STEEL HEAD FOR LAWS IN PLACE OF ARBITRATION

Judge Gary in Accord With Recommendations of President's Industrial Commission To Quiet Strikes.

LABOR WILL PROPOSE LIST OF CHANGES SOON

Will Speak Through Samuel Gompe; Suggest Recognition Collective Bargaining; Against Strike Prevention.

By United Press.

New York, Dec. 30.—Comprehensive laws, rather than voluntary arbitration, will be necessary to "absolutely" protect the public against imposition from capital and labor, Judge E. H. Gary, head of the U. S. Steel corporation, declared here today.

Judge Gary plainly intimated that he was not in accord with the recommendations of President Wilson's Industrial Commission which has formulated a plan for the settlement of industrial disputes.

Judge Gary referred to the present labor troubles as disputes between labor union leaders and the managers of business. He declared that the public must have known that "labor unions have decreased production, added to costs and raised living expenses."

Labor Opposes Plan.

By United Press.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Speaking through President Campers of the American Federation of Labor, organized labor, within the next few days, is expected to submit to the president's Industrial Commission a list of proposed changes in the tentative plan that has been agreed upon for the settlement of disputes between capital and labor.

It is expected that labor will suggest a more specific recognition of the right of collective bargaining, the flat recognition of trade unions, and the elimination of anything that might be construed as a limiting the right to strike or compelling men to work against their will.

Organized labor will also recommend the establishing of governmental agencies to study methods of improving working conditions.

It's Dire Calamity At Courthouse When Vet Janitor Is Sick

By United Press.

When a mere county official like a court clerk, assessor, treasurer or what not gets sick there are few of the Grady county official family who give the matter much thought, but when the janitor is ill—that's vastly different, y'know.

Such a calamity has befallen the court house today. W. N. Shepard, veteran janitor, is sick and there is much bewailing the hard luck among the Grady officials. If they want fires built, it's up to them to build 'em and keep 'em up thereafter.

SAMPLE CENSUS BLANKS ARE TO BE MAILED OUT

County Superintendent Handling Job of Sending Out Schedules To Be Studied by Farmers Over Grady County.

OBJECT IS TO ACQUAINT PEOPLE WITH QUESTIONS

Not Only Number Persons Required, But Farmer Must Enumerate Stock, Fruit Trees, Cotton All Farm Products.

By United Press.

In order that the farmers of Grady county may be in a measure familiar with the statistics they are required to furnish to the government census enumerators when they start their job January 2, Mohan H. Shepard, county superintendent has secured quantities of sample schedules which he is mailing out.

Mr. Shepard's plan is to mail these schedules, which are identical with the sheets that the enumerators will be required to fill out, are being mailed to farmers, school boards and teachers throughout the county.

The blanks contain many questions that must be answered by the people throughout the county. Contrary to the belief of some that the idea of the census is to ascertain the number of persons in every town, county or city, the enumerators will be required also to gather information on many other subjects.

The farmer will be asked to answer questions as to the number of apple, peach, pear, plum, prune and cherry trees he has on his place. How many nut-bearing trees, the quantity of small fruit, such as strawberries, blackberries and the like he grows.

The farmer will be required to tell how much dried fruit and cider was produced by him in 1919. He will be required to give details as to the production of his land as to fruits. He will be required to tell whether or not he rents all or a part of the land that he tills. The government also wants to know how many years he has been a tenant. In the event he does not own his farm. If he pays rent, the government wants to know how much.

If he owns his own farm, the enumerators will be required to find out whether or not the land is clear of encumbrance, and if not, how much the purchasers owes on it. The total number of acres in his farm will be asked, also the number of acres in cultivation, how much improved, how much in woodland or other unimproved land.

The blanks have spaces for an expense account for the farm. The farmer will be asked how much he spent for hay, grain, and mill feed during the year. How much he spent for labor will also be required. He must tell the total value of his farm on January 1, 1920. It is also pointed out in the blanks that the information given the enumerators will be held as strictly confidential and will not be furnished to assessors or other officers.

The census enumerators must find out how many acres there were on each farm from which no crop was harvested last year because of crop failure, how much pasture the farm contains and how many acres of idle land there are.

Livestock To Be Counted. Not only does the census pertain to the number of persons in the country, the government wants to know how many horses, mules, cows, hogs, sheep, chickens, turkeys, ducks, geese, guineas and pigeons there are in the United States.

Not only that, but the yearlings must be recorded in one class with the two-year-olds and over in another. How many heifer calves has a farmer? How many bull calves? How many lambs? are some of the questions.

If a farmer sold any milk during the year, the census authorities want to know it. The number of pounds of butter fat sold in 1919 forms another question. The number of eggs sold, (chicken eggs only being included) must be known and the number of chickens raised must be told.

OPERATORS BUSY ON TESTS WHILE DAYS ARE WARM

Activity Increases Through Field; Foster Looks Like 200 Barrel Producer; Columbia No. 2 Spuds In.

1950 FOOT SAND MAY BE CONTINUATION CADDO

Elevation Considerably Higher at Foster; Bailey Resigns As Director of Triumph Account Bench Duties.

Foster Looking Good.

By United Press.

The operators in the Cement-City field are taking advantage of the stretch of "open weather" with the result that business is picking up at practically every rig throughout the field.

On the Cyril side, the Columbia Petroleum company, Davis farm, in the east half of the northeast of the northeast of section 1-5-10, after having completed its No. 1 as among the leading wells in the field, has spudded in its No. 2 and is down about 150 feet.

The Foster No. 2 in section 6-5-9 is proving up to expectations. Reports from the field state that the well looks like it will do 200 barrels around 1945 feet.

Some believe the sand at that depth is virtually the Caddo 1800 foot sand as there is considerable difference in the elevations of the Foster and Caddo No. 2, the Foster being considerably higher, making it necessary to drill deeper to reach the sand. It is pointed out that should this be the case, it is really better than if the Foster had located another or third sand as it would show that the 1800 foot Caddo sand is fairly uniform throughout that section of the field.

Höme Okla Repairing.

The derrick of the Homa Okla company near Cement, in section 5-5-9, has rebuilt the derrick that was burned to the ground on Christmas eve and will be ready to resume operations in a few days, it is believed.

The Gerton Trust has a derrick up in section 12-5-9, on the Wagner farm, offsetting that company's test on the Rigney farm.

The Cement Producers in section 10-5-9 is down around 2900 feet and is cementing the casing to drill in.

Triumph Holds Meeting. At the directors' meeting of the Triumph Oil and Development held here yesterday afternoon, Frank M. Bailey resigned as director and attorney of the company, giving as his reason the fact that he is on the supreme bench of the state. The resignation is effective at once. Judge Bailey, however, will retain his interest in the company.

Wm. H. Donahue also offered his resignation, effective January 15 as treasurer of the company. He leaves tomorrow for Kansas City where he will become associated with the Security National bank.

The directors of the company elected E. D. Foster, cashier of the Citizens National bank, as treasurer of the company.

It was decided at the meeting that work on the company's test in north Stephens county, in section 35-20-7w will be resumed as soon as a string of six inch casing can be placed on the ground. The standard front is ready and the process of drilling the well into what is believed to be a sand will be taken up soon.

At the meeting of the Sanders Oil and Gas company held here yesterday, Wm. H. Donahue resigned as treasurer on account of his move out of the state.
