day at the fair, he could not get the negroes to do their work. My own experience was that for neither entreaty nor money could I get my trunk hauled from the station to the hotel, the negro expressmen insisting on a holiday, for the reason that there was "something doing."

Driving to the fair grounds, where Bryan was to speak, I heard negroes use language towards white men that would have provoked a fight, to say the least, in Missouri.

In North Carolina, where whiskey is not common, owing to drastic legislation, the negro was more civil, and the same thing may be said of parts of South Carolina; but in Georgia, at Atlanta, on Thursday I heard half a dozen men in the Piedmont Hotel, which is as fine as the best places in New York, Chicago or St. Louis, say that the negro question was the only one of real moment in the South. The negro has mistaken liberty for license and gets more than any white in the same lowly walk of life.

The white loafer who refuses to work, or who indulges in indolence or crime, gets his deserts and says his nothing; but the negro criminal gets the tacit support of many in own race and the negro loafer who combines insolence with his inacity and indifference is offended to the point of an uprising, if he is condemned. The exception is present, of course, and when it is found he is the most attractive, in his way, of humanity—honest, taciturn, obliging, possessing all of the virtues and few of the faults.

Fifty southern towns go to sleep every night looking for the sort of thing that has occurred in Atlanta, and to most of them it will come sooner or later.

Kindly correspondents who naturally shelter the real feelings of the people, say that boys are responsible for the outbreaks against law and order, but every expression I have heard on the subject came from men of repute, who faced the subject with genuine regret and every misgiving.

WABASH FAST MAIL MEETS DISASTER

(Associated Press.)

Catlin Ills., Sept. 26—The Wabash fast mail train, number eight, running at a high rate of speed dashed through an open switch into a freight train here this morning. Several were killed and over forty injured. The train caught fire from the explosion of gas tanks and the dining car alone escaped the flames. Known dead; Engineer Jonas Butler, Peru Ind.; Fireman Walter Ellison, Lafayette Ind.; Postal Clerk Ira Harding, Iverdale. It is believed that three or four badly burned children will die. The injured were taken to Danville.

The passenger was running from Kansas City to Buffalo known as Buffalo Mail and all passenger cars but one turned over and burned. Four children of Mrs. Livingston Kansas City, were thrown out of the car window by the mother but were caught in burning debris, and badly burned, some may die, mother not injured. Four children of Mrs. J. H. Baldudalm or Gaelph Ontario were badly burned, all will probably die. Mail Clerk Harding was pinched beneath the mail car and roasted to death. Engineer Butler and Fireman Ellison were crushed beneath the engine and their bodies afterward burned.

Among the injured are Mrs. Williamson Hurdle, Marella, Okla., slightly burned; Josiah Leny, Renfor, Okla., hands legs burned; George H. Yagy and wife, Covington Ind., badly burned; eight known dead.

Those who go from here will wear Chickasha badges and will make their presence known as they always do. Part of the crowd will go in the morning and part in the afternoon.

FOUR NEW BUILDINGS

Buildings Will Cost $22,000, and Will be Modern in Every Respect.

Contract for the four new buildings on Chickasha avenue were let yesterday. Chas. Harwood, of Oklahoma City being the successful bidder. The aggregate cost of the new buildings will be about $22,000 and they will be as handsome and modern as any structures of the kind in the Southwest. The parties erecting the buildings are Brown & Co, Ferguson Bros, Terrell Bros, and the Lowd estate, represented by N. M. Williams.

Work on the new buildings will begin the latter part of this week or part of next and the contract calls for their completion within ninety days.

The new buildings will be two story 25 by 100 feet, built of brick with fronts of St. Louis gray brick, trimmed with stone. They will be equipped with water, sewer, gas, electric light and steam heat. The first floor will be for store purposes and the second for office rooms.

The removal of the old buildings marks the passing of landmarks of the early days in Chickasha. All of them were built by the pioneers in 1892.

Homer Yip Young is here to buy the Chinese restaurant on Chickasha ave. He formerly conducted the New York Restaurant in Oklahoma City and had the reputation of setting the best table in the city.

"HUMAN HEARTS" LAST NIGHT

Big Audience Sees Good Melo Drama At Opera House Last Night.

In "Human Hearts" which came to the Opera House last night for one performance was enough thrilling climaxes, heroic situations, with a goodly amount of pathos and fun mixed in to suit the most enthusiastic lover of the modern melo drama. "Human Hearts" is a good play and played by a good company in a way that could not admit of much criticism. The plot is not new, in fact it is one of the oldest themes with which the playwright has amused audiences for many years. The hero and the villain, the tramp who plays into the hero's hand, the little child, and by the way the little one was the best one of the company, considering her years, the intriguing wife and it all ended just as any "gallery god" would have had it end. The hero wins out, the villain "gets his" and all is lovely. It is a story with a moral and it was evident that the audience enjoyed it for the play and the players were applauded at every possible point. One thing noticeable about the play was that it interested without the aid of specialties of any kind.

A full house saw "Human Hearts." The next attraction at the Opera House is "Lost in New York."

W. J. BRYAN AT OKLAHOMA CITY Sept. 27th. For the above occasion the Frisco Railroad will sell tickets to Oklahoma City and return at rate of one and one third fare for round trip.

Make Money WHILE YOU SLEEP

Do you ever stop to consider that so long as you work for money by the day or month your income stops every time you do? If you take a day off your income stops and waits until you go to work again. Suppose you invest a little money in a piece of real estate, does it stop increasing in value while you sleep or take a day off? NOT MUCH, it goes right on increasing every minute of the twenty-four hours and every day of the year. Think this matter over and then call at our office and we will do a little figuring with you.
